NEW BOOKS OF 1929

So Say the Wise

Compiled by

HAZEL COOLEY and NORMAN L. CORWIN

Wisdom, high-powered wise-crackery, hard-boiled cynicism—gathered at the source of twentieth century thought from 700 authors, journalists, politicians, actresses, scientists—are juxtaposed in this diverting book.

War and women, love and life, sex and sin, are the present-day apples of discord which set the Olympian intellectuals quarreling delightfully among themselves. The age's humor, irony, satire, subtlety, vigor, leap from the pages; and once redoubtable conventions crumble before their onslaught.

Sampling the modern mind, thought-provoking and conducive to controversy, this collection serves both for reference and diversion, with subject matter galore and pages enough from which the reader may borrow an occasional opinion as well as enjoy much wit.

Anastasia Arrives

By ELEANOR G. R. YOUNG

Bright, breezy, appealing, a delightful negro character walks through the pages of this cleverly illustrated book stirring up old memories as she harks back to half forgotten days in her beloved "Virginny."

"Anastasia" is the unmistakable product of present-day efficiency, mellowed and softened by a loyal and devoted love for the "white folks" that "reared" her and the traditions that hung so intimately about her childhood.

If you are looking for laughter, tenderness and genuine entertainment, "Anastasia" is prepared to bring you all three in a book small enough to slip into your pocket and large enough to drive away your cares.

Cinderella Cargoes

By GEORGE ELLISTON

Here are poems that say something. No mere singing words for a song. No profundities for the sake of being abstruse. No clouds and stars and seas evoked for a summer day's diversion and just that. Here are verses that have so touched human hearts with their philosophies, or comfort, or because of wistful inquiry that letters from everywhere have poured into the woman who wrote them.

Out of a remarkable experience with life covering years of newspaper work, these poems are taken. Newspaper years that disclosed life at its worst, life at its best. Here is a strangely beautiful singing, that is deep with things thought, things felt—poignantly, javelin sharp. These poems are like etchings, a few sharp lines, in many instances, tell a book length story, give an emotion on which the world turns, a tribute, a rebuke, a hearing, in twelve lines.

Songs they are, lyrically lovely, but there is more than just lyricism here, these are poems to which the heart answers back. Poems you will carry around in your pocket because you want them with you. Here are poems you will be glad to know, that you will not forget.

Fifty Original Cryptogram Limericks

(Rhymes in Code)

First Series

By GEORGE W. WILSON

A happy, worthy substitute for the Crossword Puzzle. Edgar Allan Poe recommended cryptogram solutions as "giving tone to the most important powers of the mind"; but the purpose of this book is to give its readers fascinating entertainment and mental relaxation. Solution of these coded Limericks is neither too simple nor too complex. It's fun to decode them. It's fun to read them afterward.

Full instructions and a sample process of deciphering the limericks are found in each book. Everyone enjoys them. A Cryptogram Limerick party (a gift book for each guest and a decoding contest) is a novel way to entertain.

Heroes of Peace

By ETHEL CLERE CHAMBERLIN

Boys and girls adore heroes! They like to read about the conquerors who, spurred on by their enthusiasm and their cause have risen to great heights by their deeds. But they know very little of the lives of other heroes, the men and women who have conquered, not by the force of might or arms but by faith, courage, and perserverance: the men and women who have worked alone urged only by their own devotion to an idea. Ethel Clere Chamberlin tells us about a few of these unselfish men and women and she calls them the Heroes of Peace. She is in sympathy with her heroes and has the art of telling stories which together with the unusual collection of characters makes this book an outstanding one of the season.

The Wonderful World of Make-Believe

By MAUD WILCOX NIEDERMEYER

A delightful book for children from four to ten years old. They are given a peep into Fairyland through the eyes of Midge, whose bed once took wings—with the aid of a funny little Brownie—and flew out of the window.

There are stories of boys and girl just like you, all charmingly told with an eye for truth and honesty.

The illustrations are fascinating, for the artist has caught the spirit of the stories in a fashion that will make you chuckle.

Schermerhorn's Stories

1500 Anecdotes from Forty Years of After-Dinner Speaking

All have been applause-picked and laughter-tested by the compiler and classifier, the founder and former publisher of the Detroit Times, and America's foremost after-dinner favorite.

James Schermerhorn knows his anecdotes. For long he has regaled his readers and convulsed his hearers with them. He inclines to the Lincolnesque use of parables to illustrate a thought, point a moral and adorn a tale.

Just as much as Aesop's Fables and Poor Richard's Almanack, he feels these merry quips should live because their ministry of mirth is for all time.

Topical groupings make the stories instantly available for speakers and writers who would pass on the joy of them to others.

House of Happiness

By B. Y. WILLIAMS

FIRST COLLECTION IN BOOK FORM of poems by B. Y. Williams, well-known writer of verse for magazines and periodicals in America and Great Britain. Many of these poems have been made into songs, some have been used for pageants, some are favorites with public speakers, and all find their way to the heart of the reader.

This author's work has the unusual combination of singing beauty and popular appeal that entitles it to rank among the year's really successful books. One of those rare books of verse wherein one loves to read every poem for its pleasing technique and literary art, every word for its poignant picture and tender charm.

Sometimes startling in clear-cut delineations of life's situations as in "The China Tea Set," sometimes compelling in gentle humor as in "Bedtime Stories," sometimes vibrant with tenderness as in "I Know a Friendly Maple Tree," but carrying always the note of inspiration sounded by the title poem, "House of Happiness."

Every lover of poetry will enjoy and value this book.

Flutes of Childhood

By THOMAS EMMET MOORE

Emerson Venable, noted Shakespearean scholar, and author of the widely known critical anthology "Poets of Ohio" (which includes a biographical sketch of Thomas Emmet Moore, with selections from his verse), writes the following appraisal of the volume "Flutes of Childhood": " 'Lo, here a little volume but great book!' The poems in this collection not only sustain the reputation of their author as an accomplished lyricist, but establish his place in that beloved company of singers who, with voices ever young, chant the undying melodies of youth and childhood. Not since the passing of Eugene Field has there been breathed into song so tender a plea as is heard in these haunting flute-notes of Thomas Emmet Moore."

Lovers of children will rejoice in the reading of these poems, for the reason, above all, they possess that human quality that goes direct to the heart.

We feel the gladness of the little soul and with it something of the ache of the departed magic, which from us, who have known those marvelous days, has been transferred to the generation now playing at our feet. For all who fondly cling to the sweet visions of youth, these poems must ever point the glimmering road to childhood, white under the summer moon.

Twenty Different Adventures of

Cohen on the Telephone and other samples of Hebrew Humor

Written and Compiled by JOE HAYMAN

This book has been compiled for "laughing purposes only" and it must not be accepted as a serious literary effort.

The author is the originator of the "Cohen on the Telephone" series of gramaphone records. His "Are you dere" has been a catchword on this side ever since his records were first made and over one and a half million "Cohen" records have been sold in the United States alone.

His book is this year's best seller in London and although it was only published a few weeks ago, it already is in its fourth edition.

It Can Be Done

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS AND ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Selections from the best poems of Edgar A. Guest, Robert W. Service, Walt Mason, Sam Walter Foss, Rudyard Kipling, Edmund Vance Cooke, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Everard Jack Appleton, James Whitcomb Riley, Frank L. Stanton and others.

There is more optimism and inspiration crammed between the lids of this book then we have seen in print anywhere. If it is true that "a friend doubles our joys and halves our sorrows," this book should become a real friend. It is so intensely human that continued reading of it will make its pages more than paper and ink—its courage and faith and cheer will become a living part of the reader, and the world will be better, our friends happier, and we stronger because of our belief that what should be done can be done. Public speakers will find this volume well-nigh indispensable.—From The Lookout, January 1, 1922.

Facing Forward

Poems of Courage

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Mother Verse"

This book, having for its theme courage, is issued as a companion volume to "It Can Be Done," Poems of Inspiration. This compilation has been done with all the conspicuous merit that has made the former book the best selling collection of poetry since Palgrave's "Golden Treasury." Not a single poem is duplicated, but such popular authors of the former volume as Kipling, Wilcox, Guest, Mason, Foss, Appleton, Stanton, Riley and a host of others are again represented. Its binding and type are identical with the previous volume, and every person who has bought "It Can Be Done" will want this new book by the same compilers.

With such a theme as courage, the poets have indeed written well. That indomitable power that has carried mankind over all its trials and difficulties is here given noble expression; and with a reading of this book you will face forward with a faith that will overcome obstacles before you, that will brighten the darkness that sometimes gathers round you, that will help bring you the rewards of the man who marches valiantly onward.

Silver Linings

Poems of Hope and Cheer

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS and S. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Facing Forward," etc.

This book, having hope and cheer for its theme, is issued as a companion volume to "It Can Be Done" and "Facing Forward." The present compilation has been done with the same conspicuous merit as distinguished the two previous volumes. The compilers have studiously avoided the duplication of any material in these three volumes, although, as in the two previous books, poems from popular writers of the day—as Riley, Foss, Wilcox, Foley, Stanton, Braley, Kiser, Gillilan, Mason, and many others—are combined with selections from the older authors. The distinct feature of the former anthologies, the headings to the poems, has been retained. Biographical material is given about each author.

This collection of verse is permeated with a healthy and sensible optimism—that optimism which contributes so much to making the world a better place to live in. It is a book to pick up when days are unavoidably dark, when the spirit is trailing in the dust. The poets here represented have sung with a belief in the sunrise; and their sturdy notes of hope and cheer will ever be a tonic to the soul.

The Light of the World

Poems of Faith and Consolation

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS

and

ST. CLAIR ADAMS

READY
AUG., 1928

This book—the fourth in the series of which "It Can Be Done," "Facing Forward" and "Silver Linings," are the preceding volumes—is intended as a cap-sheaf for the set. The poems are at once higher and deeper than those in the previous books—higher in that they express the innate longing in the hearts of men for a rational and beneficent Deity, and deeper in that they plumb the mysteries of human life.

The poets have always been the world's true prophets. Here they have written of God as revealed in nature, as affirmed by the intimations of the divine in man, as holding forth the hope of immortality. In addition, many of the poems inculcate the Christian virtues of love and service.

While this book is frankly spiritual, it is in no wise sectarian nor denominational. Its purpose is to foster a satisfying faith in God and to bring consolation to those who have suffered, and abiding peace to those who have known life's deepest sorrows. To all these it would proclaim this message: I am the Way and the Light, and I am the Comforter.

The Book of Friendship Verse

Collected by Joseph Morris and St. Clair Adams

There are few words that kindle a more ready response than the word Friendship. As one well-known man has said, "The very page on which it is printed seems warmer and more cheerful." Such is the power of Friendship to transfer its lambent glow even to cold print.

This book aims to be a representative collection of the poems on this subject. There are selections from the old and honored names in English and American literature, but along side of these are verses by many popular, present-day writers. Along with Shakespeare and Tennyson the reader will find poems by Eugene Field, James Whitcomb Riley, and Edgar A. Guest.

Some of the best things written about Friendship is in prose. That is, it is prose in form, but in essence there is much poetry in the famous essays on the subject. The compilers feel that the book would be incomplete withtout some representation from the essays of Cicero, Montaigne, Thoreau, Emerson, and a few others. Accordingly some of this material has been added in the latter part of the book. At the very back of the book will be found the best quotations and sayings on Friendship.

The Book of Baby Verse

Collected by

Compilers of "It Can Be Done"

Van Dyck's world-famous picture "Baby Stuart" in original colors, serves as a frontispiece for the volume.

This book brings together the best poetry written about babies. Breadth of appeal has been attained by including verse ranging from the distinctly classical poems of William Blake to selections of such beloved modern writers as Riley, Field, Wilcox and Guest.

The book makes an ideal gift to the young mother. In its pages she will find the deep and beautiful things she feels about her baby, said as only the poets can say them. It gives poetic expression not only to the beauty, innocence, and spiritual meaning of a baby, but to its joys at playing peek-a-boo, its playthings, its attempts at utterance, its first step, that wonderful first tooth, all the little incidents in a baby's life that are watched and talked about by its parents.

The Book of Mother Verse

Collected by Joseph Morris & St. Clair Adams

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Friendship Verse."

This book brings together the best poetry written about mothers and motherhood—poems that express the love she evokes and the still greater love she bestows. Some of the pieces represent high literary excellence, but alongside these are many whose chief commendation is their long and sure appeal to the human heart. Among the many writers represented the reader will find such universally esteemed names as Riley, Field, Guest, Mason, Foss, Braley, Stanton, Appleton, Kipling, and Van Dyke.

This book makes an ideal gift to one's mother, for her birthday, for Christmas, or for Mother's Day. It will say for you as only the poets can the deep and tender feeling you have for your mother in remembrance for her love, her patience, and her sacrifices for you.

Mother's Baby Book

This book is something really different. The best poems about babyhood are brought between its covers—poems that give poetical expression to the beauty, innocence and spiritual meaning of a baby, as well as to such momentous events in its life as its first step, its first tooth, and all the little incidents of its opening personality. The poems have great breadth of appeal. Such classical writers as Blake, Wordsworth, Tennyson, Lowell and Swinburne, as well as such popular authors as Guest, Fields, Riley, Stanton and Dunbar are included.

In the front of the book are pages for keeping the baby's record—not the old stereotyped forms of most baby books, but pages on which to preserve a human record of the baby. All the cherished little details about the baby's life may here be set down—details which must otherwise be lost with the passage of time.

A Little Book of Friendship

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Here are assembled in convenient form the great prose writing on friendship by the outstanding authors on the subject: Cicero, Montaigne, Francis Bacon, Jeremy Taylor, Joseph Addison, Eustace Budgell, Samuel Johnson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, Hugh Black, and David Grayson. The selections are prefaced with full introductions which discuss and contrast the writer's views on friendship, and give the background for a literary appreciation of the essays. At the back of the book are extensive biographies of the writers, and there are eight full-page pictures of the leading essayists on the subject.

This book brings together material hitherto scattered in various volumes, and some of it, such as that by Taylor, Addison and Budgell not easily accessible.

One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics

COMPILED BY HARVEY HAMLYN, M.A.

In this volume has been brought together the "literary gold" on the subject of love. These poems which represent three centuries of the best English and American writers, treat every phase of the subject, from its light-hearted gayety to its soul-moving passion.

The manufacture of the book is in keeping with the high standard of its contents. It is bound in gray boards, and is printed on fine rag paper with deckle edges. The pages have unusually wide margins. Throughout, the aim has been to make the volume exquisitely delicate and beautiful.

This book is intended both for the general reader of cultured tastes and as a gift volume for "the lover and his lass." It would be difficult to imagine a more appropriate token of affection than "One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics."

The Riddle of the Irish

By J. CHARTRES MOLONY
Author of "A Book of South India"

In this book the author gives an impartial and suggestive account of Irish life, history, politics and religion. He neither threatens the reader with the shillelah of the frenzied southerner, nor wearies him by beating the big drum of the northerner. Irishmen of every opinion and creed should read this book —it will give them something to denounce. The average person will find in it the truth, lightened by humor.

In the Wake of the Wind Ships

By FREDERICK WILLIAM WALLACE

Author of "Blue Water," "Captain Salvation," "Wooden Ships and Iron Men," etc.

In this volume Frederick William Wallace continues and completes the fascinating history of maritime shipping so well begun in "Wooden Ships and Iron Men." Born of seafaring folk, raised in an atmosphere of ships and salt water, this Scotch-Canadian has acquired an expert's knowledge of what Old Ocean holds in its depths, as well as a varied acquaintance with the ways of craft and sailormen. He knows the merchantmen of sail and steam; he is a "Banksman" of practical experience who has endured the hazards of the life; he has designed fishing vessels and commanded them, in addition to heading expeditions for the working of far-off fishing grounds.

The Harvey Hamlyn Books

In "The Harvey Hamlyn Books" we offer to the public a series of little volumes, attractive in appearance and size, diversified in titles, and unusually interesting in contents. Each volume is made up of both poetry and prose, and the selections vary in length from sentence quotations to poems of a page or more. Diversity is further attained by the inclusion of both standard and present-day writers. Another outstanding characteristic of this series is the absolute avoidance of any duplication of material in the different volumes.

To My Pal

Poor indeed is the man or woman, boy or girl, who has not a real pal—another self—with whom to share the joys and intimacies of life. For those who are chums and have chums, this volume gives expression to their deep and enduring friendship. It says what all would say if they could speak with the voice of master writers.

The Joys of Fellowship

Compiled by HARVEY HAMLYN

The spirit of good fellows gathered together is expressed in "The Joys of Fellowship." We may do many things alone—many great things—but when we want to have a good time we instinctively seek the association of companions. This may be on a quiet tramp into the country, or around a campfire in the woods where the souls of men revert to their pristine simplicity, or in the cozy corner of a club midst the fragrance of good cigars. The book is infused with the spirit of conviviality, for it is always fair weather when good fellows are together.

Love Conquers All

Compiled by HARVEY HAMLYN

"Amor vincit omnia" were the words on the brooch worn by Chaucer's dainty Prioress: "Love conquers all." Indeed, love does conquer all, but it is such a delightful master that millions are willing to be its "slaves." Love is as old as the world, and as new as the kiss stolen last night along lover's lane—it is the center of all things human. As an expression of sincere love between men and women, this volume makes an ideal gift.

A Cocktail Continentale

By Bruce Reynolds

Here is a book of travel with the narrative so pronounced and interesting that the volume almost might be classed as a novel. Certainly it can be read with more enjoyment than most novels.

"A Cocktail Continentale" is side-splitting in its humor. Reynolds enjoys fun of every description; he never misses the grotesque in every situation; and yet through it all is the sanest of good sense and good taste. In a word: here is a travel book in jazz time for clever, "modern" people who want to know more about Europe than Aunt Prudence Heckleberry would tell them.

The author "did" Europe in a way that has never been written of before. He saw all the usual sights, and then he saw all the unusual ones. He peeped behind the scenes of all the "live" places in Europe, and with honesty and candor he tells what is there. It is an hilarious account of one who "went the pace" night and day. Europe has nothing too good or too bad to interest Reynolds. He did more things per minute than it is almost possible to believe. He visited twenty countries; he traveled by every means of conveyance, including the airplane; he lived hard enough to put most men in a sanitarium for the rest of their lives. And he tells it all with a staccato, dynamic style that reads like a whirlwind.

The book has a jacket in four colors, and is illustrated with many black-line drawings.

Paris With the Lid Lifted

By BRUCE REYNOLDS
Author of "A Cocktail Continentale"

THE REAL PARIS—

Paris, France.
Not Paris, America.
Paris Pipin' Hot.

The peppy, purplish, palpitating Paris that all true joy-seekers yearn to see. There is

NONE OF THE "HIGH BROW" IN THIS BOOK

What this book tells you is, "How to Have a Good Time" in Paris, and not only How, but Where and When, and all you need is Money and Alibis. (Alibis for the wife, if you couldn't leave her at home.) The money you must scrape together, yourself, but on a certain page herein, you will find a list of 10 Alibis that have been tried and tested, and are guaranteed to work.

This, a book for that congenial, convivial, liberal-minded, liberal-pursed person, who believes that pleasures were made to grasp and not to reject; who knows how to take hold of a good time and wring it dry; and who doesn't quibble over pennies.

In short, who comes to Paris to enjoy Paris; to play in Paris; to love Paris.

In here you will see Paris, as Paris is. We pull back the curtain, call a Spade a Spade. What is written here, is Truth.

If you are one of us—come along.

If we understand each other and you want to go to Paris and Play, and just live life at its peak, and see everything and do everything, and you have the liberal mind to take it as it is—and the money to buy it, and if you want Paris, inside-out, "Paris—with the Lid Lifted"—you are now going to get it. But this trip is not for Goody-goods, or crepe-hangers, or hard-shells, or nose-tossers. We must all be great friends and all enter into the spirit of the party, with a snap. There will be no place for slow-movers. Now—off we go to take a fast, furious, fun-packed Joy Ride through Paris.

'Round Home—(Verse)

Charles S. Kinnison

Home life—its love, its pathos and its humor, are pictured in these verses. The tender charms of little folks; the sweetness of Man and Wife relations; rich recollections of childhood, from bare-foot fun and school days, to the joys of youth and first love; then—home and the babies, the bills, friends at the fireside; a complete picture of home and home life by a man, of whom Edgar De Witt Jones says: "Charles S. Kinnison has something of the whimsicality of Eugene Field, the tenderness of a Riley, and the home-spun philosophy of a Sam Walter Foss. Yet, withal Kinnison is himself, possessing a gift, all his own."

Gems from the Classics

SELECTED BY ALBERT E. PADDEN

It would be a mistake to think of this book as a mere collection of quotations. True, it is made up of "gems" from many great minds, but these selections are unified into a composite whole by their underlying moral and spiritual value.

They were gathered much like bees gather honey, a little here, and a little there. They were picked from the flower of best thought and contain only that which is good. Emersons says. "A certain awkwardness marks the use of borrowing thoughts, but as soon as we have learned what to do with them, they become our own." We shall do well if we ponder these thoughts daily, and make them our own. They, indeed, express such a noble philosophy of life that we should do more than know them. We should live them.

Tad Lincoln

BY WAYNE WHIPPLE

The author, during a score of years of intimate acquaintance with the life of Abraham Lincoln, writing, school histories and moving pictures, has made the best of his opportunities. The account of the boyish vengeance visited by Tad upon Stanton, the great War Secretary, is described by the young White House guard (afterwards a Cleveland physician) who took part in that adventure. The story of Tad's devotion of the young girl in Germany who afterwards married the Czar of All the Russias was related by the brother of the American dentist's daughter whom Tad preferred. Even the Hon. Robert Todd Lincoln, Tad's older brother, had never heard of these escapades and experiences.

Red Letter Days in Europe

With a Glimpse of Northern Africa

By VIKTOR FLAMBEAU

This book is based upon the experiences and observations of the author's six visits to Europe. Having letters of introduction from foreign embassies and legations in Washington, he met unusual people and received courtesies not often accorded American travelers.

In this book the reader travels with him on these journeys, and learns of the most worthwhile sights of present-day Europe and Northern Africa. He witnesses a Spanish bullfight, sees King Manuel's deserted palace near Lisbon, and camps out under the stars on the Desert of Sahara at Biskra.

Besides the pleasure of travel, Viktor Flambeau does not overlook its educational advantages. Especially timely are his observations on how the countries of Central Europe are meeting their after-war problems.

Here is a book for those who would have a bird's-eye view of Europe. Not only is the writer an experienced traveler, but he is the author of a treatise on art, "The Study and Enjoyment of Pictures," as well as a lecturer and teacher of note. For several years he has been the editor of the art department of a Washington newspaper, besides being one of the well-known art critics of that city.

Glorious Day

By S. E. Kiser

The key-note in this collection of poems is inspirational. A determination to press onward bravely and cheerfully in spite of all hindrances is to be discovered almost wherever the book may be opened. Here and there is a touch of sentiment, and now and then there is a selection that is couched in what usually is called the Lighter Vein, but in most of the poems a hopeful acceptance of the opportunities that come with each Glorious Day, and a dauntless intention to be guided by the spirit of good sportsmanship in every effort that circumstances impose will quickly be observed.

There is no sniveling in courage, and no bitterness in bravery. You will not find in these poems of courage and inspirational devotion to the advancement of good-fellowship any cynical wailing against the manner in which the Universe has been created or is being managed. There are wrongs that can be righted, there are in the world many imperfections that may be mended, and these facts are neither ignored nor passed over too lightly here, but the message the poems in this volume are intended to convey is a message of friendly, cheerful, helpfulness.

"A Character Building Psychology"

Practical Psychology

By BURT B. FARNSWORTH

International Y. M. C. A. College, Springfield, Mass.

Professor Farnsworth is one of the best known lecturers on psychological subjects in the United States. The present book is based upon a course of psychology he has taught for a number of years. The author is interested primarily in the applications of psychology; he avoids much of the useless theoretical discussion; he writes in clear, simple language. The book presupposes no previous knowledge of psychology on the part of the reader. It is an introductory text. It explains to the reader the working of his own mind; it helps him to improve his thinking and his work; it makes it possible for him to understand others and get along well with them.

Practical Psychology is adaptable for individual reading and for class use. The book was originally, privately printed for the author's own classes. In this new edition several chapters have been added, and at the end of the volume are questions on each chapter bringing out its salient points. The book is now supplied with a full index.

It was of Professor Farnsworth's text that Edward W. Bok wrote:

"I think that Mr. Farnsworth in his 'Practical Psychology' helps us on the road to a better understanding of ourselves and other men, and, what is so important, he tells us what he has found out and experienced in a way that all can understand. His 'Practical Psychology' is, essentially, a book for the people at large to reach a clearer understanding of themselves. I like particularly, the stress which Mr. Farnsworth lays on the importance of thoroughness before speed, and accuracy before skill. Here he puts his finger on what is, if there is such a thing, the secret of success."

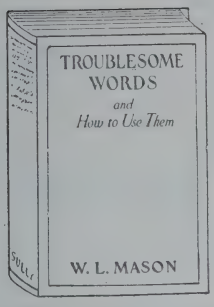
Troublesome Words

AND HOW TO USE THEM



By W. L. Mason

This is a popular handbook for people of all ages and classes containing words which are commonly found troublesome or perplexing as to spelling, accent, syllabication, pronunciation, or use.

It is intended as a handy reference book for the busy man or woman; as a desk companion for the stenographer; as an aid to the teacher in and out of the class room; as an indispensable adjunct for any one who writes.

The words are arranged in forty groups, bringing out clearly the peculiarity of all the words in every group, presenting the word first in its ordinary form, then showing it properly syllabized and accented, followed by a clear and concise definition, accompanied by a sentence illustrating its correct use, and with all of this, a note pointing out the perplexing part of the word, and showing how to overcome it.

The distinguishing feature of this book, which causes it to differ from all other similar works, is that it not only designates the "catch" in every troublesome word, but shows the user of the book how to avoid the difficulty, and to remember always to spell the word correctly.

At the end of the book a complete index gives every word in alphabetical order, with the pages and group where it can be found.

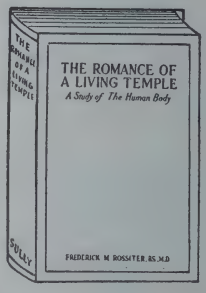
The Romance of a Living Temple

A STUDY OF THE HUMAN BODY

By Frederick M. Rossiter, B.S., MD., I.R.C.P., Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng.



This volume is really an innovation in books of physiology. By considering the body as the temple in which we live, Dr. Rossiter has brought forth its beauty and its nobility. No one can read this book without a feeling of the sanctity of his own body; and he will realize as never before its startling marvelousness.

The organs of the body are explained from a new viewpoint; their care and healthful preservation are urged; and with extraordinary force the effect of our thoughts and actions in the building of our characters is emphasized.

This book will serve admirably as a supplementary reader in all school courses in physiology; libraries will find it a most valuable addition to their children's rooms; churches and Sunday schools will especially desire this book because of its insistence upon the human body as the masterpiece of the Great Architect; and the general reader will find here an account written by an eminent physician, told with none of the dryness and pedantry of the old books on physiology.

Your Face Is Your Fortune

By DEAN BRYDEN

A short-cut to character reading. As simple as A. B. C., and as fascinating as black magic! One just reads the questions, classifies the features and turns to the answer in the back of the book. Nothing to study! Nothing to memorize! Nothing to get wrong! As a party stunt it can't fail until human beings cease to be human.

As a book to give a friend starting on a journey, it can scarcely be surpassed. For how can one be bored while one holds in one's hand the key to the character of every interesting stranger one meets?

The First Principles of Astrology

By WILBER GASTON

This book offers a clear and broad interpretation of the subject of Astrology, and explains how the principles of this ancient science may be applied to present-day life and modern affairs.

The person who knows little or nothing about Astrology will learn, through this book, just what astrology really means; and its conveniently divided chapters will enable the reader to cast an accurate Horoscope without the necessity of mathematical calculations. Every part of the book is interesting and easily understood; and each chapter is complete in itself. While this volume is intended primarily for the beginner, even advanced students will obtain from it a fresh viewpoint upon the vital points of the subject.

"The First Principles of Astrology" gives more than a general summary of characteristics; it furnishes specific and detailed information, based entirely upon the date of birth. Fun With Cards

Solitaires, Tricks and Fortunes

By DEAN BRYDEN,

Author of "Palmistry for Pleasure"

Just the sort of book to give a friend starting on a journey or to give an invalid or to keep on hand for one's own amusement. Fun with Cards tells how to play thirty games of solitaire—how to perform card tricks—and how to tell fortunes with cards.

The solitaire games range from the very simplest to the most complicated so that everyone from the seven-year old child to the mathematical "shark" can be sure of finding several congenial varieties. In addition to complete directions for thirty games there are helpful suggestions for winning. And in the case of the more difficult forms of solitaire, the whole game is played out move, by move.

The second section consists of mystifying card tricks which are never-the-less very simple when you know how.

Some of the methods of fortune telling are old favorites while others are now being published for the first time.

Throughout the book are plentiful diagrams and all the explanations have been made so simple that they detract nothing from your pleasure in using the book.

Palmistry For Pleasure

By Dean Bryden

This handbook on palmistry gives a simple and logical treatment of the subject. The fundamentals are adequately explained, but confusing and unimportant details are excluded. From this simplicity even the casual reader can gain an amazing grasp of the subject. From the logical arrangement of the material the inter-relation of all the principles is readily understood. In this book is none of the helter-skelter hodgepodge of the usual treatises on the subject.

There are ten careful diagrams of hands and lines, and actual photographs of a man's and woman's hands. In the two chapters which are devoted to "Reading" these two typical hands, the author places in parentheses the palmistry signs which indicate the traits as he ascribes them to the hands. Another unusual feature of this handbook is a section devoted to applying palmistry to human problems, such as mating and the training of children.

A knowledge of palmistry is an excellent social asset. At any gathering, the person who can read palms skilfully and entertainly becomes the center of an admiring and wondering group. This book offers to anyone who will study it but slightly the opportunity of being "the fun of the party." To those who wish to take palmistry more seriously, it offers sound and established principles of hand-reading.

The Science of Numerology

What Numbers Mean to You

By WALTER GIBSON

This volume is issued in response to a demand for an authoritative book on one of the most interesting subjects of the day. The science of numbers is as old as mankind, and the relation of numbers to the lives of men has been a matter of investigation since the days of the Greek philosophers, centuries before Christ. It is only recently, however, that this absorbing science has again been applied the affairs of men.

While this book is authoritative and adequately complete in its treatment of numerology, it is simple and easily understood. The material is logically arranged. First the numbers and their meanings are taken up, and then the laws by which they are applied to the individual are explained. Several typical "readings" are given, and one chapter is devoted to an amazing account of the relation of numbers to the lives of many great men. A table of the combinations of numbers governing outstanding human characteristics is given, and the best numbers for many professions and occupations are listed.

Numerology, as explained in this book, is immediately applicable; after half an hour's study the reader can begin his fascinating work with numbers. Not only is it the easiest of the so-called occult sciences to learn, but it is the most adaptable to social gatherings. Any person with a reasonable knowledge of the subject will readily become the center of an interested group.

This book, like all of Mr. Fowler's works, is intensely practical. He deals with facts and information, not with theories. He analyzes every form of speech or address, from the oration of the great statesmen to the everyday "remarks" of after-dinner speakers and others who address the public formally or informally. He gets down to the very bottom of speechmaking, and gives information which has not been printed in any book, and which can not be obtained in any other way.

Each inquirer must determine for himself in how far he may trust the oracle that he has consulted. Some of the material is new and is not to be found in modern books of this nature. Most of the tables have been gleaned from very old authorities.

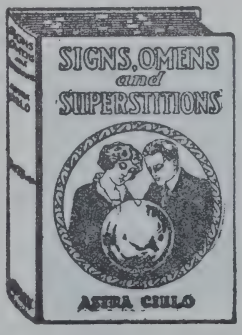
Signs, Omens and Superstitions



By ASTRA CIELO, author of "Fortune and Dreams."

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

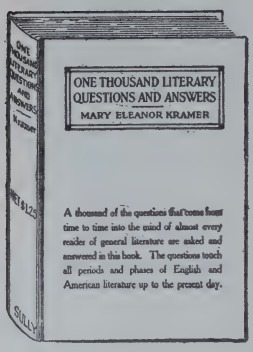
There are few persons no matter how rational or level headed who are not given to superstition in some form. With some there is a deep-seated belief that evil will result from an infraction of a rule. With others an amused idea that if a ceremony does no good it can do no harm, and so to be on the safe side they carry out some Mummery.

It is the object of this book to review the subject of superstition without prejudice or condemnation, but to present the data and explain their origin wherever possible, leaving it to the reader to reject such beliefs as seem absurd and irreconcilable with modern culture.



One Thousand Literary Questions and Answers

By Mary E. Kramer

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

Revised edition, containing an additional index by title which enables one to find any quotation if the author's name is not known.

A thousand of the questions that come from time to time into the mind of almost every reader of general literature are asked and answered in this book. The questions are stated as briefly as they arise in conversation,—now a detached name of some character or book or author, again a line of poetry or the first words of some saying that has clung to memory quite unassociated with a name. The questions touch all periods and phases of English and American literature up to the present day, and are such as may reasonably be asked of any intelligent reader.

"A worth while volume for the instruction of the general reader, full of data relating to literature of many sorts and answering some of those puzzling inquiries with which the 'Want to know, you know' puzzle newspaper people."—Detroit Free Press.

Homans' First Principles of Electricity

By J. E. Homans

12mo, cloth, fully illustrated . net, $1.00

As either a primer of electrical science, or as a handbook of fundamental principles that would be appreciated by an advanced worker, this little book is in a class by itself. The author starts with the assumption that the reader, although, perhaps, unlearned in the science of electrics, really desires the information that one would expect in a book with such a title. He undertakes, therefore, to treat of the principles of the science, from the ground up, passing in review all the matters necessary to constitute a fundamental knowledge of all forms of electric current, with singularly lucid explanations of obscure points.

Homans' Automobile Handbook

Like other books produced by its author, it is distinctly readable, and characterized by lucid and thorough explanations of matters unfamiliar to the average reader. Few books that have appeared of late are better calculated to inform, also to interest, while imparting information.

"A handy book for any owner who looks after his own machine."—New York World.

Umingmuk of the Barrens

By FRANCIS DICKIE

Here is a real discovery—a delightful book of animal stories that challenge comparison with the nature stories of Ernest Thompson Seton. Umingmuk was a young musk ox who saw his herd trapped into captivity and found himself alone in his freedom. He lived to fend for himself in thrilling adventure, and finally to make his way into a stranger herd. His story is full of Nature lore and the drama of the wild. There are others, mostly dogs; an Airedale who overcame his great fear of water; a black fox, reared by a man, an appealing mixture of wild and tame; an eskimo dog, torn between his instincts for the wild and the defense of man; a fox terrier who fought a rattlesnake gamely to a finish. These stories are the work of a real lover of animals, handled with an appeal that gets right home.

Biddy the Fugitive

By NATALIE JOAN

A mystery story of Irish Schoolgirl life.

The Stranger Star

By Allen Crafton

"The Stranger Star" belongs to that rare class of children's books that interest grown-ups as well as younger readers. The child will not have to "beg" its parents to read this story: the mother or father will be as engrossed in it as the child.

A most delightful and chatty old owl tells two children a story in which the whole sky is the playground. The stars and planets are the actors, and they are made such interesting and human creatures that they are as real as playmates. And wonderful things happen in the heavens —a little stranger star comes to the Moon-Mother's nursery, and after a long service of drudgery in making beds for all the stars when they retire during the day and shining up their clothes so they can twinkle at night, she gets a wonderful reward.

While enjoying a most interesting story, the reader becomes acquainted with the names of many of the stars; something of the great forces that revolve the heavens is portrayed; and incidentally the idea of service is inculcated without any offensive moral attached.

After reading the story, every child will vote Professor Owl, who taught mathematics to a myriad of little Star Children, one of the best story-tellers he ever heard about. This story is destined to take its place among the classics for children, and little ones enjoying it today will be reading it to their children a generation hence.

Tobytown

By Chandler A. Oakes

Formerly Assistant Pastor to the Late Rev. T. DeWitt Talmadge, Brooklyn Tabernacle

A story of an imaginary town, the population of which is composed of dogs, birds, and other animals Although the story does not deal with fairies, it is a fairy story in its atmosphere of wonder, the extravagances of its imaginations and the simplicity of its telling. The characters are interesting and their stories have the usual setting of the life of their species, in spite of the absurdly human twist given to them. In this mixture is the charm of the book.

What Is to Be the Future of Retailing?

JOHN B. GUERNSEY

Written expressly for Dry Goods Economist by a trained executive in department store work, former manager of the Controllers' Congress, now vice-president of one of the largest stores on the Coast.

Never in the history of the profession has any authority, qualified to speak as he pleases, come forth with such frank and candid criticism (and approval) of the methods employed by leading institutions, chain stores, and combinations, with helpful analysis of every modern-day tool of merchandising and judgment of what merchants must do to keep ahead of the times.

The author gives in this 1929 view of conditions his conclusions based upon keen appraisal of the facts. Thousands have watched Guernsey dissect the merchandising business weekly in the Economist, and are ordering their copies.

This book will be ready on or about September 1. We are receiving advance orders for "Tomorrow" to be filled at the determined price.

THE COMMONWEALTH TEACHER-TRAINING STUDY. By W. W. CHARTERS and DOUGLAS WAPLES. 660 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.00

This is a work-book for all who are concerned with the organization and direction of courses for teachers. THE SCHOOL AND SOCIETY. By JOHN DEWEY. 164 pages, 12mo, cloth $1.25*

VISUAL EDUCATION: A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF MOTION PICTURES AND OTHER METHODS OF INSTRUCTION. Edited by FRANK N. FREEMAN. 392 pages, 8vo, cloth 3.50

Much is expected from the new methods of visual education. Educators are told that these will speed up education tenfold, making it fascinating, easy, and permanent, and that they will displace the teacher and the textbook. Visual Education tests these claims, and weighs the possibilities of the new methods.

STATISTICAL TABLES FOR STUDENTS IN EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY. (Revised edition.) By KARL J. HOLZINGER. 74 pages, 8vo, flexible 1.50

Most handbooks of calculating tables have been too elaborate to be of any great use to beginning students in educational or psychological statistics. This manual greatly simplifies calculation in averages. dispersion, correlation, and uses of a normal curve.

THE PRACTICE OF TEACHING IN THE SECONDARY SCHOOL. By HENRY C. MORRISON. 661 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.00

This book shows the way of escape from stereotypes in teaching. Indicating how to avoid the pitfalls of "lesson-teaching" and believing that education must be organized to teach directly the true learning products, Professor Morrison develops methods by which performance and the learning of lessons may be subordinated to mastery and the attainment of genuine adaptations in the pupil.

THE THEORY OF EDUCATION IN THE "REPUBLIC" OF PLATO. By R. L. NETTLESHIP. 144 pages, small 8vo, paper 50

This revised selection of readings has been made specifically to meet undergraduate needs. On disputed issues, articles written from different points of view give the student experience with the conflicts of psychology, and offer the instructor an opportunity to emphasize, by judicious selection, certain facts and theories.

EXPERIMENTS IN GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY. By NORMA V. SCHEIDEMANN 1.00

This is a "notebook manual" for use with any general psychology text. It gives the student an opportunity to observe in a systematic manner various phases of mental life that are commonly dealt with in first-year texts in psychology. There are concrete experiments illustrating higher mental processes as well as experiments for the sensations. The student devotes the greater part of his time to observing and interpreting his discoveries. He finds space provided in the notebook in which he can enter his data and record his conclusions.

THE DEMOCRATIC WAY OF LIFE. By T. V. SMITH. 211 pages, small 12mo, cloth $1.75*

"Here is a book worth reading—a book which in spirit, style and insight escapes the saccharine sentimentality, the unreality, the conscious or unconscious insincerity which I have grown to associate with most speaking and writing in praise of democracy."—NORMAN THOMAS, New Republic.

THE AMERICAN PHILOSOPHY OF EQUALITY. By T. V. SMITH. 339 pages, 12mo, cloth 3.00*

Equality, in its present vague status, has lost much of the meaning that the founders of this country attached to it. In his book, Mr. Smith has set out, in effect, to rescue from oblivion whatever truth the earlier doctrine contained. He has restated it in terms more applicable to the current situation.

THE MEASUREMENT OF ATTITUDES. By L. L. THURSTONE and E. J. CHAVE 1.00

LAWYERS AND LITIGANTS IN ANCIENT ATHENS. By ROBERT J. BONNER. 276 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50

Ever jealous of the expert, the Athenians tried to prevent the rise of a legal profession. But sycophants, speech-writers, and advocates plied their trade in spite of restrictions. With great understanding and appreciation Professor Bonner here records these early legal practices; and for the classicist there is available no clearer report of the Athenian judicial system or of Attic oratory.

THE BUSINESS LIFE OF ANCIENT ATHENS. By George Calhoun. 175 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

Many aspects of the life of the ancient Athenian have been made familiar, but we know very little of the busy docks and markets, of the financial districts where capital was mobilized and put to work. In short, for the first time the general reader may now learn the way in which business and finance were carried on in the fourth century B.C. Mr. Calhoun has chosen to emphasize the personal and ethical aspects of the subject rather than the technical processes or purely economic data.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE IN TACITUS. By Sister Winifred Mary Carmody. 185 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

In this book the author has directed her study toward two ends: to show to what extent the subjunctive had, by Tacitus' time, intruded into the sphere of the indicative; and to discover whether or not the evolution in Tacitus' modal syntax kept pace with the evolution in his style.

THE BHAGAVAD-GITA. Translated from the Sanskrit by ARTHUR W. RYDER. About 2.00*

Why do one's duty, in such a world as the present? How is it possible, in such a world, to see any profit or joy in duty done? India's answer conceived over 2,000 years ago, a beautiful and clear philosophy of disciplined, creative activity, sets the fundamental tone ringing throughout the Song of the Blessed One—Bhagavad-Gita. The translator has captured the poetic fire of the Sanskrit original in this English version which will inspire readers today.

THE PANCHATANTRA. Translated from the Sanskrit by ARTHUR W. RYDER. 470 pages, 12mo, cloth 4.00*

These five books, the Panchatantra, first gathered together in the Vale of Kashmir over two thousand years ago, are now presented adequately for the first time in English.

"Professor Ryder offers here a collection of witty and delightful stories, finely touched with ribald humor in some instances, and well seasoned by his own perfect comprehension of the minds of the men who originally wrote them."—Boston Evening Transcript.

GOLD'S GLOOM (Tales from the Panchatantra). Translated from the Sanskrit by ARTHUR W. RYDER. 151 pages, crown 8vo, paper boards 2.00*

Selected from the complete Panchatantra, these tales are the essence of the vast store of wit and wisdom that lies in this famous fable book of ancient India. Particular attention has been given the physical form of the book: hand-drawn labels, a striking cover paper, and a beautiful title-page all combine to make this a most attractive and inviting volume.

No. 5. MEDINET HABU, 1924–1928. By HAROLD H. NELSON and UVO HOELSCHER 1.00

Across the Nile from modern Luxor stands the temple of Medinet Habu, built by Ramses III about 1200 B.C. Covering its walls from one end of the building to the other are reliefs and inscriptions furnishing a vast body of largely unstudied sources. The story of how in 1924 the Oriental Institute, by means of a permanent expedition at Thebes, undertook to save these inscriptions, and of how it evolved entirely new methods of copying them with a minimum of human error, is told vividly by Professor Nelson, field director of the Luxor Epigraphic Expedition.

BEGINNING FRENCH. Training for Reading. By Helen M. Eddy Manual 1.35

NET

Work-Book $1.00

With the primary purpose of developing in the student a practical ability to read, this grammar is an important step forward in the teaching of high-school French. The grammatical principles and forms are introduced in connected reading, and they are taught inductively. There are ten preliminary lessons in pronunciation, with tests, and a review exercise in pronunciation in each grammar lesson. Of special importance are a Student's Work-Book which provides objective exercises, and a Teacher's Edition of the Work-Book which contains in addition directions, tests, and keys to the grammar.

SI NOUS LISIONS. By GRACE COCHRAN 1.35

This book consists of twenty-six reading selections graded in accordance with grammatical progress in the Eddy grammar and introducing a controlled vocabulary of 1,600–1,700 words. The nature of the material runs from "localized situations" told in a vocabulary of thirty words to very nearly the original of Clarétie's Pierrille. An unusual feature of the book is a marginal list of the new French words as they are introduced, each word being set up in the margin opposite the line where it first occurs.

LES DRÔLES AVENTURES DE RENARD. By LUIGI A. PASSARELLI and ANDRÉ PÉZARD 1.35

This spirited and entertaining reader for the Freshman student fills a real need by its adequacy for early use in the course. It forms excellent material to go with Miss Eddy's Beginning French.

Parallel with this, a solid foundation is laid for subsequent composition and conversation. The grammar is organized in units, some of which comprise two or even three lessons, many of which can be taught in a single period of fifty minutes.

Soviet Russia is the world's most daring adventure in political education; it is one of the most elaborate and deliberate experiments in civic training ever made in any state. All social activity is motivated by the teachings of Lenin; literature, art, cinema, radio, music, are made to serve the ends of political education. This account is authentic and considered. Mr. Harper gives a clear and significant picture of a superlative manipulation of the elements of political control.

GREAT BRITAIN. A Study of Civic Loyalty. By JOHN M. GAUS . . $3.00*

But the system exists, and in Great Britain Professor Gaus analyzes the complex, long-established influences of place, association, family, tradition whereby English citizens are made.

work turn to the classroom for guidance and here the greatest difficulty has been the lack of suitable teaching material. Miss Breckinridge is fairly a pioneer in preparing such material, and her book is a distinct step in developing methods of case-work teaching for schools of social work.

PUBLIC WELFARE ADMINISTRATION. SELECT DOCUMENTS. By SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. 786 pages, 8vo, cloth $4.50

With legal documents, reports of social agencies, and government reports as her tools Professor Breckinridge has traced the structural growth of a nation-wide provision for the relief and treatment of poverty, feeble-mindedness, and other forms of human distress. Chronologically her materials fall into three periods: before 1863, when the first board of state charities was created; between 1863 and 1917, when the first department of public welfare was established; and from 1917 to the present. This is a remarkable collection of source materials which will be of profound interest both to students of political and social science and to social workers.

PAGAN REGENERATION. By HAROLD R. WILLOUGHBY 3.00

Contrary to popular belief, serious minded Gentiles in the first century were keenly alive to moral problems, and people in general were interested in religion as perhaps never before in the history of mankind. The prevalent world-view of the period was pre-eminently religious, and a variety of cults, some of them antique survivals and some of them fresh developments, gave varied and concrete expression to the religious aspirations of Gentiles. This study is mainly descriptive of certain aspects of ancient religion rather than a study of problematic issues. While the author shows himself familiar with the questions raised by scholars, he has chosen to present a description of the data involved rather than a new solution of debatable issues.

THE LAW OF GRAVITATION IN RELATIVITY. By HORACE C. LEVINSON and ERNEST BLOOMFIELD ZEISLER. 114 pages, royal 8vo, cloth 3.50

This book deals with the central problem of Einstein's relativity theory, that of the law of gravitation. It deduces admissible laws of this nature from the postulates of the theory in a mathematically rigorous manner. The problem of deducing these laws from the given set of relativity postulates is amenable to a purely mathematical treatment, and is one of the most remarkable examples of this sort in modern physics.

THE ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELD. By MAX MASON and WARREN WEAVER 6.00

This book is an introduction to the mathematical field theory of electrodynamics, written in an attempt to keep clear the relation between the mathematical mechanism and the physical theory. The subject is dealt with in a critical spirit, and from a standpoint which is thoroughly in line with the most recent developments in physics.

NEW INSTRUMENTS OF PRECISION FROM THE RYERSON PHYSICAL LABORATORY. With 6 text figures. By ROBERT A. MILLIKAN. 8 pages, 4to, paper 25

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF CRYSTAL STRUCTURE (Bulletin No. 1 of the Crystalographic Laboratory of the University of Chicago). By JARED K. MORSE 3.00

This book is divided into two parts: Part I is a discussion of spherical atoms and cubic atoms. The author shows in detail how simple polyhedrons, extended from these cubic atoms, can be built up into various types of observed cubi and hexagonal lattices, and how the lattice constants are geometrically related to the atomic radii. The second part is a bibliography which covers the entire field of crystal structure and which touches upon the related fields of atomic dimensions and molecular structure.

NEW METHODS IN EXTERIOR BALLISTICS. By FOREST RAY MOULTON. 257 pages, small 8vo, cloth 4.00

Professor Moulton deals with the ballistics problems raised by the changes in artillery practice necessitated by barrage fire, counter-battery fire, long-range fire, and anti-aircraft fire. Finding classical methods inadequate for the solution of these new problems, he has attacked the subject anew as a scientific problem.

EDUCATION and PSYCHOLOGY

Higher Education

Problems of College Education.

Studies in Administration, Student Personnel, Curriculum, and Instruction.
Edited by EARL HUDELSON, Professor of Education, University of Minnesota. xvii+ 449 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $3.00.

The University of Minnesota has been a pioneer in the field of scientific research into the problems of higher education. This volume presents in part the results of researches and experiments of its staff together with contributions from other educational leaders. The papers were prepared originally for the Institute on the Problems of College Education held at the University of Minnesota in July, 1927. Class size, student mortality and survival, the measurement of student ability, the prediction of student scholarship, the orientation of the college student, college marks, are among the investigations reported on. Other problems ranging from the reorganization of higher education to mental hygiene and extra-curricular activities are dealt with by specialists in each field. Although of primary concern to college administrators and faculties, high school principals and deans, parents of prospective college students, and others charged with their guidance will find this volume of more interest and value than many prepared with their needs more directly in view.

Listed below are volumes containing the complete reports of studies that could only be outlined in Problems of College Education.

Class Size at the College Level.

By EARL HUDELSON, Professor of Education, University of Minnesota. xxii+ 298 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $3.00.

This volume is the final report of an investigation of the relationship of class size to effective teaching, carried on during the past four years by the University of Minnesota as a part of its program of educational research. The findings are of the highest significance in determining a college's budget, staff, building program, and classroom methods. Detailed reports are given of class-size experiments carried on in 104 classes, under 21 instructors, in 11 departments in four colleges of the University of Minnesota—the experiments involving 6,059 students, 4,205 in large classes and 1,854 in small. A study of the effect of class size upon student marks, studies of the relation of various methods of teaching to student achievement in classes of various sizes, a study of class size and cost of instruction, a critical review of previous investigations of class size at every educational level, and a technique for class-size experimentation are also among the topics covered by Professor Hudelson.

The Teaching of Science at the College Level.

Edited by E. M. FREEMAN, Dean of the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics, and Professor and Chief, Division of Plant Pathology and Botany. Three volumes. Octavo. Cloth. $2.00. Advance subscriptions for the three volumes, $5.00.

"A program of investigation having in mind the improvement of instruction in science at the University of Minnesota" was prepared under Dean Freeman's direction as a part of the University program of educational research. Three reports of projects carried out as parts of the science program are now ready or will be published shortly.

I. Problems of Science Teaching at the College Level, by A. W. Hurd, deals with studies made in the departments of Anatomy, Physiology, and Physics during the school years 1926-28. Evaluation of laboratory instruction, the grouping of students for laboratory work, factors determining achievement, phases of achievement, and techniques of experimentation in method are some of the problems considered. Ready.

II. Curricular Problems in Science at the College Level by Palmer O. Johnson is an account of studies made in the field of botany with particular attention directed to the value of elementary courses in botany as prerequisite to the more advanced courses in the College of Agriculture and Forestry. For fall publication.

III. Laboratory Instruction in the Field of Chemistry, by Victor H. Noll is a study of the effect of individual laboratory work and other factors upon achievement in beginning courses in General Inorganic Chemistry at the University of Minnesota. It reports the results of controlled experiments involving groups having various amounts of individual laboratory work; evaluations of oral quiz and recitation, and outside reading in chemistry as substitutes for individual laboratory work; studies of the effect of sex and interest factors upon achievement; and of the value of high school chemistry as a prerequisite to these courses in General Inorganic Chemistry. To be published in 1930.

Extra-Curricular Activities at the University of Minnesota.

By F. STUART CHAPIN, Professor of Sociology, University of Minnesota, and O. MYKING MEHUS, Professor of Education, Northwest Missouri State Teachers College. ix+ 140 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $2.00.

This comprehensive survey, conducted under Professor Chapin's direction, supplies factual data in a field in which opinion is strong and conflicting. The report is based on the replies of 4,637 students, 408 alumni, and 156 campus organizations.

Of exceptional interest are studies of special groups such as 379 "prominent" students, 112 honor students, 904 officers of campus organizations; of the relation between the intensity of extra-curricular activity and scholastic achievement; of the time actually spent in extra-curricular activity; of the "death rate" of campus organizations; and of the extent to which alumni carry over in community life the activities of their college years.

Evaluation of Interruptions in College Attendance.

Report of the University of Minnesota Survey Commission No. 11. 27 pages. 6 charts, 10 tables. Small quarto. Paper. $0.50.

This survey report is based on an analysis of the records of 4,244 students enrolled during the academic year 1926-27. The effect of an interval between high-school graduation and college entrance is discussed, as well as the effect of interruptions after the student has matriculated at college.

The Junior College.

By LEONARD V. KOOS, Ph.D., Professor of Secondary Education, University of Minnesota. Vol. I. xxxi+ 238 pages. 91 tables, 51 figures. Vol II. 682 pages. 231 tables, 100 figures, appendixes, index. Royal octavo. Paper. Two volumes. $5.00.

Professor Koos's comprehensive study of the junior college movement is the outcome of an investigation carried forward by the author under subventions from the Commonwealth Fund of New York City and from the University of Minnesota—an investigation which entailed personal visits to almost seventy junior colleges. "What has been essayed," writes Professor Koos, "is a comprehensive evaluation of the movement . . and a marking out of what seem, in view of the results of the investigation, appropriate lines of future development." The scope of this report is indicated by the titles of the several parts: The Scope and Aspirations of the Movement, The Educational Functions of the Junior College, The Forces of Reorganization in Higher Education, Overlapping in High School and College, Instituting the Junior College Plan.

"It is not often that we have presented to us so adequate a study in education as Professor Koos's The Junior College. The junior-college movement is one of those social phenomena which have a meaning and significance far beyond what a mere count of numbers affected would indicate. The value of the present study rests largely in the fact that the author recognizes this principle and devotes the major part of his two volumes to a convincing exposition of the forces which are at work." —Henry C. Morrison in the School Review.

"It is seldom that a student of education has so favorable an opportunity to secure through a comprehensive study a broad view of any institution during the period of its rise. Professor Koos has amply justified the choice of the Commonwealth Committee by the comprehensiveness and adequacy of his investigation and the clarity of his report." —Charles H. Judd in the Oberlin Alumni Magazine.

The University and the Commonwealth.

Addresses at the Inauguration of Lotus Delta Coffman, Ph.D., as Fifth President of the University of Minnesota May 13, 1921. 161 pages. Illustrated. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.50.

Addresses of the participants and delegates at the inaugural session and the educational conference and symposium which accompanied it make up the contents of the book. Contributors include President Emeritus William Watts Folwell, President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop, President Lotus Delta Coffman, and the Hon. Fred B. Snyder, President of the Board of Regents, all of the University of Minnesota; President Frank LeRond McVey, University of Kentucky; Dean James Earl Russell, Teachers College, Columbia University; President Henry Suzzallo, University of Washington; Mr. Vernon Kellogg, Secretary of the National Research Council; Dean James Edward Haggerty, Ohio State University; Dean Charles Phillips Emerson, Indiana University; Dean Charles Russ Richards, University of Illinois; Professor William Reynolds Vance, Yale University. Master's and Doctor's Theses in Education, University of Minnesota, 1912-1928.

Compiled by FRED ENGELHARDT, Professor of Educational Administration, and HENRY J. OTTO, Assistant in Educational Administration, University of Minnesota. 32 pages. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

This compilation presents in abstract form a record of the productive scholarship of graduate students of the College of Education of the University of Minnesota since the first advanced degree was granted in 1912. It should be of material assistance to graduate students in education who are seeking desirable projects for investigation.

Man in Nature and Society.

An Outline and Bibliography of an Orientation Course. 37 pages. Paper. $0.50.

This plan of reading has been worked out during a three-year period by the staff of the Orientation Course of the University of Minnesota. The material has been selected with the object of securing the best vehicle for arousing a spirit of inquiry and encouraging students to think for themselves and to work independently in the library and elsewhere. Adults interested in securing an organized and "humanized" survey of knowledge will find the suggested outline helpful in planning private reading.

The Public Schools

Studies in Public School Finance.

By FLETCHER H. SWIFT, Ph.D., Professor of Education, University of California, and others. Vol. I. The West: California and Colorado. $3.00. Vol. II. The East: Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey. $2.00. Vol. III. The Middle West: Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota, with a supplement on Alaska. $3.50. Vol. IV. The South: Arkansas, Oklahoma, Alabama, Tennessee. Royal octavo. Paper. 1,063 pages. 365 tables, 60 figures. Bibliographies. $2.50. Price complete in four volumes, $10.00.

That "in the last analysis a large proportion of the educational difficulties existing in the majority of our states today are financial and are due fundamentally to antiquated systems of school finance" is the contention of Professor Swift. President Coffman of the University of Minnesota writes in the Preface of this series of monographs: "It is becoming increasingly clear that a thorough analysis of the principles underlying the sources of revenue for the support of public education is imperative. There was and is no one in this country, so far as I know, better qualified to make such a study and analysis than the author of this monograph."

"The most important university contribution to the study of public school finance made in this country."—Springfield Republican.

Comparative Pupil Achievement in Rural, Town, and City Schools.

By M. J. VAN WAGENEN, Assistant Professor of Educational Psychology, University of Minnesota. 144 pages. 98 tables. Octavo. Paper. $1.50.

More than one hundred and fifty town and city school systems and over a thousand rural schools cooperated in this survey conducted for the Minnesota State Department of Education, thus insuring truly representative and valid results. The norms of attainment are stable and concrete enough to furnish a basis of comparison for other state school systems and for individual school systems within a state. In addition there are incorporated with the Minnesota results the attainments of school systems in widely separated parts of the country. The study will therefore be serviceable to any school system adopting this plan of achievement survey.

Survey Reports of Minnesota Schools.

By FRED ENGELHARDT, Professor of Educational Administration, University of Minnesota, and others. Minnesota Studies in Education Nos. 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17. For details and prices see pages 10 and 31.

These reports make available to other school systems intensive studies of type situations. A brief description of recent reports is given below.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of New Prague, Minnesota.

This study by Professor Engelhardt, based upon a school of 300, presents a comprehensive survey of problems peculiar to schools whose enrolments have shown recent decreases.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of Aurora, Minnesota.

An analytical study of the administration of a "model" school system of 1,000 enrolment in a most interesting educational section, Minnesota's iron range. Disbursement of the revenues of an unusually wealthy tax district to give maximum school efficiency is one of the special problems considered.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of Albert Lea, Minnesota.

A special study of conditions and problems of a school system of 1,800 enrolment in a rapidly growing school district of unusual size, one of the few in the state created by separate legislative charter.

Business Administration of the Public Schools of Ortonville, Minnesota.

The budget as an administrative control, studied in a school system of 475. The factor of large non-resident high school attendance is given consideration. The increasing complexity of the problems related to public school administration, the critical scrutiny of public service costs by the people, and the rapid development in the professional training of administrative and supervisory officers should make a case study of this kind a significant help to school authorities.

Building Program for the Public Schools of Austin, Minnesota.

It is a distinct advantage to a school district when plant needs can be projected and carefully planned for the future. This survey, made in a school system of 2,600, is a program adapted to local conditions to provide the greatest good for the greatest number, but will be found valuable in other similar situations.

The Supervisory Organization and the Instructional Program, Albert Lea, Minnesota.

This investigation of the instructional organization of the schools of Albert Lea, Minnesota, departs from the conventional practice in that its most important work began where similar researches end. The survey staff not only reviewed the instructional situation and made recommendations, but cooperated with the local staff in carrying them out. The results of the retest program provide ample evidence of what can be done through planning and cooperative effort.

Selecting Sites for School Buildings.

By FRED ENGELHARDT, Professor of Educational Administration; University of Minnesota; NEWTON H. HEGEL, Director of Administrative Research, and GEORGE F. WOM-

RATH, Business Superintendent, Minneapolis Public Schools. 20 pages, 9 maps and diagrams. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

The technique outlined in this study is the result of an extensive search for some absolute basis for selecting school building sites. Although evolved with a particular city (Minneapolis) in mind, the principles underlying the technique are applicable to any growing city. In Minneapolis, the results of the new procedure were the removal of school site selection from the field of politics, opinionated discussions, and the pressure of special local interests. The financial authorities of the city, after studying the proposed projects, on their own initiative advanced approximately one million dollars beyond the regular assignments for site purchase.

The Junior High School.

A Study of Instructional Results in a Typical City System. By J. ORIN POWERS, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, George Washington University. xii+ 125 pages. 91 tables, 16 figures, bibliography. Octavo. Paper. $1.75.

This study of one of the most significant movements in secondary education is based on an investigation of the Minneapolis public schools, conducted in cooperation with the officers and teachers of the system.

Professor Leonard V. Koos writes of it: "It is easily the most comprehensive and substantial task of evaluation of the new unit to find its way into print." It performs two major services: (1) in pointing toward "the thoroughgoing reorganization that must come to be general," and (2) in demonstrating "methods or approaches in appraisal—methods adaptable to other situations and to other special purposes of the junior high school."

Teaching Aids for the Asking.

Selected by HOMER J. SMITH, Associate Professor of Industrial Education, University of Minnesota. Second edition. 62 pages. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

This list of 500 informational booklets, job sheets, and wall charts, offered free or at small cost by manufacturing and sales organizations, will be of very great service and convenience to teachers of industrial subjects, general science, and geography.

Prof. Smith has selected these items, from the hundreds submitted, on the basis of their educational value. His list is classified and annotated and accompanied by the names and addresses of the firms furnishing the material. The subjects included are: Trees and Woods; General Woodwork and Carpentry; Wood Finishing and Interior Decoration; Structural Materials; Drawing, Plan-Reading, and Estimating; Plumbing, Heating, and Ventilation; Brickwork, Masonry, and Concrete; Electricity; Sheet Metal; Metals and Metal Working; Abrasives and Grinding; Lubrication; Automobile Work; Printing; Miscellaneous.

Scales for the Rating of Teaching Skill.

By Leo J. Brueckner, Professor of Elementary Education, University of Minnesota. Second edition. 31 pages. Octavo. $0.50.

The scales presented in this study form an objective, impersonal basis for the rating of teaching skill, and provide for a differentiation of techniques for evaluating the work in the different subjects of the curriculum, thus eliminating some of the variables that invalidate other rating methods. The scales will be found extremely useful to administrators, supervisors, and to teachers themselves.

Psychology

Minnesota Mechanical Ability Tests.

By Donald G. Paterson, Professor of Psychology, and Richard M. Elliott, Professor and Chairman, Department of Psychology, University of Minnesota, directors of the investigation; L. Dewey Anderson, chief investigator; Herbert A. Toops, statistical consultant; and Edna Heidbreder, editor of the report. About 500 pages of which approximately half are tables. Illustrations. Octavo. Cloth. Probable price, $5.00.

The Minnesota Mechanical Ability Tests are the product of four years of research investigation subsidized by grants from the Committee on Human Migrations of the National Research Council and conducted by the Department of Psychology at the University of Minnesota. The problems attacked were (1) the extent to which general mechanical ability may be said to exist and to be significant for successful adjustment and adaptation in our present social and economic organization; and (2) the effect of various specific factors in determining the several mechanical abilities and interests. These include heredity, early training, social and economic status, race, age, sex, and schooling, among others.

An account of the trials of existing tests, the elaboration and application of surviving tests, and the conclusions reached constitutes the body of the report. There is included in addition a mass of statistical data, which it is hoped will prove useful to other investigators in the field.

To be published in 1930.

Topics in Psychology.

Selected and arranged by M. E. Haggerty, Ph.D., Dean of the College of Education, University of Minnesota. About 80 pages. Octavo. Paper. Price, $1.00.

This manual of topics in psychology is derived from an examination of more than fifty different texts and contains 2,584 items. It is a research device adapted to many uses, among which the following are suggested: to make analyses of curricula and tests in psychology; to aid in determining prerequisites and in constructing bibliographies; to assist in making up examinations and in directing experimental investigation.

Child Welfare

The Young Child and His Parents. A Study of One Hundred Cases.

By JOSEPHINE C. FOSTER, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, and JOHN E. ANDERSON, Ph.D., Director, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 1. iv+ 190 pages. Octavo. Half-cloth. $1.50.

These brief case histories deal with the everyday behavior problems of normal children between the ages of two and six. Each history includes a brief characterization of the salient features of the case, a description of the home situation, a discussion of developmental history, a history of the adjustments of the child, and where possible, the treatment suggested and the later history of the case.

"A valuable contribution—should be most helpful to child-development teachers, leaders of child study groups, mothers, pediatrists, child psychologists, nurses, and other social workers. Very practical and simply written."—Child Health Bulletin.

The Kuhlman-Binet Tests for Children of Preschool Age. A Critical Study and Evaluation.

By FLORENCE L. GOODENOUGH, Ph.D., Research Assistant Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 2. xii+ 146. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.00.

Dr. Goodenough presents in this monograph the results of what is probably the most intensive study of any form of the Binet tests ever made, based upon the largest group of preschool age children ever reported. It will prove indispensable to all workers in the field of mental tests and of interest and value to psychologists, sociologists, and educators. An intelligence scale based on this study is in preparation and will be available in the near future.

The Measurement of Nervous Habits in Normal Children.

By WILLARD C. OLSON, Director of Research in Child Development, University of Michigan, formerly Assistant Professor of Educational Psychology, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 3. About 128 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.00.

Certain "nervous" habits, such as thumb sucking, nail biting, and others are among the common problems of child behavior. A study of their occurrence in some seven hundred normal children on the basis of an inventory is here reported. Intensive study is given to the relation of such habits to family history, habit formation, nutritional status, fatigue, imitation, age, and sex. The material should prove of interest to parents, physicians, psychologists, and teachers. One of the significant contributions is the development of a method of measurement which is applicable to any observable trait and which may, in the future, throw light upon many problems now difficult of solution.

The Language Development of the Preschool Child.

By DOROTHEA A. MCCARTHY, Research Fellow, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 4. About 200 pages. 19 plates. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.50.

In this monograph there is presented an extensive study of the development of language in young children. The study was made upon children between the ages of eighteen and fifty-four months, upon a cross section of the population as determined by occupational status. In this respect it represents the best controlled study available in literature. The analysis is based upon the length of response, the structure of the sentence, the use of parts of speech, and the function which language fulfills. For fall publication.

The Measurement of the Intelligence of Young Children by an Object Fitting Test.

By RUTH E. ATKINS, Ph.D. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 5. About 100 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.00.

This monograph contains a description of the standardization of the object fitting test together with a manual for its administration. The test which is completely non-language in character covers the mental age range from one to seven years. It is particularly suited for use with young normal children, with deaf children, and with children from foreign homes. It has been found to be reliable and to correlate highly with tests of the Binet type, with the age range for which it is adapted. Publication in January, 1930.

The Growth of the Human Nervous System.

By Richard E. Scammon, Professor of Anatomy, University of Minnesota, Halbert L. Dunn, Associate Professor of Biometry and Vital Statistics, School of Hygiene, Johns Hopkins University, and Marie M. Ness, Research Assistant. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 6. About 150 pages. 100 tables. 50 figures.

An illustrated account of the growth of the human brain and nervous system in prenatal life, infancy, childhood, and adolescence, based upon some 8,000 observations. Among the topics considered are the normal growth and variability of the brain in early life, the comparative growth of brain and body, the brain and the organs of the special senses, brain growth and stature, the developmental topography of the brain, and the geometry of brain growth. To be published in March, 1930.

The Growth of the Surface Area of the Human Body.

By Edith Boyd, Assistant Professor in charge of Infant Study, Institute of Child Welfare, and Richard E. Scammon, Professor of Anatomy, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 7. About 100 pages. 25 tables. 50 figures.

A comprehensive study of the surface area of the human body in prenatal life, infancy, childhood, and adolescence, based upon original measurements made in the Institute of Child Welfare and the Institute of Anatomy of the University of Minnesota, and a complete collation of the published records on this subject. It includes a consideration of the relation of the surface area of the body to its weight and stature, the growth of surface area with age, standard tables for the prediction of surface area, and a consideration of the relation of surface area to human metabolism. To be published in April, 1930.

The Sleep of Young Children.

By John E. Anderson, Director, Josephine C. Foster, Associate Professor and Principal, Nursery School, and Florence L. Goodenough, Research Assistant Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 8. About 125 pages.

The results of a study of the sleep of young children, based upon records kept by over a thousand mothers during one week in each season of the year, are described. In addition to norms or standards of sleep for children from birth to seven years, an analysis is made of the relation of naps to night sleep; of the effect of season upon sleep; of the relation of sleep to residence in country, town, or city; of the relation between the sleep habits of children and the education of the mother; and of various other factors affecting the sleep of young children. To be published in May, 1930.

Anger in Young Children.

By FLORENCE L. GOODENOUGH, Research Assistant Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 9. About 125 pages.

On the basis of a large series of observational records made by mothers, the factors underlying the causation, frequency, time of occurrence, modes of handling, and effectiveness of methods of control of anger outbursts in young children are studied. Because of the small amount of material readily accessible on the topic of anger, an extensive survey of the literature is presented. To be published in June, 1930.

Problem Tendencies in Children.

By WILLARD C. OLSON, Ph.D., Director of Research in Child Development, University of Michigan. About 96 pages. 12mo. Cloth. Probable price, $2.00.

This monograph describes the development of techniques for studying problems of children's behavior in quantitative terms and presents a statistical analysis of the results of their application in an investigation extending over a period of four years.

Child Care and Training.

By MARION L. FAEGRE, Assistant Professor of Parental Education, and JOHN E. ANDERSON, Director, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Revised edition. 12 mo. vi+ 274 pages. 20 illustrations. Cloth. $2.00.

The best that psychologists, pediatricians, and hygienists have to offer in the field of child study is made available to all mothers and fathers in this attractive volume.

"The value of this book is so great that we are departing from our usual custom and listing the titles of chapters in order to give in the briefest form the character of their contents: The Young Child; Physical Growth and Development of the Child; General Care, Including Diet and Clothing; Children's Diseases; Mental Growth of the Child; Learning; Emotional Habits; Eating Habits; Sleeping Habits; Eliminative and Other Early Habits; Constructive Discipline; Curiosity, Questioning, and Sex Education; Imagination, Truth, and Falsehood; Play; Books and Reading; The Family. We must add that at the end of each chapter are questions and special book lists for further study, and finally a complete bibliography including both textbook and pamphlet material." —Public Health Nurse.

Dr. Morris Fishbein writes of the book in Hygeia: "It is a sound presentation of the whole question of child training, based largely on modern conceptions of the subject and is extraordinarily rational. For this reason alone it may be recommended to every parent who wishes guidance in child training."

"A boon among the pseudo-scientific books that have flooded the book market."—Minneapolis Star.

"Very practical and useful."—Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.

"Invaluable for all who are studying or planning courses in this field."—Journal of Home Economics.

SCIENCE

Development and Growth of the External Dimensions of the Human Body in the Fetal Period.

By Richard E. Scammon, Ph.D., Professor of Anatomy, University of Minnesota, and Leroy A. Calkins, Ph.D., M.D., Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, University of Kansas. xxiv+ 365 pages. 180 tables, 73 figures, 70 graphs. Small quarto. Cloth. $10.00.

This fundamental study of the growth of the human body in prenatal life and of its proportions and dimensions at birth is based on 35,000 observations by two of the world's leading anatomists. It establishes a new principle of prenatal growth of practical importance to the medical sciences, especially to obstetrics and pediatrics, but of even greater significance in relation to the broader science of biology, including embryology and physical anthropology. The monograph is copiously illustrated and includes an extensive bibliography and a summary of previous studies on this subject.

The Measurement of Man.

Sigma Xi Lectures for 1928.

Four outstanding investigators in the field of biometrics bring the results of their researches to the intelligent layman in these papers: "The Measurement of Man in the Mass," by J. Arthur Harris, Head of the Department of Botany; "Normal and Abnormal Human Types," by Clarence M. Jackson, Head of the Department of Anatomy; "Mental Development in Relation to Physical Development and Types," by Donald G. Paterson, Professor of Psychology; and "Measurement of the Body in Childhood," by Richard E. Scammon, Professor of Anatomy, all of the University of Minnesota. The volume will be fully illustrated with diagrams, graphs, and photographs.

Trees and Shrubs of Minnesota.

By C. O. Rosendahl, Professor of Botany, and F. K. Butters, Associate Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota. viii+ 385 pages, of which 100 are line drawings and half-tones. Royal octavo. Cloth. $4.00.

The interested amateur as well as the teacher and the professional botanist will find his needs met in this forthcoming volume. It is the most complete account ever made of the trees and shrubs of Minnesota, both native and introduced. And it will serve almost equally well for the surrounding area from the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. An earlier publication of the University of Minnesota bearing this title (see page 37) went through several editions and is now out of print—evidencing the interest and value of the work. This has been revised with the greatest possible thoroughness. Professor Rosendahl and Professor Butters have completely rewritten the volume from herbarium specimens and studied the distribution of the trees of the state. Technical and popular descriptions are accompanied by profuse illustrations, both line drawings and half-tones, of the more important or difficult species, thus aiding in identification. Keys to the families, genera, and species, and notes on the value and uses of the plants are included.

Minnesota Studies in Plant Science.

Papers by members of the Plant Science Group of the University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Biological Sciences No. 6. 125 pages, 26 illustrations, 14 tables, bibliographies. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.00.

heterogeneity coefficient," by J. Arthur Harris, Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota; and "On the regression of soil properties and crop characters in associated plots of an experimental field," by J. Arthur Harris, I. L. Connors, Plant Pathologist, Dominion Experiment Farms, University of Manitoba, A. T. Elders, Manitoba Agricultural Station, University of Manitoba, and L. E. Kirk, Professor of Field Husbandry, University of Saskatchewan; "The course of pollen tube growth in the apple," by J. H. Beaumont, Assistant Professor of Horticulture, University of Minnesota; "A revision of the genus Sullivantia," by C. Nursing Procedures.

By MARION L. VANNIER, Director, School of Nursing, University of Minnesota, and BARBARA A. THOMPSON, Supervisor of Clinical Instruction, Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, Chicago. 245 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $2.50.

This manual of the procedures used in the courses in Elementary and Advanced Practical Nursing in the five hospitals associated in the University of Minnesota School of Nursing is a valuable addition to the small number of books on nursing technique now in print. These procedures have been tested over a period of several years in hospitals of various types and sizes. Alternative procedures are given in many cases. This manual has the unqualified endorsement of the Minnesota State Board of Examiners of Nurses and the Minnesota State League of Nursing Education. A valuable new feature of the manual is a scale for rating students' ward experience. Rating scale sheets may be obtained at $6.00 a thousand.

Prunes or Pancakes.

By ALFRED OWRE, D.M.D., M.D., C.M., B.A., Dean of the School of Dentistry, Columbia University. 124 pages. 16 mo. Heavy paper. $0.75.

Dean Owre writes in his introduction: "This book is not a scientific disquisition on diet. It is intended rather as a concrete and popular guide to the science of eating. I believe if there is any physical salvation for civilized man, it must lie in dietetic reform." "Of immense value."—Journal of the American Dental Association. "Invaluable book on dietetics."—Dominion Dental Journal.

Poets and Playwrights: Shakespeare and Jonson, Spenser and Milton.

By ELMER EDGAR STOLL, Professor of English, University of Minnesota. Octavo. Cloth. About 250 pages. $3.00.

Professor Stoll, author of Shakespeare Studies, and internationally famous as a scholar and critic, in this volume presents his maturest consideration of the art of the poets and playwrights of his title. Nine essays are included, all purely literary or esthetic enquiries and discussions, without technical considerations of date, source, influences, and the like. The titles are as follows: "Cleopatra," "Henry V," "Shakespeare and the Moderns," "The Old Drama and the New," "The Stage and the House, Then and Now," "Spenser," "Was Paradise Well Lost?" "Certain Fallacies and Irrelevancies in the Literary Scholarship of the Day," and "Milton, Puritan of the Seventeenth Century."

Thomas Chaucer.

By MARTIN B. RUUD, Ph.D., Professor of English, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in Language and Literature No. 9. vi+ 134 pages. Eight appendixes, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $1.50.

"Mr. Ruud has gathered together, and has printed or summarized, every bit of information which has survived about the career of Thomas Chaucer; and this information, derived in large part from unprinted documents in the Public Record Office, should prove of great interest to students of the social and governmental history of fifteenth-century England."—Robert K. Root, in Modern Language Notes.

Thomas Hardy from Serial to Novel.

A Comparative Study of Serial and Book Versions of The Mayor of Casterbridge, Tess of the D'Urbervilles, and Jude the Obscure.

By MARY ELLEN CHASE, PH.D., Associate Professor of English, Smith College. x+ 210 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.50.

No Hardy collection is complete without this study. Professor Joseph Warren Beach writes: "Any one interested in Hardy will be interested—if not positively excited—to learn what compromises this great artist was ready to make with the views of editors—editors indifferent to considerations of artistic integrity and solely concerned not to give offense in the family circle. When all the bearings of the matter are taken, it is seen to amount to something more than a study in Hardy's literary methods. It is highly illuminating with regard to the professional ethics of editors and the general attitude of even late-Victorian England towards a consistent view of the truth."

Cyrus Northrop. A Memoir.

By OSCAR W. FIRKINS, Professor of Comparative Literature, University of Minnesota. 635 pages, 6 illustrations. 7½ by 9¾. Cloth. $3.50.

Professor Firkins, the distinguished biographer of William Dean Howells and Ralph Waldo Emerson, was fittingly chosen by the Board of Regents to write this volume, commemorating the life of his friend, president of the University of Minnesota during a formative quarter of a century. "His outstanding success may be pointed out in the fact that he has caused a personality to live. . . . The biography is characterized by sympathy, humor, insight, and always by readability."—Yale Alumni Weekly. "A study of a remarkable personality, a review of fifty years of certain aspects of university education, and a narrative with some surprisingly poignant elements. It is the extraordinary honesty of the volume which gives it interest and excellence."—Allan Nevins in the Saturday Review of Literature.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Day of the Cattleman. A Study of the Northern Range, 1845-1890.

By ERNEST STAPLES OSGOOD, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of History, University of Minnesota. 283 pages. Maps, illustrations, and bibliography. Octavo. Cloth. $3.50.

The cowboy of fact and fiction is a stock character in the drama of American history. His employer, the "cattle king" of frontier legend, though a more substantial and important figure, is less well known to the American public. Yet it was the range cattleman whose enterprise first utilized the last American frontier, the High Plains, and developed there a new economic area. He also developed a body of range customs and rights, extra-legal and often illegal but with all the force of law because of the organizations backing them. To these organizations the author has given much attention and has used manuscript and other materials hitherto inaccessible or little used, for example, the large and important collection in the office of the Wyoming Stock Growers' Association at Cheyenne. The passing of the cattleman's frontier is also dealt with at length with extensive use of the reports of railroads, boards of trade, corporations, and associations, local newspapers, and other contemporary material. In this account of the economic and social origins of an important section of the Northwest, Professor Osgood has written a hitherto missing chapter in the making of America. And with an eye to the picturesque and the dramatic he has re-created a vanished era.

America in the Forties.

By OLE MUNCH RAEDER. Translated and edited for the Norwegian American Historical Association by Gunnar J. Malmin. About 256 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $2.50.

Between De Tocqueville and Bryce there were few more competently trained observers of American life than the writer of these letters now made available for the first time. Munch Raeder was a Norwegian scholar in the fields of law and politics and an experienced publicist. Sent by his government in 1847 to 1849 on a mission to study American legal institutions, he took the opportunity to write home to a Christiania newspaper a series of lively, well-informed, and sympathetic letters about America and about the working of the "melting pot" as he saw it changing the Norwegians of that day into Americans in the Middle West. American politics and social customs, slavery, westward expansion, transportation, Chicago with a budding reputation as a tough town, New York where hogs on the open streets had just been forbidden, are all subjects that attracted Munch Raeder's keen and friendly comment. Not without interest is the reaction of the United States to the European revolution of 1848 and Munch Raeder's own dream of a Pan Scandinavian Union.

Dr. Malmin has supplied an excellent translation and the necessary notes. Through the aid of descendants of Munch Raeder, he has added letters not published in the Christiania journal.

The Background of Swedish Emigration to the United States.

By JOHN LINDBERG, sometime Instructor in the University of Stockholm and Fellow of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial.

"An Economic and Sociological Study in the Dynamics of Migration" is the author's subtitle. "The expansion of Europe, the outpouring of her people into all parts of the barbarian world, is virtually a synonym for world history since 1715. Swedish emigration is only a small sector of this great and complex movement, but it has its own very real significance and, like most other phases of the European exodus, has yet to be fully documented, described, and interpreted." It is to the task of interpretation that the author of this monograph addresses himself. Publication in 1930.

The Foreign Policy of James G. Blaine.

By ALICE FELT TYLER, Ph.D., Instructor in History, University of Minnesota. 411 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $3.50.

"This is a straightforward, carefully organized, fully documented account of Blaine's influence upon our foreign relations during his two brief periods of service as Secretary of State. It brings together all sorts of scattered material, employs unpublished correspondence and papers from the archives of the State Department, and makes ample but not excessive use of quotations. The author's style is lucid and direct, her use of adjectives is cautious but not timid, and her effort at a sustained judicial attitude is admirably successful. The book is in no sense a eulogy nor is it an attack. It aims simply at historical truth as shown by the evidence, which, in these days of journalistic history and 'ironical' biography, is as refreshing as a cool breeze in July."—Theodore Clarke Smith in the American Historical Review.

Australasian Preferential Tariffs and Imperial Free Trade.

By CEPHAS D. ALLIN, late Professor of Political Science, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Social Sciences No. 19. vi+ 228 pages. Octavo. Paper. $2.00.

"A Chapter in the Fiscal Emancipation of the Colonies" is Professor Allin's explanatory subtitle of this monograph, the manuscript of which was completed only a few months before his death. With the monograph is included a biographical memoir and a list of his published work.

Three Wise Men of the East and Other Lectures.

By ARTHUR J. TODD, Professor of Sociology, Northwestern University. x+ 240 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.50.

Professor Todd's volume of informal lectures on present day social and industrial conditions in India, China, and Japan stands out from the mass of books on the Orient by virtue of the engaging qualities of his style, the extent, accuracy, and objectivity of his observations, and his sympathetic and discriminating interpretation of the facts. It has been enthusiastically received by American students of the Orient and by oriental leaders. The "three wise men" of the title lecture are Gandhi, Tagore, and Bose, considered as exemplifications of aspects of Indian civilization. "The Impact of Industry on the Orient" and "Educational Ferment in the East" are the other topics treated.

"Both fair and accurate."—Professor Radhakamal Mukerjee, Lucknow University, India.

"It is doubtful if there exists anywhere a more useful brief resumé of oriental industrialism."—Harold S. Quigley in the Minneapolis Tribune.

"I am surprised at the mass of information gathered and impressed with the sympathetic and correct interpretation of the facts."—Fong F. Sec, English Editor, Commercial Press, Shanghai, China.

"A mine of accurate information."—Ching Chao Wu in the American Journal of Sociology.

"I do not know of a better or more irenic survey."—Russell Henry Stafford, Old South Church, Boston.

"Professor Todd has set a splendid precedent for visitors who would like to use their travel experience in truly scientific and educational manner. His book is one of the best on the market for discussion use in churches, colleges, clubs, and like groups interested in a reliable text."—J. A. Jacobs in Religious Education.

The Parliamentary Diary of Robert Bowyer, 1606 and 1607.

Edited by DAVID HARRIS WILLSON, Ph.D., Instructor in History, University of Minnesota. About 260 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $4.00.

Robert Bowyer was a lawyer, minor office-holder, and secretary to Lord Treasurer Dorset during the last years of Elizabeth and the first years of James I. His diary for the parliamentary sessions of 1606 and 1607, which is to be found in the Harleian manuscripts in the British Museum, has not hitherto been published and has been very little used by students of seventeenth century history. It covers debates in the House of Commons on such topics as popular grievances, grants to the King, and the Union with Scotland, and contains very important material bearing on the growth of parliamentary procedure and on the beginnings of the conflicts which led to the Civil War. For publication in 1930.

The Pulpit and Modern Scholarship.

Addresses delivered at the Minnesota Religious Workers' Conference, 1928. 185 pages. Octavo. Paper. $1.00.

To bring to the religious workers of the state the most recent achievements of scholars in many fields was the purpose of this conference, held under the auspices of the Minnesota Association of College Presidents. Both the natural sciences and the social sciences are included in the symposium. A valuable feature of the printed report are the book lists at the close of many of the papers and "A Preacher's Library to be Had for the Asking," a twelve-page list of pamphlet material that can be obtained at nominal cost from governmental and other organizations.

Minnesota Freight Rate Structure.

By WAYNE E. BUTTERBAUGH, Professorial Lecturer, School of Business Administration, University of Minnesota. 40 pages. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

This explanation of the railroad freight rate structures of the Central Northwest Region of the United States is designed for the particular assistance of the smaller business concerns of the region. Their success and development is frequently dependent upon the freight rates charged on their products. The reasonableness and justice of such rates can only be analyzed, attacked, and satisfactorily readjusted and maintained by having a clear understanding of the principles and structures used in their making.

The Marketing of Farm Products. Studies in the Organization of the Twin Cities Market.

Edited by H. BRUCE PRICE, Ph.D., Professor of Agricultural Economics, University of Minnesota. x+ 435 pages. Crown octavo. Cloth. $3.50.

Fourteen specialists, including Professor John D. Black of Harvard University, and Dr. Holbrook Working, economist of the Stanford University Food Research Institute cooperated in these studies under the editorship of Professor H. Bruce Price.

"The editor has used rare judgment in his selection and arrangement of material, for the collection of separate articles blends into a harmonious picture. The book is a real contribution, not alone because of the material it contains, but particularly because it points a new and valuable method of approach to the study of marketing. We heartily endorse it by adopting it for textbook use in the School of Business Administration."—Roland S. Vaile, Professor of Marketing, University of Minnesota.

Attitudes of Mothers Toward Sex Education.

By HELEN L. WITMER, Ph.D., Executive Secretary, Joint Committee on Research in Social Hygiene, University of Minnesota. 112 pages. Octavo. Paper, $1.00.

Given—an organization, part of whose program it is to instruct mothers in how to give their children a proper sex education. To find—to what extent it accomplishes this part of its program. This is a paraphrase of Dr. Witmer's statement of the fundamental problem of the research study to which this monograph is devoted. Other phases of the program of research will be dealt with in later reports. The Women's Cooperative Alliance of Minneapolis is an organization which has attracted national interest because of the unique method it has devised for parental education in social hygiene. To study and evaluate this method, a fund was given to the University of Minnesota by the Bureau of Social Hygiene of New York and its administration placed in the hands of a joint committee of the University and the Alliance under the chairmanship of Professor F. Stuart Chapin, Chairman of the Department of Sociology and Director of the Training Course for Social and Civic Work of the University of Minnesota. Professor Chapin writes in the Introduction: "In publishing this report the Committee feels that it is presenting a first preliminary study of considerable interest to the social hygiene movement and at the same time is making available to social workers in general an account of one method of research which may have wide application in evaluating the work of similar educational and social agencies."

A System of Classification for Political Science Collections.

By WILLIAM ANDERSON, Director of the Bureau for Research in Government, and SOPHIA HALL GLIDDEN, sometime Librarian of the Municipal Reference Bureau, University of Minnesota. 188 pages. Octavo. Paper. $2.50.

This system of classification, which has stood the test of six years' use at the University of Minnesota, was worked out with special reference to the needs of municipal and governmental research libraries. It is intended to be broad enough to include all published materials that bear at all directly upon politics, government, and administration—national, state, and local—not only in this country but abroad. The 80-page subject index should be of value to librarians even where a different system of classification is in use.

Serial Publications

Numbers omitted from the following series are out of print. Each volume is paper bound unless otherwise indicated. Publications for free distribution issued by the University or any of its departments are not included in this list.

THE INTER-AMERICAN HISTORICAL SERIES

Consisting of an Atlas and 15 Volumes of Latin-American History Translated from the Works of Latin-American Scholars

This Series was approved by the Bolivarian Centennial Congress held at Panama in 1926. It is planned to fill the need for adequate detailed histories of Latin-American countries written by native Latin-American historians— not now available in English. The histories, adopted on the basis of their general use in the colleges of Latin-American countries, give accurate information about these countries as well as a view of the Latin-American attitude toward such questions as nationalism, interference or overlordship by other powers, natural resources, cultural progress, etc. The University of North Carolina considers this an important educational undertaking, in keeping with the purposes of a University Press, and sufficient encouragement has been given to convince us that others share our opinion and are willing to lend it support.

The volumes will include histories of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, Mexico, Dominican Republic and Haiti, Venezuela, Ecuador, Cuba, Colombia, Central America, an Atlas, and a Latin-American Synthesis.

None but the most competent authorities have been chosen to edit the Series. They form a sub-committee appointed by the Inter-American Historical commission, itself composed of members of the Latin-American Historical Group of the American Historical Association. Inquiry is invited and advance subscriptions are being accepted. Our full descriptive circular will be sent upon request.

The first volumes scheduled for early publication are:

HISTORY OF CHILE—Galdames—Translated by I. J. Cox.

GENERAL HISTORY OF SOUTH AMERICA—Lamarca—Translated by H. E. Bolton

SOUL'S SECRET DOOR, (2nd Ed.)

Writing in free verse, a devout Hindu gives us a book of poems, "Soul's Secret Door," and it is interesting to note how essentially Christian is his Oriental faith.--Literary Digest.

The book sheds an almost tonic sense of peace and repose.—Evening Post, New York.

Here is the calm, exalted type of spirituality which is so distinctive of Hindu thought at its best and highest. A noble mysticism, expressed in lovely, simple, lucid English phrase, is present in all these verses as at once an atmosphere and an illumination.—John Haynes Holmes, Unity, Chicago.

Swami Paramananda, one of the best teachers of ancient Oriental wisdom in America, has written a book of poems which, for purity of expression, alone, comprise a refreshing contribution to contemporary poetry.—James M. Warnack, Los Angeles Times, California.

Like the Psalms of King David. They are marked by a fine spirituality and profound devotion. in vers libre, they have an unexpected lyrical quality.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE VIGIL, with Portrait of Author.

When Swami Paramananda's earlier volume, "Soul's Secret Door," was published, no one who read it failed to recognize its sincerity, its beauty, its surpassing calm. The present book, it seems to me, is even a higher accomplishment. It has carried the splendid growth of the earlier verse to a more splendid fruition. Swami Paramananda has a message! We are better for listening to it. What a great Christian he is, in spite of the fact that his religion is of the Orient; another surety that God is God, no matter what men of different races call Him or in what language prayers ascend!—John Wellington La Rue, Enquirer, Cincinnati, O.

An interesting collection of verse into which classic beauty and chasteness of thought have been so interwoven that they strike a high spiritual note and lift one out of the ordinary plane of material things. Mysticism in its truest form finds expression here, and a burning ardor for a more intimate knowledge of the Divine envelopes its pages. This young Hindu poet has struck fire in even the smallest fragment of verse with his limpid honesty of mind.—Buffalo Courier, Buffalo, N. Y.

As we read the poems, we were charmed with the simplicity of their form and the mystical grandeur of their content. All the poems seemed to be the spontaneous outpourings of one who has attained communion in his soul with God—The Essence of life and creation.—Prabuddha Bharata, Calcutta, India.

RHYTHM OF LIFE.

As in his two earlier volumes, "Soul's Secret Door" and "The Vigil," here, Swami Paramananda, founder and leader of the Vedanta Centre of Boston and the Ananda Ashrama, in California, reveals himself as also a poet of authentic utterance, a master of simplicity and beauty. In him unite the practical idealism of the West and the supreme mysticism attained by India of old. A book of devotion, inspired and inspiring, a spiritual vision and divine communion, "Rhythm of Life" is an experience and a prayer.—Carleton Noyes in the Foreword.

In reading these offerings of Swami Paramananda's devout muse the feeling is gained that here is a human soul which has achieved that rhythmic attitude of life so desirable. There is a selflessness in these poems of worship suggestive of the songs of the Psalmist when he was closest to Divinity and with an utter forgetfulness of self poured out his soul's longings and his soul's tributes.—Sam T. Clover, Saturday Night, Los Angeles, California.

This is not a book of theory, but of practice. It gives wisdom for the life and its outer manifestations. Without doubt the book will have a wide reading.—Detroit Times.

The words are so alive that they seem rather spoken than written. No one can read the book without gaining a new impetus for the spiritual life in the world.—Indian Review.

The author breathes a spirit of deep Oriental religious fervor that has for its Occidental prototype nothing this side of the devotees of Medieval times. The style of the book is so simple that one scarcely realizes it comes from the pen of a man of the East.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A spirit of deep religious fervor and strength pervades the whole book and reminds one of Brother Lawrence. It is a book to be read with profit.—Unity, Kansas City.

The breadth and tolerance exhibited by the Author in reference to other religions, commend themselves to fair-minded readers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Writers of the East are finding an ever widening response among the men of the West, perhaps because they bring us something much needed in our hurrying life. For example, "The Way of Peace and Blessedness" by Swami Paramananda—a dainty little volume on meditation and prayer. Although by a Hindu, the English is lucid, strong, graceful, and at times highly poetic. Its teaching, too could also as well be Christian as Hindu. Its noble catholicity is worthy of the peculiar beauty of its words.—Record-Herald, Chicago.

The book reminds us of the "Theologia Germanica" and the "Imitation of Christ." It is for all—Hindus and Moslems, Christians and Buddhists. We have read the book with delight and recommend it to our readers.—Modern Review, Calcutta.

"The Way of Peace and Blessedness" is a priceless little work on spiritual living. Full of devotion and consecration, each of the six chapters seems more potent than the other. We recommend this work especially for use in meditation, every chapter being opened by a prayer full of aspiration and of peace and by quotations from the Sacred Scriptures of India suited to the subject.—Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

CLASSICS

English translations from the Sanskrit

BHAGAVAD-GITA (3rd Edition). Attractive pocket size. Flexible binding $1.50. Plain cloth $1.25. Postage 8 cts.

The Swami brought to his task a thorough knowledge of the two languages, a profound understanding of the thought and a realization of the thought through the life.. No one can read the translation contained in the pages of this little book without feeling convinced that head, heart and soul have co-operated in the making of it. Its language is simple, fervent and spontaneous, and if it lacks the ornate imagery of William Q. Judge's translation for the Theosophists, it is probably a more accurate rendering of the original. From the simplest daily task to the most exalted state of spiritual consciousness at every step of the soul's evolution, one may turn to this sacred book for strength and inspiration, even though one is not an actual believer in Hindu Philosophy.—Boston Evening Transcript.

The above translation was undertaken as a labor of love for a small group of earnest students in Florence. And this love shines through it in the earnestness and clearness of diction that are some of the special qualities of its author. No longer can anyone complain of the multiplication of Sanskrit terms without a sufficient explanation . . . The present translation will be a favorite one with all who appreciate the Swami's profound knowledge of his subject and the illumination of his life. —Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

It is called "the Gita clarified" by many who have read it. Those who are familiar with other renderings of this wonderful Aryan Scripture cannot fail to gain new light from this translation.—Unity, Kansas City.

THE UPANISHADS—with commentary, Vol. I, (2nd Edition). Blue cloth, gold lettering $1.50. Plain cloth, $1.25. Postage 10 cts. Contents:

I. Isa-Upanishad—Oneness of the Soul and God, and the value of both faith and works as means of ultimate attainment are the leading themes of this Upanishad.
II. Katha-Upanishad—The most widely known of all the Upanishads. It presents a dialogue between an aspiring disciple and the Ruler of Death regarding the great Hereafter. Edwin Arnold popularized this story in "The Secret of Death" and Emerson gives it in brief in his essay on "Immortality."
III. Kena-Upanishad—This is one of the most analytical and metaphysical of the Upanishads, its purpose being to lead the mind from the gross to the subtle, from effect to cause.

The Upanishads contain the choicest gems of Indo-Aryan thought and culture, and are of equal value to the scholar and to the seeker of spiritual life, the present translation is remarkably lucid as well as faithful to the original, and the commentary makes plain what might otherwise be obscure to the Western mind. It is declared by those who have read it to be "a precious contribution not only to literature itself, but also to those forces that shall ultimately lead mankind out of darkness into Light."

AMETHYST MIST

By Charles Anthony

Occasionally we find a poet whose poems are music itself. Miss Anthony is a singer of songs, a weaver of quiet spells. She has looked upon the visible landscape and recorded in this music of hers the memorable shade and color, the shadow and light of the world around her. Her music is at times dark and soaring, and again sun-bewildered and star-fired. A genuine reverence actuates her music, a tenderness and quiet charm.

CLOUDED RADIANCE

By Louis W. Flaccus

Moods, thoughtful, sad, happy, bitter, tender, playful, have all been enchained in colorful words by the author in a wide range. Free verse has been used by the poet for expressing many of his moods, though the older, rhymed patterns are employed occasionally; there is one poem, especially, which might be used as a code by seekers after mottos and ideals, called "A Singing Heart" which has an arresting quality. This is the kind of a volume to slip into the pocket of the car when you are bound for the open roads, to read between trips for rest and refreshment .

—The Los Angeles Saturday Night.

$2.00 per copy

CRIMSON FEATHER

By Mabel Vollintine

They cover a wide range of themes as well as showing her fleet-footed Muse. There is an infectious gaiety in most of them and a haunting quality in some of those that reflect her memory of childhood days. It is a pleasing little volume.

—Boston Globe.

THE DANCE AT THE SPRING

By L. B. Pemberton

Enduring Speech, the favored words of Time!
Clothed with delight in meter, rhythm and rhyme,
Echoing along the changing grooves of song—
The dim reverberations of those scanty sounds
The savage man emitted in his playful rounds—

The uncouth lays of prehistoric days
That rippled from the Spring—overflowing,
Flowing from a Source beyond our knowing—
The spring eternal, everflowing!

$2.00 per copy

THE DOMINANT POWER

By Anna E. Satterlee

A character story of the late nineties, in which Cupid and Bacchus are at variance.

$2.00 per copy

EINSTEIN'S SOLILOQUY

By Augustus Shammo

"I certainly congratulate you on the whole satire, and I hope that much good will come of it. Direct criticism of Einstein's mathematical and logical errors appears to be of no avail. Satire and ridicule may accomplish what scientific writing has failed to do."

—Professor Charles Lane Poor, Columbia University.

$2.00 per copy

FAUST IN SPRING

By Angela Marco

Life's emotions are analyzed in this volume by one who has, evidently, experienced most of them. With colorful words and varying meter, the author has condensed her reactions in such a manner as to cause the reader to realize that her keen vision has been made vital by something in addition to mere observation. The title is misleading, the book having more depth than it indicates. Frivolous and whimsical at times, the author is always at her best in more serious moods, especially the religious. —Los Angeles Saturday Night.

$1.50 per copy

THE GARLAND OF DEFEAT

By Florence Mary Bennett

The Garland of Defeat is worth careful attention. It is a long and beautifully written book about Athens in the Fourth century B. C., and to its making the author has brought real scholarship and not a little poetic insight into the spirit of the Athenians of the generation of Praxiteles. —Philadelphia Record.

$2.00 per copy

HEREDIA TRANSLATIONS

By Merle St. Croix Wright

Jose Maria De Heredia, one of the leading figures in that French movement in letters that is called Le Parnasse, has been translated into English before. Mr. Wright's selection, however, offering as it does, the French original of the page opposite his translation, affords a new opportunity for English readers to observe just how chiseled, how highly wrought, how rigorous in form the work of the Cuban-Frenchman was. Heredia, a disciple of Leconte de Lisle, performed miracles in bronze or marble or solid gold. No softness invaded his poetry; it was hard and clear and absolutely regulated. —New York City Tribune.

$2.00 per copy

LAND POOR

By Kate Speake Penney

Land Poor is the engaging story of a North Alabama plantation during the transition period through which the boll weevil forced the agricultural economy of this State.

But this is not merely a narrative account of the decay of a plantation. It is a romance that tells the story of living, interesting persons, some of whom are scions of an old and exclusive Southern family, some of whom are breezy Northerners, some of whom are native Alabama mountaineers, and some negroes.

LITTLE SLANTS AT WESTERN LIFE

By Sarah Olden

Of the many people who enjoy traveling, few have the gift for observation together with the ability to write entertainingly. This rare combination is found in "Little Slants at Western Life" by Sarah Emilia Olden. It is an account of her wanderings in the West, a travel book that is informal without being casual, intimate without being fugitive. —Passaic News.

$2.00 per copy

MATTER AND LIFE

By Angela Marco

A Psychological study made from a very personal point of view. The author discusses the conflict of science and religion (which she finds not actually opposed), subconscious mind, telepathy, immortality. By inductive reasoning she urges the existence of the soul, and invokes evolutionary processes to show the fallacy of materialism. A plea for the recognition of spiritual values . . . . . —The Outlook.

MEANWHILES

By Susie Aikin Winold

Between Life's dawn and its sunset
The meanwhiles have been to me
Like tropic, sunny islets
In an iridescent sea.

MOODS

By Helen Frances Howard

Moods, how many! Grimaces, funny,
Chasing dull care away,
Now a comedian, now a tragedian,
As mood after mood holds sway.

$2.00 per copy

MOON OF THE DESERT

By Florence Annette Wing

Miss Wing is truly a poet. Her verse abounds in music and romance. Hers is not the verse of the morbid introspect however a current of tender wistfulness runs through much of it. She writes verses of both the East and West. We read each with an equal delight. However, our interest in a foreign people may whet our fancy in the poems of Egypt. In "Al Hayat," one of the poems of the East, Miss Wing has given a perfect picture of the desert—the desert of moods and mystery even as the sea.

—Boston Evening Transcript.

$1.50 per copy

OUT OF THE WEST

By Caroline Laurence Dier

Caroline Dier must have used colors from Nature's own paint-box, so gorgeous are the canvases she sets before us. There are "Dream mountains, purple gray—" with their violet peaks melting into opal sunsets; rose and turquoise skies; black mountains that cast mysterious shadows and moonlight that "lies in squares on the old stone floor." Among the pages, we find "Wild Asters," "October Roses" and "Canyon Spruces."—The Tucson (Arizona) Citizen.

$2.00 per copy.

OVER TWO SEAS

By Mary Dillingham Frear

Here is an entertaining travel book by a woman who claims the Hawaiian Islands as her birthplace. Mrs. Frear has chosen a delightful way of relating her travels, selecting an imaginary protagonist to roam over the globe. Panoramic views of the principal cities, with occasional pleasant dips into their past history, are afforded. —Brooklyn Times.

$2.00 per copy

PETITE PAULINE

By Ethelwyn N. Curry

It is a psychological study of a child character, a small girl of sensitive, but natural, unaffected nature, who exhibits an imaginative genius.

$1.50 per copy

STRAY THOUGHTS

By R. H. and D. M. Roberts

Stray Thoughts is of a philosophical tone and the poems are characterized by dignity and a clear imaginative expression. Reverie which occupies nearly half the volume, deals with the problems of Faith and Disbelief while the shorter verses are of the same tone, approaching abstract philosophical problems in the light of the poetic imagination.

—Boston Evening Transcript.

SUGAR AND SPICE AND ATTIC SALT

By Laura Emily Mau

He collected the world's wisdom books
And safely stored them in his vault,
From ancient Greece and Rome
To philosophies brought out at home.

But with all the learning of attic
He lacked the tang of Attic Salt
And knew all the world philosophies
Without the sugar and spice of these.

$2.00 per copy

THE SUN BIRD

By K. David

In "The Sun Bird" one finds the adventure and young romance of the conquest of the upper air. There are pictures of New York during the war, dialogue which moves along with pace and sparkle; and there are drama and suspense sufficient to hold the reader to the pages.

Those who read this novel will find that it is swept clean by a brisk breeze, that is witty and bracing, and does not depend upon the outworn triangles to hold an interest. —Oakland Tribune.

SUNG AT DAWNING

By Townsend Miller

A remarkable initial volume of verse by a 16 year old. The first section of the book, in the more modern plastic forms, will compare favorably with work done by far older poets; the 23 sonnets to which the second section of the book is devoted show a really surprising ability and a mastery of the technique of one of the most difficult forms of verse.

—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

$1.50 per copy

TOWARD THE STARS

By Alice Barkley

Songs sung because they must be sung, "children clamoring to be born," so may the poems of Alice Barkley be designated. She sings of love because she loves so ardently; she sings of the March winds, of the pussy willows, of the nasturtiums and buttercups, of hollyhocks and red poppies; of night that steals on the hillside. —Boston Evening Transcript.

$1.50 per copy

TRAIL OF THE GRAY DRAGOON

By H. E. Danford

A dashing romance of Civil War days in West Virginia. A quick moving narrative by one who knows the West Virginians and West Virginia. Jack Yates, scion of a wealthy Chicago family enlists under an assumed name. He meets a mountain maid and the love story begins. Through many dangers and thrilling escapes the story moves—seemingly to an anti-climax. However the author carries it to the next generation and behold another fine story . . . . .

—The North Platte Tribune.

$2.00 per copy

UNDERNEATH THE BOUGH

By Francine P. Robinson

When I shall have forgotten all the joy
And balm of soul that precious music brings—
The melody of harps, and all the soft
Sweet sound of muted strings;

When I shall have forgotten all the notes
Of golden-throated singers—clear and strong
Above all else, I'll hear in memory
The music of your song.

$2.00 per copy

VERSE FANCIES

By Jean Mitchell Lawrence

"Verse Fancies" has been receiving appreciative notices from discriminating critics near and far. What could be finer than the comment of A. Guyat Cameron that she has the art of vitalizing delightfully many phases of life; What particularly appeals is the freedom from effort; the naturalness of thought and of the word; the vivid picture; the deft coloring, with no abuse of vocabulary; and the range of the poetry in which sentiment divides interest with episode. This poet has descriptive ability and heart-suggestiveness of high order.—Trenton Times-Advertiser.

$1.50 per copy

WHITE MADNESS

By K. David

Four stories make up this volume. The tale of the title tells of a husky young Kanaka's love for a wanton white woman living in Honolulu, and of his redemption, through suffering, after she has discarded him. The second relates how a lazy radical awoke a better man by appreciating the solemn lesson taught to him in a dream. The third story is of Piute Indian love, dishonor, heroism; and the last depicts the rise of a New York shopgirl in five months' time and fortune as a Broadway dancer.—New York Sun

BRAITHWAITE'S ANTHOLOGIES OF MAGAZINE VERSE FOR 1925—1926—1927—1928

Anyone possessing the complete set of Mr. Braithwaite's anthologies will be enabled to get a conspectus —as it were, an aerial map—of the wide domain now ruled by Queen Poesy. Mr. Braithwaite deserves the hearty thanks of all lovers of the art.
—Boston Evening Transcript.

—Evening News—Albany, N. Y.

Mr. William Stanley Braithwaite has long been the valued friend of poets in America, and for years his annual collection of current magazine verse has been accepted as the standard survey of poets' work in the United States. —Christian Science Monitor.

Here are poems for every mood. Some are crimson as the last long light which stabs the icy spires of the Matterhorn. Some sparkle as the dew at dawn in dreaming valleys. Cynical, gay, serious or what you will—all are here.—Chicago Daily News.

It has been an arduous, a tremendous task, and a task well done. Those who have been fortunate enough to add the anthologies to the poetry shelf from year to year, own the best poetry published in America in or out of magazines over that period.

Give account if I abuse it,
Just a tiny little Minute—
But Eternity is in it.

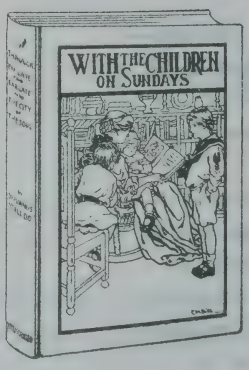
Child Training in a Kindergarten Way



With the Children on Sundays

BY SYLVANUS STALL, D.D.

Fifty-two talks one for each Sunday in the year, on the ordinary things that are met with either at the dinner table or about the home or outdoors.

The author in simple language that the child can readily apprehend, makes the common ordinary things of life tell impressive lessons to the wondering children who gather around the Mother.

Interesting Features

There are eight full-page four-color illustrations and a highly artistic and very realistic family picture on the cloth cover, and 135 line drawings, every picture being drawn especially for this book by the distinguished illustrator, Miss C. M. Burd. The "Play Picture," also drawn in four colors, was painted especially for this book by Miss Wuanita Smith.

It Introduces the Play Idea

The unique and yet reverent Play-Church idea taught in this book will keep the children off the street and make Sunday afternoon the happiest and most profitable time in the week. It will train the children as speakers and develop whatever talents they may have that are lying dormant, and in addition, it will make them take more interest in church services. An hour or so every Sunday in the year devoted to the play idea in this book will make the children more mentally keen, develop their powers of observation, and help fit them for the niche in life that they are afterwards to occupy.

Then, too, it teaches children to see things. The reason so many people succeed in life is because they were taught to see things—not simply to look at them, but to know about them, why they were made and for what purpose. The ordinary things about the home, such as the house key, the coal and wood, the worm in the apple, the little red crab hidden in with the oyster and other common objects are made to teach lessons that stimulate the child's imagination and develop the child's mind to its highest possibilities.

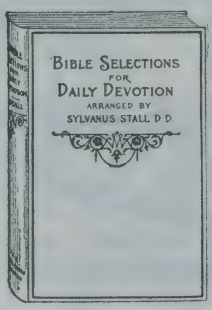
A Companion Book for God's Minute



At this time when an effort is being made to restore the family altar, this book is most opportune. Some are using it in connection with God's Minute because it brings to the family worship passages especially suited in character and length to such service. It removes the embarrassments which attend either a haphazard selection or successive readings.

The Selections are not only used for family worship but for chapel services in colleges and universities and by teachers in the opening services of schools. The Scriptures selected are from the book of Genesis to the end of Revelation.

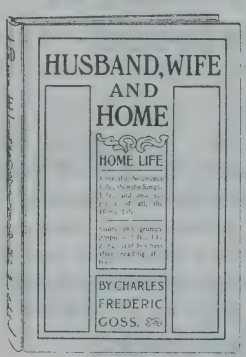
HUSBAND, WIFE AND HOME



By CHAS. FREDERIC GOSS

The author was gifted with a sense of humor and he knew that a smile is more effective than a frown and that a laugh will do more good than tears.

Here's what the New York Christian Advocate wrote of it:

"Like some good people of whom he talks, Dr. Goss has a head that is screwed on right and a heart in the right place too. He writes for average men and women with a brave scorn of folly, meanness and selfishness, under whatever form it may masquerade."

WE YOUNG MEN

To-Morrow's Voyage

Leonard Hess

HERE is a novel by a man who understands those mysterious forces which urge human beings into obscure channels and strangely intermingle their lives. In To-morrow's Voyage there unfolds before us a story that uncovers the subtle motives behind human action and human emotion.

Mr. Hess plumbs deep into the soul of a grocery clerk and finds a poet, dreaming of far-away horizons beyond which lies romance. He sits beside a plodding night watchman in the back room of a pool parlor and sees the smoothly working muscles and the fiery nostrils of horses racing down the stretch, miles away. And he kneels beside a prostitute at death's door, and prays with her for domestic happiness. A host of people flash through this book as we see them every day. Life passes them by hurriedly, until Mr. Hess stops them to find something in their hearts and their mentalities that holds strange kinship to ourselves. He lets them tell us about their lives in simple narrative that reflects our immediate sympathy.

The story of these characters, with their petty jealousies, their unexpected nobilities, above all their desperate dreams, becomes by virtue of some magic of understanding a dramatic tale of high adventure. One feels, pondering over it after having come regretfully to the end, that somehow no matter how drab and complicated reality may seem, it covers up beauty and simplicity, that one may find if he looks with sympathy and an understanding heart.

Although this is the author's first piece of sustained writing, Mr. Hess is not unknown as a fine prose writer. He is one of the few fiction writers who has had stories appear in the American Mercury; and several of the pieces he has done have been chosen for O'Brien's anthologies. To-morrow's Voyage should establish an enviable reputation for him as a novelist.

The Mark Of The Dead

The Aresbys

PARRISH DARBY, after an exhausting year in San Francisco's newspaper world, is granted six months' leave of absence. He goes to Hawaii, hoping to get a complete rest at the home of his friend, Doctor Collins, a former college chum. He no sooner lands, however, than he is plunged into one of the most mysterious murder cases that has ever challenged his many years of newspaper experience—a crime that not only involves his own friend, but beautiful Ruth Richards whose father is the dead man. His newspaper instincts get the better of him, and before he knows it he is following up clues and ferreting out facts that finally lead him to astounding discoveries. It will not be giving away an exciting story to say that weird native customs and the peculiar topography of the island of Oahu enter into the solution of a mystery that involves the very spirit of Hawaiian life.

Although it would be violating the authors' confidence to reveal the identity of The Aresbys, we can't help saying that the book is not written by novices. We predict that those who read "Who Killed Coralie?" will like "The Mark of the Dead" even better.

The Left Hand Of God

Jeremy Lane

USUALLY when a young and handsome American plays his lone hand against a horde of bandits that descend upon him from the wastelands like a swarm of hornets,—and when, in spite of tremendous odds, he battles his way to the side of his blushing bride-to-be (although neither one of them, God bless them! suspects it), the story of how all this comes to pass goes beyond all bounds of imagination. One of the fine things about The Left Hand of God is its apparent authenticity. From its first scenes in Washington and Paris to its last grand finale in the barren heart of the Gobi Desert the story is told in a manner that is convincing in its least detail.

Here is an epic of high adventure at the crossroads of the world. Dael Caslon steps into his silver-coated Daimler on the first page, and rushes blindfold into exciting, entertaining, completely enjoyable romance. It is a book we, as publishers, want to recommend to our friends as one of the best stories-for-the-sake-of-the-story we have had the pleasure of publishing.

Yonder Grow The Daisies

William Lipman

WHEN you're in the Big House and want to hit the road to Back and Down after the big boss slips you the "spring," you'll find that ninety-nine out of every hundred cons think you've gone balmy. That's what Brick Donovan found out once the word had gone over the grapevine. And before he reached the end of the straight and narrow he found that they were right, but that the whole world was balmy, anyway, so it didn't make any difference. Here's a story straight from the shoulder, like a bullet out of a machine gun.

The racket of rackets! The big business, not of bootlegging, for that's a piker's graft, but of the racket that includes all other rackets. The characters, all of them, from white-haired Granny and the soul-faced Saint to Corrigan Rex, walk right out of the book into real life, just as they walk right into it; the actual people that the author has known during twenty years of a newspaperman's life along the Main Stem. You can't lay it down. If we, as publishers, could pull books like this one of out of the fire as easily as the racketeers put over their deals on the sucker mob, we'd soon be bankers instead of publishers.

Once To Tiger Bay

W. Townend

IT HAS been said many a time and oft that romance disappeared from the high seas with the passing of the sailing ship. Mr. Townend violently disagrees with any such statement. So long as there are oceans and horizons and ports of call, he says, so long will romance be fighting through storm and ploughing through calm, on the highways and byways of world commerce. In evidence he offers Once to Tiger Bay.

"Give 'em blood," said the second engineer.

"Give 'em sex," said the mate.

"Why not tell 'em that yarn about Mother Jubilee of Bute Street," said the chief, "and the beachcomber?"

Mr. Townend has taken all three suggestions in the best novel of his career. Mother Jubilee's story had to be written one of these days. We confidently expect her to take her place in the literary halls of fame. And we are equally confident in predicting the birth of a new tradition —one equally as glamourous for those vessels that tramp the seas to-day as that already existing, for the clipper.

Bolivar, The Passionate Warrior

T. R. Ybarra

ALTHOUGH Bolivar has long been worshipped below the Isthmus as the saviour of South America, in this country he still remains unknown. The few books written about him entirely neglect a colorful personal life that has rarely been equalled. This fascinating young aristocrat accomplished the supreme task of throwing off the Spanish yoke from an entire continent. Yet he died in exile, neglected and forgotten by his own generation, a pauper in the arms of his valet.

T. R. Ybarra's ancestors fought under this man. His great grandfather was one of Bolivar's ranking generals and his close friend. The author was brought up in an atmosphere charged with profound admiration and loyalty to the great leader. His book has been made possible only by the possession of letters and source material that has been handed down to him by his family. Research work both here and abroad has completed a picture that makes Simon Bolivar real flesh and blood with human strength that made him The Liberator, and human weakness that made him a pauper.

The book will be illustrated almost entirely from private collections.

Witches Still Live

Theda Kenyon

WE ALL know that witchcraft was universally practiced in the Middle Ages, but a large majority of us will be shocked to learn that in the hearts and minds of more people than ever before in the history of civilization, Witches Still Live! Theda Kenyon, whose hobby is modern witchcraft, has made an exhausting study of the subject over a period of years. She has gathered so much material that to publish it all would take several volumes. She has therefore limited herself to specific practices, strictly within the definition of "witchery," practiced only in countries of a highly developed, Western civilization.

Many people have read with great interest books like Seabury's The Magic Island describing strange practices among savage peoples. How much more astounding and fascinating to read about such conditions in our own midst! Witches Still Live is thoroughly documented and indexed, making it invaluable as a reference and research guide, and contains a complete bibliography. It is written in a fascinating, almost a fiction style. And, indeed, it does read like fiction.

Illustrated from lithographs by Siegel.

Meddlers–Uplifting Moral Uplifters

H. I. Brock

IT IS high time that America put a stop to meddling. Slowly and insidiously we are delegating to impersonal and often blundering organizations the authority and government of our personal lives, until the words personal liberty are fast losing their significance. Matters such as these should be investigated in a thorough-going manner, and discussed in the open by all intelligent people. There is need for stock-taking. There is need for this book.

Mr. Brock, for years associated with The New York Times, is in a position to be "in on the know" in such matters as few who are outside the newspaper and political world are privileged. His investigation, covering a period of years, has been most complete. He has written a book for all of us that is both a warning and a prophecy. It has taken a great deal of thought and a great deal of courage. Being the book that it is, the author has been more than careful thoroughly to document his facts. It is from things as they exist to-day, things that have developed in the present generation that Mr. Brock takes his text, both chapter and verse.

Let's Be Normal!

Fritz Kunkel, M.D.

"THE principal merit of this book," says an important contemporary psychologist who read the manuscript at the publisher's request, "is its extreme simplicity and hard common sense. It is a study directed toward the fullest normality instead of the usual burrowing into abnormalities. The author describes the very careful procedure one has to follow (in order) to understand and thus direct the development of personality, and does it with simple keen insight and avoidance of all ordinary bunkum of psychoanalysts . . . Everybody is interested in psychoanalysis but most people are irritated by it because it leads nowhere or is presented in difficult technical language. This is a positive and normal book people have been looking for . . . I feel that his attitude makes psychoanalysis at last, or for the first time a thoroughly healthy approach."

Dr. Kunkel is Germany's leading individual (Adlerian) psychologist. He is director of the various child guidance clinics in Germany as well as of the newly organized institutions for giving psychological advice, both of which are under the supervision of the German government.

The Renaissance Of Irish Poetry

David Morton

IN THE last half-century, according to Professor Morton, the Irish Movement "has offered the interesting spectacle of a national and racial consciousness becoming articulate in a distinctive and beautiful speech. During these fifty years the Irish literary sky has blossomed with many stars visible from other shores than Ireland's—some of them so generally accepted as genuine and lasting luminaries that we forget how recently they came. Forty years ago William Butler Yeats was known but narrowly, and in Ireland, alone; James Stephens was a name that no one had heard; and John M. Synge was an anonymous journalist in Paris. There was nothing of these men by virtue of whose pens literature in English is enormously richer this morning than it was on that day when Mr. Yeats turned aside to dream of a national literature in which the beautiful forms and feeling of the Gael should move again."

This books presents the poetry of that movement, revealing the individual character of the poetry as a distinctive body of literature, with a clearly-defined integrity, a peculiar genius of its own. It includes all the important poems written within The Irish Renaissance.

Plays Of The Irish Renaissance

Curtis Canfield

THIS book covers the same period in Irish literature as Professor Morton's. It represents the first national effort of a people to express themselves in dramatic form. It attempts to define the dramatic movement by including within its covers the important plays of the period, short biographies of the dramatists whose plays are represented as well as a compact history of the movement itself. The author has included fifteen plays from the pens of Yeats, A. E., Lady Gregory, Colum, O'Casey and many others whose names are new to the general public but who will merit the recognition they are bound to receive some day. Each play has within it the elements of human grandeur and of human fallibility. They all have a quality that is thoroughly Gaelic—English, but different from anything else written in the English language. Humour, pathos, irony, often tragedy exist in them all as these qualities, for better and for worse exist in the Irishman's soul.

The book is bound in the same format as The Renaissance of Irish Poetry. The two volumes give one a comprehensive and fascinating review of the Irish literary movement.

The Metropolis Of To-Morrow

Hugh Ferriss

FIFTEEN years ago Hugh Ferriss was dreaming of future cities, planning far ahead of other architects and artists. To-day many of his dreams have been realized in the buildings that tower over the great cities of the country,—perhaps America's unique contribution to world culture. Mr. Ferriss is still dreaming, planning, envisioning,—The Metropolis of To-Morrow. He is a practical dreamer, as is proved by the many assignments he is given for the solution of important problems connected with the growth of large cities. Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco, as well as New York have all felt his influence. His drawings have been reproduced in leading magazines and by leading authorities the world over. Now, for the first time he has agreed to gather together the material he has accumulated into book form, attempting to build out of the experience of the past the city of to-morrow that will cater to the needs of the future. The result is unique and astonishing.

The book will be printed entirely on off-set presses, on fine paper, especially manufactured for the purpose so as to reproduce in smallest detail the sixty-odd drawings included.

The Air Tourists Guide To Europe

Captain Norman Macmillan, M. C., A. F. C.

AIR travel in Europe has come to be a great boon to American tourists; for it has not only provided a magnificent means of sightseeing and travelling, but it has made possible the covering of a tremendous amount of territory in a very short period of time. The continent is to-day so completely covered with a net-work of air routes that it is not only possible, but entirely feasible and advisable, when one has a limited amount of time, to do all travelling by air.

The Air Tourists's Guide to Europe tells you how to map out your trip at a minimum of cost and a maximum of comfort, explains the various advantages and handicaps of this method of travel, and describes in a rapid, personal style everything you can possibly want to know about passenger aviation. Captain Macmillan has had a long and varied experience both in actual flying and in the development of commercial aviation. No one could have been better fitted for the task of writing this book. Voluminously illustrated with plates and maps.

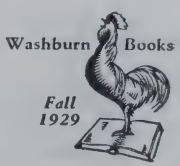
The Air Tourists's Guide To The Americas, by Captain Norman Macmillan, will be published Spring, 1930.



THE CHANTICLER LIBRA

DURING the past few years there has been an increasing demand for books strictly modern in spirit although classic in the best sense of the word, printed in beautiful format and bound for the most fastidious collector. Press books have appeared from time to time to supply this demand in limited quantities at prices usually far beyond the reach of the average man's pocket-book. It will be the policy of Ives Washburn from now on to issue trade editions, unlimited and easily available, of the classics which are most in demand. It will be the publisher's endeavor to make these books as fine in typography layout and binding, as any of the press books the prices for which range from fifteen to over a hundred dollars, and to offer them to the public at a price that all book lovers can afford. All books issued in The Chanticler Library will be printed on fine paper, from type particularly chosen to fit the character of each individual work. They will be uniformly bound in black vellum cloth, will be die-stamped in silver and will have stained tops.

They will be illustrated in each case by the best artists available for the specific book in mind. Whenever possible the artist will not only do the illustrations, but will design the book as well, both from a point of view of typography and lay-out. In some cases there will be small limited editions available for those especially interested in the work of the artists chosen, printed in larger format with illustrations personally made by the artists. These limited editions will also be reasonably priced and manufactured in the best of taste, bound in board and signed by the artist.

The first two books to be issued will be Candide and Mademoiselle de Maupin.

Mademoiselle De Maupin

Theophile Gautier

IT IS not the publisher's purpose specifically to introduce Mademoiselle de Maupin to new readers, although that is always to be desired, —but rather to make available for lovers of Gautier's chef d'œuvre a fine edition that will be both beautiful and legible. The Vizitelly translation will be used and will be complete.

F ILLUSTRATED CLASSICS

Candide

Voltaire

THIS edition will include both Parts I and II of Candide. Very few editions of this remarkable work contain the second part.

Ever since 1759, when Voltaire wrote "Candide" in ridicule of the notion that this is the best of all possible worlds, this world has been a gayer place for readers. Voltaire wrote it in three days, and five or six generations have found that its laughter does not grow cold. Candide is a full book. It is filled with mockery, with inventiveness, with things as concrete as things to eat and coins, it has time for the neatest intellectual clickings, it is never hurried, and it moves with the most amazing rapidity. It has the rapidity of high spirits playing a game. Gaiety has been scattered everywhere up and down its pages by Voltaire's lavish hand, by his thin fingers. In Voltaire's fingers, as Anatole France has said, the pen runs and laughs.

Howard Simon

MR. SIMON'S work has been collected both on this side of the Atlantic and abroad by museums as well as by individuals. One of his wood engravings was included in the fifty best prints of the year for 1928. An illustration he has made for Mademoiselle de Maupin is in the collection of wood-engravings at the Baltimore Museum, and his work is in The British Museum collection.

He has made wood-engravings for both Mademoiselle de Maupin and Candide that for the spirit of the work and the excellence of execution have rarely been equalled. The illustrations for both books will be printed from the original wood-blocks on a paper chosen by the artist. Mr. Simon will design both books as well, so as to be assured of an artistic unity to the books as a whole.

Walt Henley, Skipper

Alfred F. Loomis

HERE'S Walt Henley again, the same old scout whose career in the Navy so many boys enthused over in Walt Henley, D.S.M. But this time he's in civies and the war is a thing of the past. Walter has grown a bit and his thrilling experiences in the service have developed his character but he hasn't changed at heart and his inherited passion for the sea and boats is as strong as ever.

With money left him by his grandmother he starts in refitting old boats and selling them. Harry Pease shows up, as yellow as ever, and almost wrecks Walt's career. But in spite of all he can do Walt Henley comes through on top, and climaxes his career as a ship-builder by entering one of his boats in The Nantucket Race and coming off with flying colors.

Everybody by now knows that Alfred Loomis is an authority on boats and how to sail them. In addition to this nautical knowledge he possesses a vivid narrative style that appeals to youth of all ages. We confidently affirm that this is the best boys' book of his career.

Hungry Crawford, Legionnaire

Captain Walter Karig

CHARLEY CRAWFORD, familiarly known as "Hungry" to the men of the French Foreign Legion, was just out of prep school back in the States and was studying at the Beaux Arts in Paris when this exciting story opens. When the World War broke out Hungry was camping with another student in the forest near Meaux. One night, he was rudely awakened by an Uhlan officer who threatened to shoot him until he learned he was an American. Hungry resented this treatment and when he stumbled upon a contingent of the Legion rushing to stem the German advance promptly joined up. From that moment his adventures at the front begin. We follow him through the Battle of the Marne and the trench warfare that followed. He is captured by the Germans but escapes in time to give information about a spy.

The life of a legionnaire during the earlier phases of the great conflict is vividly depicted by Captain Walter Karig who served in this famous organization. Best of all, he has illustrated the story as only one who was there could do. After the boys get a kick out of it they can hand it to their fathers, who will eat it up! Need we say any more?

While Peter Sleeps

E. Boyd Barrett

"ONE of the most important contributions to the study of religion and intellectual history which has appeared in the United States in the last decade. It offers the first real opportunity for the intelligent layman to acquire a complete illuminating and objective comprehension of the Catholic religion and intellectual system. The fact that the writer tells his story without animus gives the book far greater force than could be the case with an apology or a polemic. The book deserves the widest possible circulation, and I predict for it a splendid reception."—Harry Elmer Barnes.

"It should not be considered as in any sense a polemic against Catholicism. It is an appeal to the Catholic Church itself to correct abuses. Indispensable to any who want an interpretation of the Catholic Mind and an exposition of Catholic practice in America."

—Winfred Ernest Garrison in The Christian Century.

"His book, written with a subdued fervor and stirring with an indignation which never becomes intemperate, is significant . . . possibly prophetic."

—William L. Sullivan in The New York Herald-Tribune.

"Gratifyingly informative . . . an uncommonly interesting book."

—Granville Hicks in The Nation.

"Admirable both as to style and content . . . contains valuable and authoritative information . . . an object lesson in its civilized manner of discussing a controversial religious subject."—Everett Dean Martin.

"I have to thank you for sending me the most interesting book about Catholicism that I have ever read. It is packed with information and is admirable in its tone of fairness."—Upton Sinclair.

"An excellent presentation of the program of the advance element in the Church. Dr. Barrett writes interestingly and has chosen his material well. He remains the critic throughout the work but invariably the fair one."—Bryon Darnton in The New York Evening Post.

Notre-Dame De Paris

Victor Hugo

"FOR one who appreciates beauty in books. A gorgeous volume, opulent in binding, typographically splendid. Mr. Pape's black and white and color pictures add something to the thrill one youngster got from the book years and years ago—which is more than one should ask of an artist."—F. F. V. in The New York Evening Post.

The Perfect Ship

Weston Martyr

"HERE is an enthralling book by an amateur sailor who has something authentic to tell us. . . . The chief charm of the book—and one which is too often a stranger to yaching literature—is its warmth of human interest. The Perfect Ship is a classic of Marine Literature."—The Saturday Review of Literature.

Frontispiece and diagrams, octavo — $3.50

Fair Winds in the Far Baltic

Alfred F. Loomis

"ENTHUSIASM is also in order; for Mr. Loomis is that rare combination, a man who can sail a boat and write about it, too . . . will entertain even those to whom sheets mean bed linen . . . a welcome relief from the shipshop of the average sea dog."—New York Herald Tribune.

Fully illustrated, octavo — $3.00

The Story of Law

John M. Zane, LL.D., LITT.D.

"MR. ZANE is a sound philosopher . . . His opening chapters on the physical basis of law and law among primordial men might well be made prescribed reading for every candidate for public office and every reformer . . . His explanation and appreciation of the American Constitution should be published separately and be put into the hands of every legislator and every citizen who undertakes to address himself to the public welfare."—MURRAY T. QUIGG in The New York Times.

Third printing Fully illustrated, octavo $5.00

Ten—And Out!

Alexander Johnston

"EXCEEDINGLY interesting, full of punch, thorough in its history, and deserves a permanent place in ring literature."—New York Times.

"A contribution to American history of much more importance than certain serious minded persons will like to admit. An honest, carefully prepared and carefully written book."—HENRY HAZLEITT in The New York Sun.

Second printing Fully illustrated, octavo $3.50

Chronicles Of a Countryman

Walter A. Dyer

"WILL find a companionate resting place besides John Burroughs and W. H. Hudson."—New York Telegram.

"If all farming could be attuned to Mr. Dyer's pleasant rhythm, the agricultural and the cultural problem would be simultaneously solved." —New York Herald Tribune.

Recent Important Fiction

From the Washburn List

AFRICAN HARVEST by NORA STEVENSON

"With a skill and control amazing in a first novel, Miss Stevenson builds her characters so that their clipped remarks and drab doings have the force of swift action and the power of climax. It is quite obvious that she knows the Boer character and habits to the last detail, and is equally familiar with every trait of the land."—N. Y. Herald-Tribune.

$2.50

THE ORANGE COURT by LILY ANNE COPPARD

"If this is Mr. Coppard's first novel she has little to learn. The touch is sure and the quiet scenes ring true. Figures and landscape melt together producing an impression that lingers in the memory, with its freshness and pleasantness undimmed by any jarring note."—Manchester Guardian. $2.50

THE LIVING DEAD MAN by LEROY SCOTT

"How well he succeeds you will admit when the clock strikes three. You cannot lay the book down."—Pittsburgh Post.

"A mighty good evening's entertainment."—Detroit Free Press.

"Once you have begun the book you will hang on closely to the end."—New York Sun. $2.00

THE ALCHEMY MURDER by PETER OLDFELD

"A corker—you can't put it down . . . one of those superlative detective tales where . . . a whole series of suspended interests culminate in a big one as exciting as the finding of the murderer."—Emily Newell Blair in Good Housekeeping. $2.00

THE KEY TO THE CASA by KECK ORBISON

"The breathless way in which the story is told . . . The clever drawing of the characters, . . . the quick marching tempo all combine to make an exciting story of old Manila, which seems even better and more thrilling than was the author's former tale of life behind The Devil Screen in Modern China."—Boston Evening Transcript. $2.00

HAPPY SURPRISES.

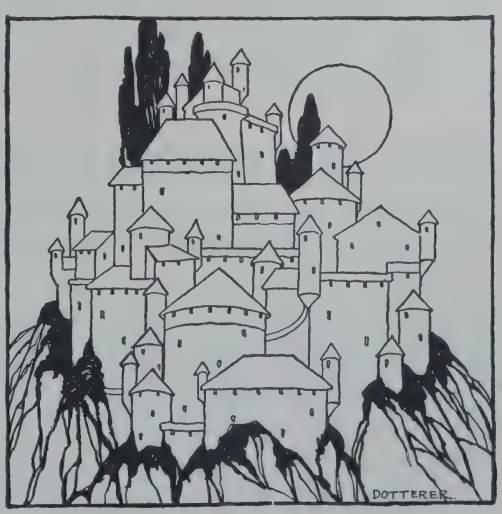
From the French of Madame de Segur. "A volume of pure, refreshing tales. A distinct and unusual addition to the best books for our little American children, lively, full of fun and rapid incident. The translator has shown a tender sympathy for children in her portrayal of Camilla, Madeleine, Marguerite and some exciting boy cousins whose counterpart may be found every day in our own country." (From the review by Frances Jenkins Olcott.) Charming color illustrations by Miss Hubbard, create a harmony of color and design in pleasing conformity to the epoch.

THE BUILT-UPON HOUSE.

By JANET FIELD HEATH. Quaintly illustrated by LLOYD DOTTERER. (Ages 4-8) Size 8x9. Vellum de Luxe Cloth. $1.50.



How the Little Old Man and the Little Old Woman created the Built-Upon House after the arrival of the Gray Pussy Cat, the White Duck, the Brown Rabbit, the Great Spider and the Two Doves.

These characters suggest the quaint nature of Janet Field Heath's delightful stories. All of them offer a wholesome simplicity of narrative bound to absorb completely the interest of the child reading them either separately or at one sitting.

The stories in this book are done with a deft, light touch, wholly sincere and natural, full of simple tenderness and warmth.

All of the Lloyd Dotterer color pictures children will eagerly respond to.

WHAT HAPPENED AFTER.

By Patten Beard. Colorfully illustrated by Violet Moore Higgins. Ages 4-9. Size 8x9. Vellum de Lux Cloth. $2.00.

The world's curious children will be made happier by the assurance and certainty that The Three Bears, Jack the Giant Killer, Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella's Ugly Sisters and other early favorites have not ceased to live. For the secrets of Fairyland are revealed to those children who may have speculated and pondered on what became of the fairies. Patten Beard has reached the hearts of her readers very easily and very cleverly; and her stories have lost none of their original romantic meaning. Neither is there any hint of anti-climax in this continuation of tales for children whose illusions regarding fairies still retain their color and reality.

Violet Moore Higgins' sixty vivid illustrations help to further the young reader's pleasure in discovering the fairy godmother's secrets.

The first eight chapters in the book form separate stories surrounding ancient objects which some young people unearth from an old chest in the garret. They are the basis of fascinating tales of the old days in history, tales of Indians and the sea; and the last four stories deal with ghosts and deep mysteries which the young people solve in quite natural manner . . . . The book may be recommended as wholesome and full of vivid interest to both young and old. (From the review by Wilhelmina Harper.)

NEW PUBLICATIONS FOR 1929-1930

BOY SCOUTS ON THE GREEN MOUNTAIN TRAIL. By Walter Prichard Eaton. 320 pp. Published May 1st. Price $1.75.

This is an additional volume in the author's Boy Scout series covering all parts of the country. The Long Trail of the Green Mountains is one of the most picturesque, and one of the most difficult to negotiate. Over a portion of it the author takes his reader, describing minutely its remarkable contour. Spirit and life is given to the story so that the actual experiences of the characters, behind the story element, is the spirit of Boy Scouting in all its phases of character-making. Many of the incidents covered relate to the flood period when the Boy Scouts proved themselves efficient in rendering aid.

THE BEST ANIMAL STORIES I KNOW. By John Clair Minot, Literary Editor of the Boston Herald. 320 pp. Price $2.00.

In this volume is to be found the cream of animal stories. These stories have been carefully selected by the author who is one of the most popular of literary editors. The selection is diversified in subjects and as carefully made as extensive reading can afford. The best animal stories which have been written for a number of years are embraced in this collection.

TRAILING THE AIR MAIL BANDIT. By Lewis E. Theiss. 315 pp. Price $1.75.

Never before has there been such an interest in aviation as at the present time and one of the most important factors in its development has been because the government instituted in a most practical way the air mail service. Gradually this service has developed until now it is such a fixture that we seldom think of the wonders connected with its regularity. Lawlessness has also entered into the air mail service and much of the material of this story is based on actual facts. The story is a companion volume to "The Search for the Lost Mail Plane" and "Piloting the U. S. Air Mail," and carries on the narrative of another phase of air mail development.

THE RUNAWAY DOG TEAM. By Arthur C. Bartlett, author of "SPUNK, LEADER OF THE DOG TEAM," "THE SEA DOG" and "GAME LEGS." 320 pp. Price $1.75.

More than ever before interest is centered on the development of the noble dog for sled work. Patience and kindliness are absolutely necessary and the "sturdy huskies", their trainers and drivers command our admiration. Many are the experiences connected with this training and racing period, and this story pictures some of the most interesting activities. It is a companion volume to "Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team" and "The Sea Dog," both by the same author.

THE GIRL OF THE MESA. By Mae Foster Jay. 320 pp. Price $1.75.

This story is as unique in its setting and colorful in its characters as is that Southwestern part of our country in which it is laid. The wide open spaces, the mountain caves in which the early settlers lived, the freedom of life and its sturdy character building, all make a background for a very unusual story of a girl who lived, roamed and developed in it all. The author's familiarity with the country is easily discernible.

Arthur C. Bartlett

SPUNK, LEADER OF THE DOG TEAM. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

Spunk — strong, masterful, intelligent Spunk won his place in the heart of his master and as leader of the dog team through weeks and months of training. He acquired his name because he refused to whimper when broken limbs had to be set and he justified his name when on the ice fields of Mount Washington he refused to yield an inch when yielding would mean certain death and destruction to all.

THE SEA DOG. Author of "Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team". 320 pp. Price $1.75.

On land or sea, the faithful dog, whether high bred or simply mongrel, can teach lessons of faithfulness and intelligence. "Pieface," the sea dog, loved his calling, and his master learned from him what he probably never would have acquired had he not received "Pieface" as his only legacy, when left to face the world alone.

GAME-LEGS. The Biography of a Horse with a Heart. By Arthur C. Bartlett. 304 pp. Three-colored jacket. $1.75.

The author of two stories about dogs — Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team and The Sea Dog — turns his talent to describing life on the farm where his love of horses was developed to a consuming degree. To those who lived in the age of horses, one does not need to be told of the glories of horse flesh, but to those who never had the opportunity to learn that horses have hearts this story will be convincing.

Winston Books and Bibles are found wherever books are sold in all parts of the world

1884 The John C. Winston Company had its origin in the year 1884, in the second story front room of a typical old Philadelphia dwelling house at 1009 Arch Street, directly opposite to where now stands the prominent Winston Building covering 135,000 square feet of floor space.

For the first few years the publication and sale of one book engrossed the attention of the new publisher. This book proved very successful, and other equally fortunate publications followed which very quickly gave the firm a creditable reputation in the publishing world.

1900 In this year the business was incorporated, and about the same time the Company entered the field of Bible publication by seizing a favorable opportunity to purchase the entire stock, plant, and good-will of the "International" Series of Bibles—the largest line of Self-Pronouncing Bibles in the world.

1904 The business continued to grow so rapidly that in 1904 the Winston Building, which occupies nearly half an acre of ground in the heart of the city, was erected to meet the special requirements of the publishing business. The building and business represent an investment of over $1,500,000. Every facility for the rapid handling of the business of the Company has been incorporated, including not only the latest but also much specially built machinery.

1905 Scarcely a year had elapsed after the occupation of the new building, when another large addition was acquired by the purchase of the publishing business of Messrs. Henry T. Coates & Company, successors to Porter & Coates, and a notable pedigree of publishers. This acquisition included a large line of Standard Books, Juvenile Books and other meritorious publications, which have been augmented from year to year by the issue of many new volumes.

1914 The John C. Winston Company, who some years ago erected an eight-story building with a frontage on Arch Street of 100 feet and a depth of 150 feet, is now building an inclosed bridge to span the street in the rear, connecting them with the Harrison Building, thus securing six additional floors.—The Publishers' Weekly, July, 1914.

1918 The John C. Winston Company will enter the school-book field on the first of January. The Winston Company, which in thirty years' experience has acquired a long list of publications, among which are many notable titles, has entered the educational field with a sincere effort to make a distinct contribution to text-book literature. —The Progressive Teacher.

1929 The John C. Winston Company is now a factor in every market where books and Bibles are sold. Its text-books are now in use in every state in the Union. The whole United States, Canada, Great Britain and Australia are its principal territory, while to Europe, Africa, India, China, Japan, Mexico, South America and our Island Possessions — wherever the English language is spoken throughout the world—its publications find their way.

WAR! BEHIND THE SMOKE SCREEN

Who is it so skilfully plans and executes war propaganda? Who determines what shall be and what shall not be censored? Why did we go to war? Why shall we engage in another conflict which, prophesied Herbert Hoover, will be the cemetery of civilization? This book is a revelation of modern warfare in all its folly and futility.

The author is an authority on social, racial, and international problems. For twenty years, he has devoted his life to the relief of human distress. As a writer, lecturer, and world traveler, he has addressed large and small groups and has interviewed and conferred with international notables. His subject is vitally interesting—Are we not concerned with what immediately and indirectly affects our family, business, and moral relationships? Bound in Cloth. 192 pages. Price.....$1.50

Blankenburg, Lucretia L.

THE BLANKENBURGS OF PHILADELPHIA

"Be proud of the city in which you live; and so live that the city may be proud that you lived in it." To few, perhaps, could this more fittingly apply than to Rudolph Blankenburg. For a third of a century he was foremost in every good work, and as mayor, gave to Philadelphia the cleanest and most efficient administration of its history. It was Mr. Blankenburg's intention to write his autobiography after the close of his term as mayor, but this was not possible because of ill health. Rather than let the record of his life work fade away, Mrs. Blankenburg has woven the story of his career in this book. Bound in Cloth. 220 pages. Illustrated. Price.....$2.00

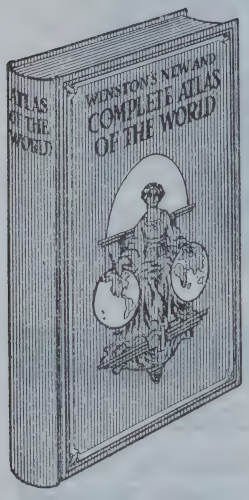
THE HANDY BOOK WITH THE BIG MAPS
All the Peace Maps with New Boundaries

WINSTON'S NEW AND COMPLETE ATLAS OF THE WORLD

WITH LATEST CENSUS



With New Maps of Europe; of Canada and its Provinces; of the United States, its Forty-eight States, its Territories and Insular Possessions and Maps of the Whole World with Boundaries as Established by the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: :: :: : ::

The World Re-Mapped

When the Treaties of Peace were signed following the World War, a new world was created as far as an Atlas is concerned. Marked changes were made in three continents and in the Islands of the Pacific; millions of square miles of territory changed hands; new nations were born; boundary lines were redrawn; and even in our own country, names of towns were changed, all this necessitated the adoption of new names into world geography. This Atlas uses the spelling decided upon by the British and American Geographical Societies. This new Atlas is constantly being revised to keep it abreast of the constant revision of world geography.

This New Atlas, the Handy Book with the Big Maps, shows Every Country of the World with Boundaries as Established by the Provisions of the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: ::

THE LAST WORD IN MAP MAKING

With New Maps of France, Africa, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Turkey in Asia, and all countries affected by the War, as well as complete maps of our own country.

The maps embody the very latest idea in map-making. Their accuracy is fully established by the fact that they were engraved under the personal supervision of L. L. POATES, whose reputation as cartographer is known to educators the world over and whose services are sought by leading technical institutions and societies and by the Government in the making of maps in which clear definition and accuracy of detail are essential.

This Complete Atlas, size 7 x 9½ inches, comprises 350 pages, 207 pages of which are maps printed in five and six colors. It is printed on sturdy super-calendered paper and bound in the following styles:

Cloth, ink stamping..... $2.50

Flexible Morocco Grained Kraft, round corners, red edges..... $3.50

FEATURES THAT MAKE THIS ATLAS INDISPENSABLE IN HOME, SCHOOL, AND OFFICE

207 Pages of Maps are comprised in this Atlas. Besides new maps of the nations of Europe and other countries of the world, it contains a map of Canada, separate maps of the Provinces of Canada, a map of the United States, separate maps of each state, territory, and insular possession.

The Maps are Printed in Five and Six Colors of Ink instead of three colors—yellow, red, and blue—as ordinarily employed.

The Locations of Towns, Rivers, Mountains, and Boundaries are indicated by map markers rather than in the old form of many Atlases.

Railroads are represented by a thin line of Red Ink, thereby clearly defining them. In other Atlases, railroads are printed in black ink which makes it difficult to distinguish them from river and boundary lines.

Mountain Ranges are shown in Brown Ink, on a new system of hachures which bring the ranges into bolder relief.

The Maps are 8½ x 10¾ inches in size.

The handy size of the volume fits it for a bookcase and the library table; it may be carried in a grip which opens a wide use for an Atlas for business men and travelers. The Atlas closed measures only 7 x 9½ inches. A full size map, such as is found in an Atlas that measures twice the size, is presented in the open book which measures 14 x 9½ inches.

A Gazetteer of the countries, of leading cities of the world, with their locations on the maps.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

When the whole western world is swinging away from the rather extreme puritanism of the Victorian period, manifesting this swing through a rather startling frankness and freedom of discussion and an equal freedom of social adjustments and relationships, there is a wide-spread demand for a thorough study and a frank discussion of the social problems by a Medical Sociologist. This book, Love and Marriage, seeks to meet this demand. It swings with the modern viewpoint, however, to a moderate middle ground rather than to the extreme left. The discussion of the Love Instinct, Choice of a Mate, Marriage, Married Life, Family Building in its various phases, also Companionate Marriage, Birth Control, Divorce, should appeal to those who are seeking sound, safe information and guidance. THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY

REGULAR PAPER EDITION

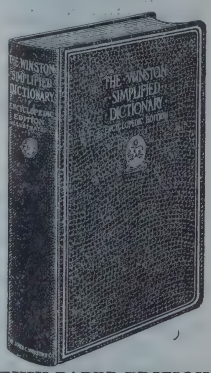
ENCYCLOPEDIC EDITION

DEFINES EVERY WORD SO THAT ITS USE AND MEANING CAN BE INSTANTLY UNDERSTOOD

——Edited by——

WILLIAM DODGE LEWIS, Pd.D., Litt.D., HENRY SEIDEL CANBY, Ph.D., and THOMAS KITE BROWN, Jr., Ph.D.

The objectives in this new work have been ease of reference, simplicity, completeness, and accuracy of definitions, and the highest scholarship. It will substantiate its claims to the following features:



THIN PAPER EDITION

A COMPLETE and THOROUGHLY MODERN WORD LIST

The word or phrase you want is in the book

LARGE, CLEAR TYPE FOR EACH VOCABULARY ENTRY

The word is strikingly easy to find on the page

SIMPLICITY OF DEFINITION

When the word is found, its meaning is immediately clear

DEFINITIONS OF SCHOLARLY ACCURACY

The meanings as given are correct and authoritative. Accuracy is not sacrificed for simplicity

ETYMOLOGICAL INFORMATION FOR EVERY WORD

If the etymology is known, it is given; if it is unknown, this fact is stated. No etymology is ignored

LITERARY, BIBLICAL, AND MYTHOLOGICAL REFERENCES

THREE THOUSAND TEXT ILLUSTRATIONS

EIGHT FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS IN COLOR

In brief, a reference work which in itself is a compelling argument for the establishment and maintenance of the dictionary habit as a means of continuous education and self-culture.

A Contribution to Shakespeariana that is

A DISTINCTIVE MECHANICAL and SCHOLARLY ACHIEVEMENT

THE "LOSEY" EDITION OF THE DRAMATIC AND POETIC WORKS OF

COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME

With Introduction, Biography, Glossary and Index to Characters, and an Interpretation to Each Play

By FREDERICK D. LOSEY, A.M. (Harvard)
Shakespearean Scholar and Lecturer
Formerly Professor of Rhetoric and Public Speaking, Syracuse University

The problems we are facing today are essentially the same that Shakespeare saw and incorporated in the structure of his plays—problems of peace and war, of national sovereignty and ethics, of education and authority, of the frankness of youth. In many instances, new light has been thrown on the plays, sometimes to the point of changing their entire significance by the new emphasis which new conditions have thrown on old problems.

THE "LOSEY" EDITION

It is the only edition that presents before each play a complete new interpretation.

The basic text has been selected from Delius which in the opinion of Sir Sidney Lee is "formed on sound critical principles and is to be trusted thoroughly."

All the plays, poems and sonnets are included in this one handy size volume.

The Losey Edition has been prepared in the belief that world events of the past ten years have rendered almost imperative a re-valuation of Shakespeare's plays.

Professor Losey is a leading Shakespearean scholar, and his interpretations can be regarded as authoritative.

The "Losey" Edition has been compiled with such care that it will be found the most suitable edition for School and the Home, for Dramatic and Literary Societies, as a Gift for the Holidays, Commencements, Birthdays or other occasions. The several styles of handsome bindings permit a wide choice for every purpose.

The complete volume measures 5½ x 8 inches, and contains 1332 pages, with Frontispiece in Colors from the famous "Chandos" Portrait.

SCHOLARSHIP

The tens of thousands of people who have heard Losey's interpretation of Shakespeare's plays will need no further evidence of his pre-eminent qualifications as editor of the world's greatest drama.

In his interpretations to Shakespeare's Plays and Poems in this volume, Professor Losey has condensed as thorough a knowledge of the subject as is possessed by any living man. He makes Shakespeare an interpreter of life today and holds the mirror of the world's greatest mind up to our human follies, foibles and problems. In this reflection we see how little life has changed from the days of Queen Elizabeth to those of Calvin Coolidge.

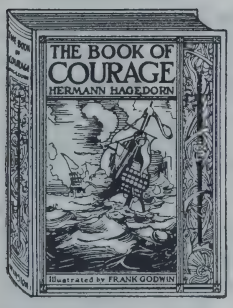
THE BOOK OF COURAGE

By HERMANN HAGEDORN



This is a book of adventures stranger than fiction—life stories of men and women who in various ages of the world's history have faced fearful odds, demanding the highest type of courage.

FROM SOCRATES TO LINDBERGH

From the far past are stories of the courage of Socrates and Hannibal and Savonarola. Coming to the pioneer days of America, there are stories of Daniel Boone and others. The statesmen and soldiers have their places—Lincoln and Lee and Roosevelt and General Gordon, and hosts of others. The book is carried down to those modern heroes, Lawrence of Arabia and the unmatchable Lindbergh. The one quality that a boy admires more than any other is the quality of courage. Here are inspiring examples of high courage, told with fine narrative power. Profusely illustrated by Frank Godwin, four plates in full color and a colored jacket, ten half-tone reproductions of wash drawings, and fifteen in pen and ink. Also eight unique maps in relief. Cloth. Illustrated. Price.....$2.50

THE LONE SCOUT OF THE SKY

THE BOY'S STORY OF CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

By James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America

A Book that Every Boy who Likes a Thrilling Tale of a Real Hero will Want to Own and Read—The story of our aviation hero from a new angle—written especially for the boys of America. As a rule boys must look to the past for their heroes, but here is a flesh and blood hero, very much alive, here and now, a hero, whose boyhood itself lies only a little way behind him. Mr. West, himself a leader of boys, has presented in vivid, terse, direct style, a book which is bound to fascinate boys, and indeed, anyone who likes a stirring tale of a real hero, especially a hero so universally beloved. It contains, mostly in the aviator's own words, the story of his various thrilling emergency parachute jumps, also an illuminating account of the flier's boyhood. It also contains special chapters by Com. Byrd and Chamberlin and—to make it doubly valuable to boys, who love nothing better than to make things—it includes complete instructions, with diagrams, for building a flying model of the "Spirit of St. Louis." 304 pages, including 32 full-page illustrations. Price.....$1.00

PUBLISHED FOR BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

TREASURE ISLAND AND KIDNAPPED

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Size 7 x 9½ inches

COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME

These two great tales by Robert Louis Stevenson are his masterpieces of adventure. Of all his works these are by far the most popular and have, therefore, been included in one volume that will be eagerly read.

TREASURE ISLAND Probably no book ever written by Stevenson has had such widespread popularity. It is a thrilling tale of pirates, written in the finest English and a story that you cannot leave until you finish.

KIDNAPPED In his own opinion this was Stevenson's best work; and it is generally regarded as one of his finest performances in romantic story-telling.

EIGHT COLORED ILLUSTRATIONS

This volume is printed on extra quality, smooth finish paper from larger, clearer type than any edition of Stevenson published. The volume comprises 652 pages and eight (8) colored plates and twenty (20) black and white illustrations drawn by Frank Godwin. The cover is beautifully stamped in gold, with an attractive colored inlay. Octavo. Extra Cloth. 652 pages. Illustrated. Boxed. Price $2.50

DICTIONARIES

THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARIES

The Winston Simplified Dictionary is published in three school editions: the Advanced, the Intermediate, and the Primary. No edition is an abridgment of another, but each is a new and original work designed especially for school or college use. The Advanced Edition is edited by William Dodge Lewis, A.M., Pd.D., formerly Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania, Henry Seidel Canby, Ph.D., Department of English, Yale University, and Editor of The Saturday Review of Literature, and Thomas Kite Brown, Jr., Ph.D., philologist and lexicographer. The Intermediate and Primary Editions are edited by Dr. Lewis and Edgar A. Singer, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy, University of Pennsylvania. The principles on which the three editions of The Winston Simplified Dictionary have been built are essentially the same for each edition. The Advanced Edition contains more words than either of the other editions, it is more fully illustrated, and has features required of a dictionary for high school or college use. In all essential respects the Primary Edition is similar to the Intermediate Edition, but is condensed to meet the demand for a lower priced book with smaller vocabulary for younger pupils. Each edition, however, has certain cardinal principles which are exclusive with The Winston Simplified Dictionary, such features as large, clear type, complete, simple definitions, pictorial and verbal illustrations, phonetic respelling and diacritical markings for pronunciation, and so on.

The Winston Simplified Dictionary Advanced Edition $2.64
With Patent Thumb Index 2.88
Exhaustive vocabulary, 3000 black and white illustrations, 24-full-page illustrations in color, of which 16 are maps.

The Winston Simplified Dictionary Encyclopedic Edition
Identical with the Advanced Edition in vocabulary and definitions. The Appendix of the Encyclopedic Edition contains additional material—32 pages of maps in color, gazetteer of 10,000 places, etc.

No. 1 Library Buckram $5.00
Thin Paper Editions
No. 5 Art Kraft 5.00
No. 7 Persian Morocco, limp, gold edges 7.50
No. 9 Red Turkey Morocco, limp, gold edges 10.00

own strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

PSALM 22.

1 David prays in great distress: 21 he promises public thanksgiving and praise.

To the chief Musician upon Aij'e-lĕth Shā'hăr, A Psalm of Dā'vid.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent.

3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabitest the praises of Is'ra-el.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.

5 They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people.

7 All they that see me laugh me to scorn: they shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying,

8 He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him.

9 But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother's breasts.

10 I was cast upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mother's belly.

11 Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.

12 Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bā'shăn have beset me round.

13 They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.

16 For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.

17 I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.

19 But be not thou far from me, O LORD: O my strength, haste thee to help me.

20 Deliver my soul from the sword; my darling from the power of the dog.

21 Save me from the lion's mouth: for thou hast heard me from the horns of the unicorns.

22 I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midst of the congregation will I praise thee.

23 Ye that fear the LORD, praise him; all ye the seed of Jā'cob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Is'ra-el.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him, he heard.

25 My praise shall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.

26 The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the LORD that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.

27 All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

28 For the kingdom is the LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the Lord for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

PSALM 23.

David's confidence in God's grace.

A Psalm of Dā'vid.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

PSALM 24.

1 God's lordship over the world: 3 citizens of his spiritual kingdom. 7 The Lord's solemn entrance into his sanctuary.

A Psalm of Dā'vid.

THE earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

CHAPTER 1.

1 The genealogy of Jesus Christ: 18 Mary's miraculous conception; Jesus is born: 21, 23 his names.

THE book of the generation of Jē'sus Christ, the son of Dā'vid, the son of ă'bra-hăm.

2 ă'bra-hăm begat I'saac; and I'saac begat Jā'cob; and Jā'cob begat Jū'das and his brethren;

3 And Jū'das begat Phā'rēs and Zā'rā of Thā'mar; and Phā'rēs begat Ĕs'rom; and Ĕs'rom begat ă'răm;

4 And ă'răm begat A-mĭn'a-dăb; and A-mĭn'a-dăb begat Nā'as-son; and Nā'as-son begat Săl'mŏn;

5 And Săl'mŏn begat Bŏ'ŏz of Rā'chăb; and Bŏ'ŏz begat ō'bed of Ruth; and ō'bed begat Jĕs'se;

6 And Jĕs'se begat Dā'vid the king; and Dā'vid the king begat Sŏl'o-mon was on this wise: When as his mother Mā'rў was espoused to Jō'seph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Hō'lў Ghōst.

19 Then Jō'seph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily.

20 But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Jō'seph, thou son of Dā'vid, fear not to take unto thee Mā'rў thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Hō'lў Ghōst.

21 And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JE'SUS: for he shall save his people from their sins.

22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken

20 And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.
21 And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, Jămes the son of Zĕb'e-dee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zĕb'e-dee their father, mending their nets; and he called them.
22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.
23 ¶And Jē'sus went about all Găl'i-lee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.
24 And his fame went throughout all Sȳr'i-a: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.
25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Găl'i-lee, and from Dĕ-căp'o-lis, and from Jē-ru'sā-lĕm, and from Jū-dæ'ā, and from beyond Jor'dan.

CHAPTER 5.

3 Who are blessed. 13 The disciples called the salt of the earth, and light of the world: Christ urgeth on them a good example, etc.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:
2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,
3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.
10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.
12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.
13 ¶Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.
14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.
15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.
16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.
17 ¶Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.
18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.
19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.
20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Phăr'i-sees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.
21 ¶Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:
22 But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Rā'cā, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.
23 Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee;

6 CHAPTER 6

1 Sermon on the mount continued. 24 Serving God and mammon. 25 Exhortation to care little for worldly things. 33 Seeking the kingdom of God.

TAKE heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:

4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.

5 ¶ And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

11 Give us this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. A-mĕn'.

14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:

15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

16 ¶ Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

17 But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face;

18 That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:

20 But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.

23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!

24 ¶ No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

25 Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?

26 Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?

28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the LORD for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

501 PSALM 23

David's confidence in the grace of God.

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

502 PSALM 24

The citizens of God's spiritual kingdom.

A Psalm of David.

THE earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?

4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jā'cob. Sē'lah.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Sē'lah.

PSALM 25 503

1 David's trust in prayer. 7 Prayer for remission of sins.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

2 O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.

3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.

4 Shew me thy ways, O LORD; teach me thy paths.

5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy lovingkindnesses; for they have been ever of old.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.

459 CHAPTER 23.

THEN Jōb answered and said,
2 Even to day is my complaint bitter: my stroke is heavier than my groaning.
3 Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!
4 I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words which he would answer me, and understand what he would say unto me.
6 Will he plead against me with his great power? No; but he would put strength in me.
7 There the righteous might dispute with him; so should I be delivered for ever from my judge.
8 Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannnot perceive him:
9 On the left hand, where he doth work, but I cannot behold him: he hideth himself on the right hand, that I cannot see him:
10 But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold.
11 My foot hath held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined.
12 Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.
13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth.
14 For he performeth the thing that is appointed for me: and many such things are with him.
15 Therefore am I troubled at his presence: when I consider, I am afraid of him.
16 For God maketh my heart soft, and the Almighty troubleth me:
17 Because I was not cut off before the darkness, neither hath he covered the darkness from my face.

460 CHAPTER 24.

WHY, seeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not see his days?
2 Some remove the landmarks; they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof.
3 They drive away the ass of the fatherless, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.
4 They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themselves together.
5 Behold, as wild asses in the desert, go they forth to their work; rising betimes for a prey: the wilderness yieldeth food for them and for their children.
6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.
7 They cause the naked to lodge without clothing, that they have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the showers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a shelter.
9 They pluck the fatherless from the breast, and take a pledge of the poor.
10 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the sheaf from the hungry;
11 Which make oil within their walls, and tread their winepresses, and suffer thirst.
12 Men groan from out of the city, and the soul of the wounded crieth out: yet God layeth not folly to them.
13 They are of those that rebel against the light; they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof.
14 The murderer rising with the light killeth the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief.
15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face.
16 In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light.
17 For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.
18 He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards.
19 Drought and heat consume the snow waters; so doth the grave those which have sinned.
20 The womb shall forget him; the worm shall feed sweetly on him; he shall be no more remembered; and wickedness shall be broken as a tree.
21 He evil entreateth the barren that beareth not, and doeth not good to the widow.
22 He draweth also the mighty with his power: he riseth up, and no man is sure of life.
23 Though it be given him to be in safety, whereon he resteth; yet his eyes are upon their ways.
24 They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.
25 And if it be not so now, who will make me a liar, and make my speech nothing worth?

CHAPTER 25. 461

THEN answered Bĭl'dăd the Shu'hīte, and said,
2 Dominion and fear are with him: he maketh peace in his high places.
3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light arise?

10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

11 Wherefore the LORD said unto Sŏl'o-mon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

31 It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:
32 But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.
33 ¶ Again, ye have heard that it hath been said by them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:
34 But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne:
35 Nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; for it is the city of the great King.
36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.
37 But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil.
38 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:
39 But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.
40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke also.
41 And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.
42 Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.
43 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.
44 But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;
45 That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.
46 For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?
47 And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?
48 Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

CHAPTER 6.

1 Sermon on the mount continued. 24 Serving God and mammon. 25 Exhortation to care little for worldly things. 33 Seeking the kingdom of God.

TAKE heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.
2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:
4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.
5 ¶ And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.
7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.
8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.
9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.
11 Give us this day our daily bread.
12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.
13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Ā-mĕn'.
14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:
15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.
16 ¶ Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their

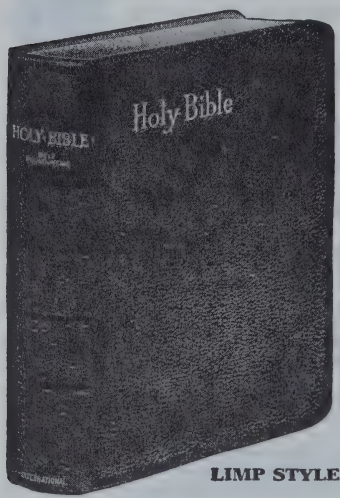
A HAND BIBLE, WITH THE LARGE, CLEAR, EASILY READ TYPE OF A PULPIT BIBLE



LIMP STYLE

"What beautiful type" is the expression that is heard when you open the Perfection Type Bible. It is a surprise to Bible readers because it reveals to them what they have long sought and never before found — larger, clearer, blacker face type in a smaller, thinner, lighter weight self-pronouncing Bible than has heretofore been published.

THE HIGHEST ACHIEVEMENT IN BIBLE-MAKING

While type is the first consideration in the making of this Bible and the first consideration of the Bible user in the selection of a Bible, other features have been incorporated in the Perfection Type Bible to make it more readable and more usable.

1 The text is self-pronouncing.

2 Names of the Books of the Bible on outside margins.

This facilitates the finding of the Books of the Bible by merely flirting the corners of the book.

3 Chapters Numbered in Arabic and also Numbered Consecutively.

The numbering of chapters in Arabic numerals is much preferred today to the old-fashioned form of printing the chapter heads in Roman numerals.

FOR PULPIT AND LECTERN, FOR SCHOOL READING DESK AND LODGE ALTAR. The small light weight Bible with its large type specially adapts the Perfection Type Bible to every use where a large, clear type is desirable. Also issued in styles fitted for every use.

FOR THE HOME, FOR AGED PERSONS OR THOSE WITH IMPAIRED EYESIGHT. The Perfection Type Bible is especially adapted for home devotional reading.

A TRIUMPH OF THE GRAPHIC ARTS

The selection of type and the size of the type page for the PERFECTION TYPE BIBLE was made after a careful study by leading typographical experts. Certain changes in type forms were suggested and the necessary special casting matrices were made to carry out these suggestions. The type was molded and set in the Winston plant, where the subsequent processes of manufacture, including the printing and binding, were also completed. Special paper of light weight and unusual opacity was made especially for the Bible and even special ink was manufactured and used to produce a sharp, clear, black impression on the page without the ink striking through.

BEAUTIFUL BINDINGS

The Bible is issued in the superior flexible bindings for which Winston "International" Bibles are well known, and also in other bindings to best fit the many purposes for which the Bible will be used.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED GENESIS

CHAPTER 1

1 The creation of heaven and earth. 26 Man is made in the image of God.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 ¶ And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 ¶ And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.

9 ¶ And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

11 And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth.

18 And to rule over the day and and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.
24 ¶ Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock:
25 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock.
26 And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand:
27 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.
28 And it came to pass, when Jē'şus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine:
29 For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

8 CHAPTER 8

1 The leper. 5 The centurion. 23 Calming of the winds. 28 Devils possess two men. 31 Leaving the men, they are suffered to go into the swine.

WHEN he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him.
2 And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.
3 And Jē'şus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.
4 And Jē'şus saith unto him, See thou tell no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Mō'şes commanded, for a testimony unto them.
5 ¶ And when Jē'şus was entered into Cā-pēr'na-ŭm, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him,
6 And saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.
7 And Jē'şus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.
8 The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed.
9 For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.
10 When Jē'şus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Ĭş'ra-el.
11 And I say unto you, That many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Ā'brā-hăm, and Ī'şaac, and Jā'cob, in the kingdom of heaven.
12 But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.
13 And Jē'şus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour.
14 ¶ And when Jē'şus was come into Pē'tēr's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever.
15 And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.
16 ¶ When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick:
17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Ē-şā'ias the prophet, saying, Himself took

30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather [u]the wheat into my barn.

31 ¶Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, [v]The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field:

32 Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof.

33 ¶Another [w]parable spake he unto them; The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three [1]measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.

34 All these things spake Jē'sus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them:

35 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, [x]I will open my mouth in parables; [y]I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 ¶Then Jē'sus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field.

37 He answered and said unto them, He that [z]soweth the good seed is the Son of man;

38 The [a]field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are [b]the children of the wicked one;

39 The enemy that sowed them is the devil; [c]the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels.

40 As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Son of man shall send forth his angels, [d]and they shall gather out of his kingdom all [2]things that offend, and them which do iniquity;

42 And [e]shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 Then [f]shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

44 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and [g]selleth all that he hath, and [h]buyeth that field.

45 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls:

46 Who, when he had found [i]one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered [j]of every kind:

48 Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just,

50 And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 Jē'sus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure [k]things new and old.

53 ¶And it came to pass, that when Jē'sus had finished these parables, he departed thence.

54 And [l]when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?

55 Is [m]not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Mā'rў? and his [n]brethren, [o]Jāmes, and Jō'sēs, and Sī'mon, and Jū'das?

56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things?

57 And they [p]were offended in him. But Jē'sus said unto them, A [q]prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house.

58 And [r]he did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

A BIBLE THAT EMPHASIZES CHRIST

The Old Testament, in types and prophecies, prefigured and foretold His coming. Christ, himself, endorsed and set His seal upon the Old Testament by continually referring to it and quoting from it. And He commanded us to "Search the Scriptures," for He said, "they testify of me." But how hard it is for the average reader to take the Bible and read it and know what refers to Christ. To such a reader the Red Letter Bible is a great help and benefit.

In this Red Letter Bible eminent scholars have carefully gone through and marked all those passages that point to Christ and all those passages that Jesus himself quoted. In this volume all those passages and all the words of Jesus are printed in red ink.

ST. MATTHEW. Parable of the talents. [64]

thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.

24 Then he which had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art an hard man, reaping where thou hast not sown, and gathering where thou hast not strawed:

25 And I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, there thou hast that is thine.

26 His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strawed:

27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents.

29 For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.

30 And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 ¶ When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory:

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats:

33 And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

35 For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:

36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

THE name "THE WOMANS PRESS" is used to designate both the book publishing house of the national organization of the Young Women's Christian Associations of the United States and the national monthly magazine of the Association. The name and device were formally adopted for the publications department in January, 1918, at which time the magazine, then called The Association Monthly, began its twelfth volume in a new and enlarged form. Later on, in order to indicate the widening of its scope into more general realms of women's interests, the magazine also adopted the name THE WOMANS PRESS.

This catalogue is divided into four main sections: Books of General Interest, Plays and Pageants, Program Series, Technical Publications and Supplies. A title index will be found on page 4 and a classified index on page 77.

CLASSIFIED INDEX—GENERAL 77
CLASSIFIED INDEX—PLAYS AND PAGEANTS 35

Books of General Interest

ALIEN REGISTRATION (Inquiry) 30 cents

The present keen interest in the immigration question will make of especial value this discussion of the proposed bill for compulsory registration of aliens.

It plans to have the group face squarely the situation as it is, the interests which seem in favor and those which are against the bill, and the practical issues involved. It offers a chance for the private citizen to understand something of the way legislation works, to find out where he stands and why, and to discover ways of putting the group conclusions into some sort of practical concrete action—a chance to do real law-making.

ALL COLORS (Inquiry) $1.00

A group of intelligent women, anxious to be honest with themselves and with others, look into the matter of race friction, of jealousies between Americans of diverse national origins, of difficulties that different groups have in understanding each other. This study outline had its origin in a number of such discussions—among college girls, among women in professions and in business, among mothers and teachers. It attempts to get back from the broader scientific and ethical aspects of the matter to the concrete difficulties in personal behavior and in neighborhood life.

ALL NIGHT WITH THE STARS

By Louise Brown 30 cents

A tiny book to take on overnight hikes. It weighs nothing and slips easily into a pocket or camp kit and adds still another joy to sleeping out of doors.

AMERICAN INDIANS AND THEIR MUSIC, THE

By Frances Densmore $2.50

An excellent and interesting resource on Indian history, customs, and music, designed to assist an acquaintance with the American Indian. Recommended for the musician, historian, or the club worker who is looking for a comprehensive yet simple primer in the study of Indian lore. The book contains the music of eight Indian songs.

AND WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR? (Inquiry)

Paper, 75c.; cloth, $1.00

For discussion groups studying interracial questions. Written not to find solutions, but to set forth the problems for discussion, to the end that some of the consequences of different social arrangements and actions may be more clearly understood.

ARE THERE TOO MANY CHURCHES IN OUR TOWN? (Inquiry)
Paper, 75c.; cloth, $1.00

An outline for the realistic discussion of church cooperation in the local community.

ASCENDING LIFE, THE
By Richard Roberts — 75 cents

"The secret of Dr. Roberts' translucent style is that he has something new to say and passionately desires to communicate it. To the many recent interpretations of the last period of Jesus' life he has added one in which those moments are singled out that have most significance for the present day."—The Survey.

ASSOCIATION HYMNAL, THE
Single copies, paper 75 cents; cloth 90 cents. In lots of 25 or more, 50 cents in paper; 65 cents in cloth.

A collection of those hymns that have proved most helpful and inspiring. A clergyman at one of the summer conferences pronounced this the best small hymnal he had ever seen.

BESIDE OUR CAMPFIRES
By Suzanne Weddell — $1.25

A book written especially for girls and advisers of girls. Each week's campfire service centers around one outstanding woman and each evening's talk sets forth those qualities which gave her life special significance.

BLESSED JOAN OF ARC (English Importation)
By A. Maude Royden — $1.00

A brief history, in 136 small pages, of her whom Miss Royden calls "of all the saints . . . one of the easiest to know," and whom, she might have added, to know is to love. Miss Royden has added an "Epilogue"—a little sermon of her own to us of the present day. Joan, so the old chronicles say, acted "with power." So may we today, with that same power, "mold the civilization of the future and build the city of God."

BOOK OF PRAYERS WRITTEN FOR USE IN AN INDIAN COLLEGE (English Importation)
By J. S. Hoyland — 75 cents

Written to express "the searchings after God" of men belonging to differing religious systems. The petitions and thanksgivings range from the little things of everyday living to the great crises of life.

BOOK OF SERVICES FOR GROUP WORSHIP, A
Price to be announced.

Compiled from many sources, here are services for certain days of the year, for special occasions, and upon special subjects. A New Year's service, a service for Lincoln's Birthday, All Saints' Day; a service for the dedication of a building, for the close of a conference, for the beginning of a meeting; silence, music, consecration for work—these are a few of the titles and topics. Most of the services are brief, for the opening or closing of a meeting; many may be used for vespers or even for Sunday morning worship by the addition of an address, another hymn or prayer. This, with Ruth Perkins' Planning Services of Worship to assist in the right adjustment of the "mechanics" to the subject, and Fellowship Prayers, will form a "library of worship" worth owning.

BUSINESS AND IDEALS (Inquiry)

Paper, 75c.; cloth, $1.25

A syllabus of discussion outlines for groups of business employees.

This is the most recent tool offered to groups who would explore their work situations, and meets a long-felt need of the business woman.

CAFETERIA RECIPES

By Mabel E. Schadt $2.50

Recipes in three proportions for cafeterias, schools and institutions.

A new departure in a usable cook book for cafeteria directors. With each book comes a pad of duplicate pages ready to be taken out as the director desires and given to the cook. Additional pads can also be purchased. Saves hours of time in copying recipes.

"A welcome and exceedingly valuable addition to the extremely limited literature of quantity cookery."—Restaurant and Tea Room Journal.

"Looking at the book from its organization standpoint, I immediately appreciated the three-proportion arrangement and the duplicate pad material. I hope the time will come when all cook books will be set up in this form. Miss Schadt has made a distinct contribution along this line."—Office of Research in Household Art Education, Teachers College.

CAN WE SET THE WORLD IN ORDER? (English Importation)

By A. Maude Royden 35 cents

In this series of four talks Miss Royden expresses the need for a spiritual awakening, not merely an emotional awakening, but an awakening of the mind in its search for the truth about this universe and its relation to God.

CEREMONIALS OF COMMON DAYS

By Abbie Graham $1.50

Christmas Eve—New Year's Eve—On the Eve of Being Bored—these are the titles, respectively, of the first three ceremonials. The author prescribes definite ritualistic observances for each of these occasions and for many others besides. One sentence from the book shows the happy mood in which she has approached her "common days": "The list below of the things I would take to heaven with me is quite incomplete, for I have not yet had leisure to love everything."

A book to be bought in "pairs," one to keep and one to give to the friend most imaginatively akin to oneself. Most attractively bound and printed.

CHARM BY CHOICE

By Ruth F. Wadsworth, M.D. $1.00

In these days no one need be apologetic about taking an interest in the subject of charm. The conception of a charming woman has changed so radically that the descriptions of yesterday's ladies in the fiction of the nineteenth century make us laugh. Charm is no longer a matter of merely physical beauty. It is not an accident of birth, nor a gift of God, but a quality that is the result of thought and training and constant care. Dr. Wadsworth treats the subject with humor and common sense.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP FOR GIRLS

By Helen Thoburn 50 cents

A girl in her home, her work, her worship, her recreation, with her friends. A book for individual reading or group discussion—for girls who care about being good members of "the kingdom of friendly citizens."

Suggestions to Leaders is an outline which the leader of the group will find suggestive in bringing out the value of the lessons. 10 cents.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE RACE PROBLEM (C. C. A.)

By J. H. Oldham $1.00

More and more are such books as these seeking to have people face honestly such present problems as the race question, in the light of those Christian ideals which they hold. Very usable book for study groups, particularly for students.

CHRISTIANIZING COMMUNITY LIFE

By Harry F. Ward and Richard H. Edwards 50 cents

A survey of our community life today and a study of the principles on which Christ founded his Kingdom. How far will community life today fit on that foundation and how must it be changed—since the foundation cannot be?

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND RACE RELATIONS (C. C. A.)
35 cents

A discussion course especially for students on the application of the principles of Jesus to present-day human situations. Beginning with a careful study of the nature and scope of the problem and the principles laid down in the gospels which bear directly on this, the discussions go on to study the race situation in the South from the angles of background, education, economics and citizenship.

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND THE PROBLEMS OF THE PACIFIC (C. C. A.) 50 cents

A discussion outline for college groups.

A most timely study in view of the conditions in China at present. The six chapters cover the problems of population and migration, the industrialization of the Orient, the problems of China and the Philippines and an effort to understand Japan. The concluding chapter discusses what students can do and gives an excellent suggestive bibliography.

CHRIST IN THE POETRY OF TODAY

Compiled and reassembled by Elvira Slack $2.50

Here, in exceedingly attractive format, is the third revision of the anthology originated ten years ago by Martha Foote Crow. The preface states: "The choice differs from the former volumes in that the range of verse has been widened to include not only poetry directly inspired by the biblical record of events, but verse that represents indirectly the influence of the ideals and nature of Jesus on this generation. . . . We must look into more than the verse that is woven out of the ancient gospel pattern of events. Our own response in action to his ways of viewing life should contain an even more delicate portraiture of Him."

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR SONGS

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES 75 cents

In its gay cover of holly and gold this delightful collection makes a charming Christmas gift. Songs for the Christmas season which are new to most of us, though in the countries of their birth they have been loved and sung for generations.

CLARISSA HALE SPENCER (English Importation) 50 cents

The biography of a woman who lived almost equally in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, a fact symbolic of her attitude toward old and new. Miss Spencer was a secretary of the Y.W.C.A. for twenty-five years, being general secretary of the World's Y.W.C.A. from 1904 to 1920. In that capacity her life touched the people of many nations.

COMMONPLACE BOOKS, THE Each $1.00

Gaily bound and glorified blank books, ready to receive any sort of personal impressions, from poetry to household recipes and even accounts. They provide a common place for the filing and preservation of all those loose clippings which clutter our pocketbooks, our bureau drawers and the corners of our desks.

COMMUNITY CONFLICT (Inquiry) $1.50

This book will aid you and your neighbors to recognize the essential issues and to discover, from the analysis of the experience of other communities, how the emotional energy behind the conflict in your community may be turned to new and more fruitful activities.

(As this is a continuing study, other people will be aided if you will send The Inquiry an account of how you are dealing with the differences in your community.)

COOPERATIVE TECHNIQUE FOR CONFLICT, A (Inquiry) 20 cents

Of the greatest possible help to clubs and classes interested in discussion of present-day problems. It lights up the whole question of what results one should expect from a discussion and how to ensure that any decisions shall be really group decisions.

COURAGE

By Jeannette Marks $1.00

"There are gray angels in the life of every one of us," says the author of this book. "Those angels come in the form of drudgery that must be done, hardship or difficulties that must be endured, danger that must be steadily met." How to accept the inevitable "gray angels" and convert them into material for the steady-glowing flame of spiritual courage which is bound up with all the valuable things of life—happiness, and friendship, and professional or business success, and balanced idealism—is told in a series of interestingly written essays. The fact that each essay is prefaced by a poem makes the book even more attractive.

CREATIVE DISCUSSION (Inquiry) Each 50 cents; 12 for $5.00

Many leaders ask how to keep group discussion from deteriorating into aimless talk. Here is a clear, untechnical guide to help you "get somewhere." This pamphlet puts the leader and group members at the heart of learning as a democratic process. It shows in sharp outline the principles by which any average group can open up an issue in ways to assure an orderly and searching procedure.

CRUCIFIERS, THE

By Lyman Abbott 75 cents

Six brief chapters in a small book with gray-blue binding—and Dr. Abbott, the well-beloved, talking to us in his own informal, friendly, meditative fashion on such subjects as "The Institutions of Irreligion," "The Wordly Minded Church Member," "The Ambitious Ecclesiastic," all of whom, he says, were concerned in the crucifixion, and who, he adds, are still active today.

DEVICE BOOK FOR INTERPRETING LATIN AMERICA, A

75 cents

Since Mr. Hoover visited South America and Colonel Lindbergh made his flight through Central America and the Caribbean area, everyone has been interested in Latin America. The "Device Book" is a timely offering of suggestions for use by clubs of Girl Reserves, business and professional and industrial women, interest and discussion groups, committee and boards—in short for anyone who wants to get up to date on one of the major interests now before this country. There is a device for every age and every taste. Device I is a primer for grown-ups and granddaughters; there are discussion, dramatic and dance devices; mental tests and mental games; and bibliographies to tell you where to get the necessary material for every device.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By Jean Rich (Helen Thompson) $1.00

A compact little handbook for the girl who wishes to "arrive." Full of hints as to the best way to make one's language, one's manner, one's attitude and one's clothes, all point the way to success.

ENGLISH-CLASS PLAYS FOR NEW AMERICANS

By Emily M. Gibson — $1.50

This book has come directly out of the author's work with foreign-born groups. In itself it constitutes a small resource library, for in addition to the plays themselves it sets forth the value of drama in immigrant education and in promoting understanding between native and foreign-born; also the technique of producing plays with foreign-born adults who are learning English. In her discussion of this technique the author goes very fully into all the problems of language difficulties, costuming, stage setting. There is also included in the book a bibliography of play and pageant production. This bibliography and the clear notes upon play production as well as the general dramatic merit of the plays themselves make the book useful to any play group, in schools or elsewhere.

FEET AND SHOES

By Jane Bellows — 75 cents

The purpose of this book is to guide those who are giving foot and posture demonstrations and to give helpful information to mothers of young children, business girls and women. So far, no health rules or codes have dealt specifically with feet. The percentage of children and mothers cognizant of faulty foot conditions is very small. Feet, good and bad, shoes that help and shoes that harm, are described and illustrated in this book. It also gives many exercises to strengthen muscles and correct faults.

FELLOWSHIP PRAYERS — $1.00

The 1928 edition, printed on thin paper so that it is easily carried in one's pocket or pocketbook. Many of the well-beloved prayers have been retained, and many new and beautiful ones have taken the place of those omitted because they seemed to duplicate others or can be found in many other collections. The division into sections makes it easy to find the prayers appropriate to any occasion, and a contents-index of first lines helps to locate a prayer half-recalled.

FIFTY YEARS OF ASSOCIATION WORK AMONG YOUNG WOMEN

By Elizabeth Wilson — $1.50

The history of the Young Women's Christian Association in the United States of America from 1866 to 1916.

FLORENCE SIMMS

By Richard Roberts — $1.50

This is more than a biography. It is the story of how a woman of rare mind and spirit became identified with one of the most important developments in the life of the last half-century—the awakened social conscience in religion. It is an inspiring book to read, and almost a handbook for workers in the field of social work, dealing as it does with pioneer efforts to bring Christian women into an organized movement for social betterment.

FOLK FESTIVALS AND THE FOREIGN COMMUNITY

By Dorothy Gladys Spicer — $1.00

The author speaks from study of and experience with the people themselves, in their own countries of Europe and in their nationality settlements in this country. She gives the methods which she has used and found successful in building up folk festivals, and then works out four such festivals, one for each season.

"A good handbook in the hand of any instructor and worker among Americans. For it is a fact that our Americans do not know how to play as the peasants of Europe do."

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES 75 cents

"The glory of Poland is in its music. It is just as necessary to the daily life of the pedlar, the goose girl, the wandering violinist, the tailor, the blacksmith, and the children as is the bread they eat. Civilization may in time do away with the simpler arts of men, but the spirit of these songs will live on."—From the foreword by Eric P. Kelly.

FOOD CHARTS—12 in set $1.00

Twelve delightful posters 10" by 14" in color.

There is, to begin with, a picture of the food family. Brother Protein, looking strangely like an amiable egg, heads the list. Big Brother Fat sticks his head out of a pound of butter and the Carbohydrate Twins—Potato and Striped Stick-Candy—hang together. They are given first place, as is due the old settlers, but all the others are fully recognized. Another chart is entitled "Keeping Your House in Order." Cheese the Carpenter, Life-Saver Lettuce, Furnace Stoker Fat, Spinach the Plumber, Water the Superintendent, and the Athletic Potato all cooperate to do the body's work.

FOOD FOR THE BODY AND FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By Lucy Marvin Adams 75 cents

Capital for the physical director in teaching ideas of intelligent eating. Dr. Josephine Kenyon says, "For so short a book it is the most accurate and practical that I have seen."

This by no means aims to be a technical treatise. It is that much rarer thing, a practical, stimulating little outline that the physical director or any individual can use in the selection of a well-balanced diet. Popularly written, with amusing illustrations, it gets over its point with ease.

"I am giving health instruction to my teachers and find your book most valuable in preparing my work. It is the best book of the kind I have seen, and I have looked over many."—Louise C. Wright, Assistant Supervisor of Physical Education, Board of Education, Cleveland, Ohio.

FUNDAMENTALS FOR DAILY LIVING

By Robert Seneca Smith — Paper, $1.00; cloth, $1.50

Its object is altogether practical—to point out the relation between faith and life. "Life," says the author, "is a living reality, an individual achievement." Hence his object is never to define or limit the religious thinking of his readers but to help each find for himself certain convictions which are fundamental.

The book is arranged for use in personal daily Bible study and may also be used for group study and discussion.

FUNDS AND FRIENDS

By Tolman Lee — $1.50

A reviewer says that this book "should be read by the man who has the wherewithal to give, by him who gives of his time, by the one actually directing the work and by those whose duty it is to raise funds.

"While directed primarily towards the needs of canvassers, committee and organizing leaders in social work, the book could be used advantageously by leaders of religious work, particularly in the pastorate. The first half contains much material for the actual canvasser. The chapters on meeting objections are also good for campaign committees."

GEARING IN FOR COMMON TASKS (Inquiry) — 20 cents

In many communities, especially where questions arise about the Community Chest, leaders in social work have awaited a clean-cut, cooperative analysis of the task before the social agencies. When every cog is geared in, the social machinery of the community moves smoothly.

GRACE H. DODGE: MERCHANT OF DREAMS

The life of "one of the greatest least-known women" written in Miss Graham's delightful way. The author has written with insight and sympathy of this remarkable woman, of whom it was said by no less a judge of business than the late J. Pierpont Morgan that "she had the finest business brain in the United States, not excepting that of any man."

"Possibly the most interesting and significant phase of Miss Graham's biography is her account of how young Grace Dodge tackled this problem of finding work that would be of consequence, and how she grew as the tasks developed or she found new ones until she became, as the title so aptly describes her, 'a merchant of dreams,' visioning and putting through to success one big enterprise after another."—New York Times.

The final chapter—Letters—shows her as the friend, the title which she would above all others prefer to have associated with herself.

MAGIC CASEMENTS

By Ruth Perkins — $1.50

An enchanting guidebook through the mazes of program making. It calls itself a chronicle rather than a handbook, written as it is out of many a counselor's experience in working out a program which shall open magic casements in the experience of every girl.

It takes its title from an article by E. Merrill Root, who urges the need of the adventurous in life. Man, he feels, "has a quaint passion for dragons; he feels a divine despair for unicorns; he longs for 'magic casements opening on the foam.'"

And in this chronicle of camp programs we find described in detail three or four full programs which one camp wrought out of just these subconscious desires for the poetry and picturesqueness of life.

"But," she says, "the world was not yet done with me." The secularizing influence of Montgomery Ward's counteracted the ascetic tendencies of early youth. Those who have enjoyed the humor, wisdom and penetrating common sense of "Ceremonials of Common Days" will want this book also.

WHAT MAKES UP MY MIND ON INTERNATIONAL QUESTIONS (Inquiry) — 75 cents

This takes international affairs out of the list of rather dry subjects to be studied as a matter of duty and brings them home to everyday folk. Instead of talking in terms that only an expert can understand, it asks one to think of the part played in "making up one's mind" by the history studied in public school, by the foreign-born people in one's own community, by the yarns heard during the war, by the newspaper read every morning.

With the aid of many concrete examples it helps a person to discover how he really got his present opinions.

By Zelah Heinbaugh — 75 cents

After a general survey of accumulating experience as background, this pamphlet takes up in the first section the question of how to begin such a study, how to follow it through.

The second section studies first the program—what it is, where it comes from, what makes it satisfactory; and second, the "watch for development" method of working out the program. Specific illustrations make the study illuminating and helpful.

Adventure in Friendship, An

Everygirl
Glory of the Task, The

Descriptions of Plays and Pageants

Above All Else, Liberty

By Georgia Stenger . . . . . 50 cents

3 girls, 7 boys, and supernumeraries. 3 scenes and an interlude.

Unites the great speeches of Patrick Henry into a romantic incident. Colonial Virginia. Both settings and costumes give opportunity for charming effects, and there is a chance for some good oratorical ability to display itself in the speeches of Patrick Henry (although these are sufficiently curtailed not to break the continuity of the play).

Adventure in Friendship, An

By Barbara Abel . . . . . 50 cents

6 principal characters and as many club girls and Girl Reserves as desired. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A girl's room.

An entertaining one-act play about a girl who learned that she could not forget the girls of other countries and about what happened when she learned it. An unusual presentation of world fellowship. Bissell Poster (girl with the globes) for use in this play, 25 cents.

Alice in Wonderland

By May E. Phipps and Marjorie Van Horn $1.00

Royalty $1.00 for each performance. 10 principal characters, and groups of children for flowers, dances, etc. Time: One to one and a half hours. One outdoor setting is used throughout.

This operetta is the best dramatization of Lewis Carroll's famous book that we know. Full costuming and producing directions are given; music is included. Although this is intended primarily for children, grown-ups will re-experience all the fresh delight of their first youthful plunge through the rabbit hole.

Among the Fairies

By Adele M. Allmann . . . . . 50 cents

32 or more children. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: A garden in which huge artificial flowers grow. Indoor stage preferable.

An attractive, simple operetta for younger children, introducing dancing, a few speaking parts, and pretty costumes. Fairies, elves and mortals take part.

Amos

Written and produced by students in the University of Oklahoma under the direction of Mary DeBardeleben . . . . . 50 cents

9 men, 2 women, people for the mob, etc. Time: about 35 minutes. Outdoor settings.

The fiery hero of the Old Testament, Amos, is made to live vividly before us through an incident that gives a brief yet dramatic glimpse into one of the times of tense national struggle within the Hebrew nation.

And Who Can This Spirit Be?
By Emma Mauritz Larson — 50 cents

Royalty $1.00 for each performance. 3 principal characters and 40 or more girls. Time: Plays a full evening. Setting: Easily improvised.

This presentation of the scope and spirit of the Y.W.C.A. introduces Negro, Indian, immigrant, foreign, college, industrial, and country girls, the mysterious Spirit, and Two Curious Folk. Recommended for annual meetings, college budget weeks and such occasions.

At the Sign of the Boar's Head
By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

11 principal characters, guards and soldiers. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A room in a Revolutionary mansion, shifted to represent the interior of an inn.

A charming tale of love, loyalty and adventure, told in an enchanted hour when the great-great-grandfathers and grandmothers step out of their portraits into their stirring youth again. Spies, ghosts and witches add more interest to a costume play.

At the Turn of Tide
By Georgia Stenger — 50 cents

7 girls, 8 boys and a little boy for the speaking parts, and Indians, women, etc., for the extras. 3 acts. Setting: The Common House of the Pilgrims. Time: About one hour.

Marks the close of the era of distress and sickness of the Pilgrims. Colonial New England.

Beau and Belle
By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 1 man, 1 woman. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A garden.

A little dance-play in rhymed verse about an heiress who has refused offers of comfort, wealth and beauty. Care must be given to making the details perfect or the effect of a quaintly formal dialogue of Dresden china figurines will be lost. Popular for Saint Valentine's Day.

Bible Plays Out of the East
By Anna R. Kennedy — $1.00

Seven Bible plays that present, in appealing fashion, some of the less often dramatized portions of the New Testament. "The Virgin's Tree" is founded on the legend of the sycamore tree under the shadow of which the Holy Family is said to have rested on their flight into Egypt. "A Boy Finds the Kingdom" is the story of the lad with the loaves and fishes. The first scene of the play shows him at home on the morning of the eventful day, and the second scene depicts his homecoming in the evening. "Eastertide Tableaux," "The Women from Galilee" and "Easter Night" are especially for Easter use, and for Christmas there is a series of "Christmas Tableaux." The seventh is "Locusts and Wild Honey."

All of the plays are short, and not difficult to present. The author wrote them while she was working with boys and girls in the Near East, and they combine much beauty of word and feeling with great simplicity of costume and setting. These plays are excellent for high school, college, or church use.

Brightness of His Rising, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

About 21 characters. Prologue, 3 episodes. Time: About 45 minutes. Settings: A dusty roadside; heaven; a field in Judea; interior of the stable.

The historical setting into which Christ came is portrayed in a dramatic prologue. The first of the three episodes which follow gives the plea of Truth, Justice, and other spirits for relief for the Children of Men; the second episode shows Earth's preparation; and the last is the familiar nativity scene in the stable at Bethlehem.

Brown Bull of Norway, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

16 principal characters, attendants, heralds, servants, townspeople. Time: About 1 hour. Settings: The King's court; the Bull's palace; a heath upon which a hut stands; a town market-place in Norway.

This is a dramatization of an old Norse legend of an enchanted prince and a courageous princess who marries him in order to save her people. Very good for younger girls and boys.

Canton Pearls

By Jean Grigsby Paxton — 50 cents

7 characters. 3 acts. Settings: A room in a Chinese home; a girl's room at True Light School; a garden.

Fung Yan goes from her aristocratic Chinese home to the True Light School in Canton. She distrusts western civilization, and particularly the Christian religion. Time and association with the "foreign devils" change her opinion and she finally becomes a Christian. The contest of the old with the new is sympathetically portrayed.

Cat Fear

By Marion Norris Gleason — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00; to Association groups, $2.50. 2 women, 2 men, dancing maidens. Setting: A garden.

A fanciful Japanese comedy in pantomime with music. Not difficult to produce although it needs careful directing and rehearsing. Delightful to vary or lighten a program or as a curtain raiser.

Chalice and the Cup, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

2 principal characters; any number of girls; a choir. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A stage with dark hangings.

An Easter service suitable for any time during the Easter season. The church with her message of Christ's death and resurrection gives inspiration and responsibility to Association Spirit, who in turn passes it on to the girls of many lands. Any organization may use it by substituting another name for Association Spirit and making a few minor changes.

Christ Is Born in Bethlehem

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

16 characters and an angel chorus. 3 scenes. Settings: A stage with dark blue hangings, which, by raising and lowering the lights, may be made to represent a Judean hillside and a setting for the manger cradle.

A very beautiful nativity play introducing prophets, angels, shepherds and kings, with a chorus singing the familiar Christmas carols.

Christmas Book, A

By May E. Phipps and Marjorie Van Horn — 50 cents

17 principal characters; children for the bell dance and elf dance; fairies, toys, jumping-jacks, snowflakes, garland dancers, minuet dancers. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A living room the night before Christmas.

The Christmas book opens to the children, and for their delight, Santa Claus, the elves, the toys, Jack Frost and the snowflakes, troop out. Dancing, drills and songs are used. Good for school use.

Christmas Story, The

By Jane T. Miller — 50 cents

50 characters. 6 tableaus. Time: About an hour and a half. Settings: The wise men's desert camp; before the inn at Bethlehem; a hillside in Judea; the Sanhedrim; in Herod's court; in the stable at Bethlehem.

The text and description of Lew Wallace's Ben Hur have been used as the background for six tableaus which beautifully present the story of Christ's birth and the events immediately preceding and following it. The music of the old, well-known Christmas carols is well fitted to the text and atmosphere of the story.

Christmas Tree Bluebird, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

Royalty $1.00. 3 principal characters, club members, brownies, tenement children. Settings: A sitting room with a fireplace; a workshop; a shabby room.

A large cast, varying with available material. Time: An entire evening. Settings: 11 "big acts" made up of numerous stunts.

Efficient management and cooperation will produce an unusually entertaining performance. This has frequently been given by groups as a money-raising entertainment.

Conspiracy of Spring, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

Royalty $2.00. 18 little girls. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: Out of doors.

Appropriate for May Day or any spring festival. The Nature Sprites—robin, butterfiy, rivulet, blue sky, and dawn—and all the daisies, violets and roses struggle to win the Earth Mortal's homage to Spring. Not difficult.

Crowning of Spring, The

By Sara Kingsbury — 50 cents

8 principal characters. 3 acts. Time: Dependent upon length of dances. Settings: A lawn; a court before Winter's palace.

A pretty, imaginative spring play. A fairly large cast is needed to show the charming costuming to advantage and for the group dances. Spring and Winter vie for supremacy, the former winning after lesser defeats. Well adapted to school use.

Curious Herbal, The

By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

3 characters—2 men and 1 woman. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: An old Chelsea garden.

Clever Mrs. Blackwell visits an old Chelsea garden and persuades crotchety old Dr. Miller to do as she wishes and aid her husband. A fanciful piece in the rhymed verse of the 18th century stage.

Darkness and Dawn

By Frederica Le F. Bellamy — 50 cents

16 characters. 3 episodes. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A hillside near Joseph's garden.

A mystery play for Easter, dealing with the thoughts and feelings of children and simple folk during the darkness of the crucifixion, the night of the entombment, and the dawn of Easter morning. In the first episode the children have lost their way in the darkness and talk together of what they have learned of this Jesus. The second episode is a meeting between two sentries of the Roman guard. The last episode brings the children to the garden, where they learn of the empty tomb and the risen Christ.

Drama of Esther, The — 50 cents

About 30 characters. 3 acts, 8 scenes. Time: 50 minutes. Settings: Interior of an oriental house; throne room of the King's palace; before the King's gate; Esther's apartments; another room of the palace.

A dramatization of the Bible narrative which brings out the human interest strongly and gives the oriental setting and culture with unusual accuracy.

Dutch Wind and King Grisly-Beard

By Madeline A. Chaffee — 50 cents

Two delightful pantomimes.

Dutch Wind affords opportunity for acting, dancing and singing. Requires 6 principal characters and as many extras, for the group dances, as desired. The story concerns the wooing and winning of a pretty village maiden by a very bashful village boy, and the part played in the affair by the windmill, a remarkably temperamental piece of machinery which sadly refuses to move when the love affairs of the villagers become entangled.

King Grisly-Beard is based on the old fairy story of the princess who, after rejecting seven kingly suitors, finds herself tricked into marrying one of them. Of course she falls in love with her pseudo-beggar husband, and the story ends happily. About 13 characters are required for this.

Enchanted Urn, The

By Hazel MacKaye — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00; $2.50 to Associations. A pantomime with 3 principal characters and 10 nymphs of the urn. 3 acts. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: Courtyard of a Grecian house.

A passionate love of music and poetry has been inherited by Lesbia from her poet father. Eunice, her mother, fearful lest Lesbia become too absorbed by her musical gifts, tells her they must be kept sacred to the name of the departed poet, whose ashes rest in the great urn in the courtyard. But Lesbia cannot resist her harp. Her music awakens the nymphs who support the urn and after a brief moment of dancing and play with them, Lesbia finds herself under the spell, compelled to join the circle about the urn. Eunice's great love, together with her wisdom, restores her daughter to life.

Everygirl

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

14 principal characters; club girls, campers, children. 3 scenes. Time: A full evening. Settings: Out of doors; a club room; a girls' camp.

Everygirl meets her old, old friends—Health, Dreams and Beauty—and goes with them in search of the Land of Heart's Desire. Through several joyous adventures, with Association Spirit as her guide, she arrives at her destination.

Fashion Review—Down Petticoat Lane

By Helen Durham — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 19 or more characters. 2 parts. Setting: A garden on Petticoat Lane.

All the ladies of fashion—from the time of Pocahontas down to the present—pass before us in pageant in the first part. Various fads and fancies of today make up part 2. Pantomime with song is used throughout.

Festival of Days, The

By Lucy South Proudfoot — 50 cents

40 to 100 characters.

"The Festival of Days" is planned to provide a pageant in which the members of all the dancing classes may take part. The dances vary in difficulty from very simple to fairly advanced work.

Full costuming suggestions are given, and there are directions for finding music and dances suitable to the most outstanding of the days. But all the days are there—birthday, circus day, longest day, even pay day, in a costume lavishly bedight with dollars. A very effective entertainment.

Festival of Proserpina, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

7 main characters; attendants, flowers, insects. 8 episodes, 3 scenes. Settings: A meadow; before Pluto's palace; on Mount Olympus.

A charming celebration of the return of spring, using the old Greek myth. Written with a nice sense of humor, in delightful modern English, and giving opportunity for some unusual dance effects, this has been used successfully by schools, clubs, and groups of girls, or girls and boys.

Festival of the Harvest Moon, The

By Sue Ann Wilson — 50 cents

17 principal characters, 21 groups. 6 episodes. Time: An entire evening. Setting: A large hall.

A whole community can join in this colorful Thanksgiving entertainment. Song, dance, history and literature all find expression here.

Festival of Yankee Doodle, The

By Sue Ann Wilson — 50 cents

10 principal characters, 17 groups of 2 or more. 5 episodes. Setting: A large field or hall, with seating space on three sides. A raised dais in the center.

The idea of the festival is a community get-together, combining pageant and recreational features with community singing. Suited to Fourth of July production. The episodes can be separately worked up, and arranged so that the audience as well as the performers may have a part.

First Nowell, The

By Claudine E. Clements — 50 cents

Prologue, epilogue and three episodes. Settings: The kitchen of an inn; the yard of an inn; an open field; the interior of the stable-cave—all at Bethlehem.

Christmas Eve in Old England finds Mistress Winston preparing "cheer" for the guests of the inn. A chair-mender, a lavender-seller and a weary woman with a little child receive warm welcome and shelter. As she falls asleep she talks in a dream with the Mender of Souls and the Seller of Dreams, who are journeying toward Bethlehem. The scene then shifts to Bethlehem and in three episodes the nativity story is told. The weaving of Mistress Winston's own experience and thought into the dream is cleverly done, and combined with the old English carols and the festive atmosphere of the inn, it makes this play unusually vivid.

Fools and the Fairies, The

Arranged by Percy A. Scholes. Music by Martin Shaw — $1.00

30 or more characters. 6 scenes. Settings: Interior of a house; a wood; the Duke's palace.

A musical play for schools or similar organizations, containing every bit of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" save the "love making and love marring." It is complete in itself, requiring no previous knowledge on the part of the audience. There are opportunities for music and dances, both solo and chorus. Words, music and dances, are included.

Gate of Montsalvat, The

By Mary McKittrick — 50 cents

4 men, 1 woman; all parts may be taken by girls. Time: About 45 minutes. Setting: A dark mountain-top, outside the castle of the Holy Grail.

A presentation—it is hardly a pageant or a play—of an episode in the search for the Grail during the days of chivalry. First produced at Vassar College, it has been given also in schools and camps.

Gilded Wreath, The

By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

3 characters—1 woman, 2 men. Setting: The ante-room of a concert hall.

A philosopher in the guise of the piano-man at Concert Hall reads a lecture to two ambitious young musicians about the gilded wreath of fame. For skillful players.

Glory of the Task, The

Golden Leaves, The

By A. Lewis Colwell — 50 cents

8 principal characters and 2 choruses. 3 acts. Outdoor or simple indoor settings.

Verse, Polish folk songs and dancing are woven together into the pattern of The Golden Leaves. This was written for a Girl Reserve group in Boston, and was given by them with great success.

A little goat girl and her lover are separated; there is a fairy who knows that the spirit of play transforms ordinary daily things into golden treasure; there is dancing and merrymaking. And there is, at the last, a joyful wedding festival for the reunited lovers.

Go Ye into All the World

By Frederica Le F. Bellamy — 50 cents

20 characters. Introduction, conclusion, and 4 episodes. Time: A full evening. Setting: A rector's study or garden.

Growth of a Nation, The

By Florence M. Eldridge 50 cents

6 principal characters; 17 national and class groups. 4 episodes; 11 tableaus. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A large stage with a few properties.

The Spirit of a National Ideal chooses newly discovered America as a fitting place for the birth and development of a great nation. The newcomers found a community of liberty and goodness, but all too soon jealousy, prejudice and greed seize the people and darken the hopes of the Spirit. At length she calls in Understanding and Love, to make possible a more peaceful living together.

Guiding Light, The

Little Patriot, The, and Barbara Frietchie

By Margaret Getchell Parsons — 50 cents

Two short plays by the author of "Red Letter Day Plays."

Four men, one of whom is of course General Washington, and a little girl (or boy, if all boys want to give the play) compose the cast.

In Barbara Frietchie the play takes place in the parlor of Barbara's house. Two young girls and Mandy Lee, a little colored girl, are the characters, but off-stage someone must impersonate General Jackson, and his soldiers must make themselves heard.

Both these plays are simple to produce but have good dramatic quality. We recommend them for any teen-age group.

Of the Yale University Press

MORE and more, as a university press establishes and expands its activities, it meets with a response from the growing body of general readers in America who want books that are unquestionable in authority, beautiful in design, lasting in value. This has been the encouraging experience of the Yale University Press during twenty-one years of book-making.

Among the scores of manuscripts that come to us, month by month, from this country and from abroad, we look for those in each field of thought that make significant contributions to knowledge or literature, science or art—to our understanding and enjoyment of life. While we have never published novels, every other province of publishing is ours, with the advantages that give to the publications of a university press their special distinction and meaning. Its privilege is to make its choices upon grounds neither of sensational appeal nor necessarily of probable profit. On the contrary, it is able frequently to render available books that publishers depending entirely upon income from sales could not reasonably be asked to offer. It is free to base its decisions solely upon the intrinsic merits of the works themselves. As part of our endeavor to realize this ideal, every volume to be issued under our imprint must be approved by the Yale University Council's Committee on Publications, representing and having at command all the resources of scholarship in a great institution of learning. It is our aspiration to make each volume published by the Yale University Press both in contents and format a volume anyone may be proud to own.
